ST. LAURENT AT VANCOUVER

Literally "dropping in" on Prime Minister St. Laurent was Fisheries Minister James Sinclair (right), who landed in helicopter on roof of Vancouver's new $13,000,000 post office this morning. Defence Minister Ralph Campney stands on the left as Mr. St. Laurent waves to the departing 'copter.

Record Civic Budget Exceeds $7.5 Million

Aldermen Start Cutting to Avert 4½-Mill Tax Hike

By PETE LOUDON

A record $7,596,550 budget, bulging with new projects and new inescapable costs, was presented to city council this morning.

It calls for a 4½-mill tax increase, setting the provisional mill rate at 49 mills.

Council dug into it immediately, hoping to pare it close to the 1956 tax level by the middle of next week.

Daily meetings and perhaps some evening sessions will be held as aldermen struggle to reduce expenditures.

$4.50 a Thousand

As it stands, the budget indicates a tax increase of $4.50 for every $1,000 of taxable property assessment on Victoria homes and businesses.

The $600,000 boost in cost of running the city is mainly due to six major items—wages, increased school costs, the first of five annual contributions to the cost of a new wing at Royal Jubilee Hospital, the city's share of the B.C. Electric underground wiring project, traffic improvements recommended in the Faustman report and lost revenue due to cancellation last January of road and poll taxes.

Up to Council

City comptroller Dennis A. Young told council his estimates include normal running expenses and estimated costs of ". . . certain special undertakings in respect of which you as aldermen must determine the policy."

He said the mill rate increase for general and debt purposes was provisionally set at 4.30 and the increase in the mill rate for school purposes was .19.

He pointed out 33.97 mills are required for city purposes while 15.03 mills—almost one-third of the total necessary revenue—is required to meet Victoria's share of district school costs.

Misleading

He said the school rate increase of .19 mills over 1956 is misleading.

"The reason for the comparatively minor school rate increase is in part the result of recent legislation requiring utility companies to pay school taxes from which they were previously exempt.

"To offset this added cost to the companies concerned, the same legislation reduced from 2 per cent to 1 per cent, the required payment in lieu of general property taxes.

"This has the effect of shifting the incidence of taxation from schools to general purposes and in effect, cost the city $46,085, or slightly more than half a mill."

This meant, he said, that only 3¾ mills of the overall increase, actually is due to civic costs.

Of the 3¾ mills, 2¾ is due to special undertakings which are indicated as the first target of the council budget-cutting attack.

Reductions

Reductions will be sought in a $74,300 item for new street construction, $38,400 for new public works equipment, $60,100 for new traffic signals, $61,428 for expansion of the sanitation and waste removal program, and requests for civic grants totalling $36,515.

Council is unable to reduce the $100,000 increase in city wages nor the $66,000 increase in school costs (including lost

COST-OF-LIVING INDEX HITS RECORD 120.9

OTTAWA (BUP)—The cost-of-living index rose from 120.5 March 1 to a record 120.9 April 1, the Bureau of Statistics reported today.

The new peak is 3.7 per cent above the April, 1956, level of 116.6.

Food index climbed .3 per cent with higher prices for fresh vegetables, sugar, bread, chocolate bars and beef. Prices for potatoes, tea, coffee, eggs, bananas and pork were lower.

$5,000 Prize For Sasquatch

Directors of British Columbia's Centennial Committee will pay $5,000 for the first genuine Sasquatch found anywhere in the province during the Centennial year of 1958.

The announcement was made today by L. J. Wallace, chairman of the committee, following a meeting of the directors in Cranbrook.

At the same time, Mr. Wallace announced the board had rejected the submission of Harrison's Centennial Committee to have a Sasquatch hunt approved as the committee's permanent Centennial project.

NOT PERMANENT

"We feel that a Sasquatch hunt can hardly be classified as a permanent project within the terms under which grants are made for this purpose," said Mr. Wallace.

"Since there is considerable debate over just where the Sasquatch are to be found in B.C., we feel any search should not be localized in a specific area so the committee's offer of a reward will cover the finding of a Sasquatch anywhere in B.C. The only stipulation is that the board of directors must be satisfied as to the authenticity of the find and the discovery must be made between Jan.1 and Dec. 31 of 1958."

'DADDY . . . DADDY . . . THERE'S DADDY!'

Excited welcome for daddy, CPO G. I. Miller, was screamed by three-year-old Leann from arms of Mrs. Miller, as cruiser Ontario returned after four-month training cruise with frigates Jonquiere, Stettler. About 2,500 relatives were at Dockyard, Naden, for welcome home. (See Page 17.)

OPENS B.C. TOUR

PM Pooh-Poohs East's Socreds

(Special to the Times)

VANCOUVER — Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent arrived in Vancouver this morning, greeted by the swirl of bagpipes and a crowd of 500 persons at the railway station.

The prime minister told welcomers that he was feeling in "top form" and was looking forward to his meeting in Georgia Auditorium tonight and Victoria's Royal Theatre Saturday night.

Later, he said the Social Credit party is not being taken "seriously" in Eastern Canada.

That, he maintained, is why Social Credit Leader Solon Low has cut down his speaking engagements in the East to just one in Ottawa.

Liberals gave their party chieftain a rousing welcome at the CPR station, where he received gifts from both the Chinese and East Indian elements of Vancouver's population.

Defence Minister Campney and Fisheries Minister Sinclair met him at his railway car. Two pipers led the prime minister up to the station concourse.

Carolynne Chang, 6, got a kiss from the prime minister when she presented him with a doll, a present from Vancouver's Chinese community.

Dolly Gurdas, 18, gave him a garland of carnations, a gift from the Canadian East Indian Welfare Association.

As Mr. St. Laurent opened his tour of the city he visited the new $13,000,000, seven-storey post ofice.

The prime minister told newsmen that the federal government was quite willing to help the development of Columbia power resources if the provincial authorities were willing to do their own part.

ADDRESSES WORKERS

Later, at the post office, he donned a construction workers' white helmet and spoke to about 200 of the workmen through amplifiers.

Mr. St. Laurent then drove in a 20-car motorcade to Shaughnessy Military Hospital where he was given a warm reception by hospital officials, staff and patients.

He went into the hospital auditorium and made a short speech.

He held high hope that the great powers of the world would not use their "terrible weapons" because of "mutual fear or respect" for destruction capabilities.

PM WELCOMED BY BENNETT; NO MEETING

Premier W. A. C. Bennett today welcomed Prime Minister St. Laurent to British Columbia, but said he had no plans to meet him.

"I have had no notice that he will be calling," the premier said.

Asked if he would go to hear Mr. St. Laurent speak at the Royal Theatre Saturday night, Mr. Bennett replied that "the business of the province" would keep him away."

U.S. General Supplied File In Norman Case

TORONTO (CP) — A Baltimore dispatch to a newspaper here says Maj.-Gen. Charles A. Willoughby of the United States Army has acknowledged that he supplied security reports on the late E. H. Norman, Canadian ambassador to Egypt, to congressional committees investigating communism.

The story says Gen. Willoughby, chief of intelligence to Gen. MacArthur during the Allied occupation of Japan, said in an interview Thursday night that the reports were among two lockers of papers he made available to the committee upon his return from Japan.

It adds that the papers were also available to congressional investigation prior to that time through executive agencies of the government.

Norman committed suicide in Cairo April 4, following testimony before a United States Senate subcommittee linking him with communism. He was chief of the Canadian liaison mission to Gen. MacArthur from 1946 to 1950.

'CLEANER BY HIS FALL'

U.K. Papers Scorn McCarthy Memory

(See obituary, Page 3)

(From Times News Services)

LONDON — The death of Senator Joseph McCarthy has renewed in European newspapers much of the long-dormant passions that once surged around his name.

Nearly all British papers gave the story prominent frontpage play, along with bitter editorials of "McCarthyism."

Typical of British comment is an editorial in the Liberal News Chronicle: "He built a monstrous myth and made millions believe it but like a fool he overplayed it and destroyed both the myth and himself. America was the cleaner by his fall, and is cleaner by his death."

In France, all papers referred to McCarthy as "the witch hunter."

The word "inquisition" was used in the London Conservative paper, The Daily Telegraph. Austrian papers announced the death with such headlines as "Snooper Senator McCarthy Dies."

Other British comment:

Daily Herald (Labor): "He used his position to hound men whose only crime was love of freedom of thought."

The habitually restrained and impartial British Broadcasting Corporation called McCarthy's anti-red policy a facet which President Eisenhower allowed to die of its own rottenness and that in the long run Eisenhower's policy proved effective.

The BBC broadcast read, in part, "McCarthy . . . alleged that there were 205 communists in working in the state department. He was never able to substantiate, yet some of the mud stuck. After President Eisenhower's election, he intensified the witch hunt, extending it to the universities and even to the armed forces. The activities became of increasing embarrassment to the administration but in the long run President Eisenhower's policy of allowing the thing to die of its own rottenness proved effective."

PRAYER FOR TODAY

Dear God, save us from the blindness which hid from Jesus' contemporaries the fact of His divine Sonship. May we never be unaware that Christ walks each day with His people. We open our hearts wide for His triumphal entry; in the Saviour's name. Amen.

Bennett Unruffled By Alaska's Claim

(See Page 29)

An Alaska government report which says new mining legislation is detrimental to the industry in B.C. was branded as "propaganda" today by Premier Bennett.

The premier used the phrase after reporters told him about the report, which states that Alaska is benefitting from the legislation by companies leaving B.C.

Mr. Bennett said he had not read the newspaper account of the report put out by the territorial department of mines. He went into a cabinet meeting without commenting further.

SLUMPED

It was learned, meanwhile, that B.C. mining activity has slumped since the new legislation was unveiled earlier this year.

CLAIMS DOWN

The slump is also reflected in the number of mining claims staked by prospectors and mining companies.

In the first three months of this year there were 3,008, compared with 7,836 in the same period of 1956.

The drop was most noticeable in the month of March when only 950 claims were staked, compared with 3,387 in March last year.

A record number of 26,252 claims were staked in the province during 1956 and it doesn't appear that figure will be approached this year.

UNHELPFUL TO CAUSE OF PEACE

Churchill Criticizes UN For Actions in Suez Crisis

LONDON (CP) — Sir Winston Churchill, in one of his rare public speeches, today criticized the United Nations for its stand on the Anglo - French invasion of Egypt last autumn.

The 82-year-old elder statesman told the Primrose League that "I do not think that the attitude then adopted by the United Nations has beek helpful either to the free world or to the cause of peace and prosperity in the Middle East."

The Primrose League is primarily made up of Conservative party supporters. Churchill is its grand master.

His speech today in Royal Albert Hall was his first public address in a year.

The former prime minister said Britain and the Conservative party owe gratitude to Sir Anthony Eden for a lifetime of work upon the causes they all served.

"Indeed, those who at home and abroad attacked the resolute action which, in company with our French allies, he took last autumn may now perhaps have reason to reconsider their opinions.

"I do not think that the attitude then adopted by the United Nations has been helpful either to the free world or to the cause of peace and prosperity in the Middle East.

"However, that cannot be helped. Events have moved on since those days and we must not be discouraged from continuing to take our full share of leadership in world affairs."

Churchill said the burden has fallen on the new prime minister, Harold Macmillan, who would "devote himself wholeheartedly and with imaginative vigor to the well-being of the country." He ended, his speech with these words:

"In the keen international race before us the prizes will go to the nation which has the highest skill of brain and hand. Where we are behind, we must catch up; where we lead we must stay ahead.

"But man does not live by bread alone. Our aim must be men and women not only skilled and diligent in earning a living, but having access to those deep wells in which lie the secrets of the future.

"The world around us is changing fast. For good or ill, new and disturbing powers are falling into the hands of mankind.

"We must hope that man's wisdom will match his widening knowledge."

HIGH TIME UNTIL EARLY MORN

Winnie 'Comes Out' With Granddaughter

By STERLING SLAPPEY

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill had a high old time until at least 1.20 this morning at his granddaughter's coming - out dinner dance.

The 82-year-old soldier-politician - orator - author - historian-war strategist-race horse owner-novelist - artist - farmer - newspaper man-elder statesman went to Claridge's to see Edwina Sandys, 17-year-old eldest daughter of Defence Minister Duncan Sandys and the former Diana Churchill, launched into society.

"This is most enjoyable — I haven't been to a dance for such a long time," said Sir Winston. Edwina is Churchill's first grandchild to bow to society.

Several near-rock 'n' roll numbers were played, but the general beat was of the waltz and fox trot.

Sir Winston, meanwhile, is making no secret of what he thinks of his latest portrait, hanging in the Royal Academy's summer exhibition. He is much annoyed.

The painting, by Ruskin Spear, shows his bald head bent toward a microphone, glasses sliding down his nose and his mouth open and twisted to one side.

Churchill let it be known at the academy banquet the other night that he didn't like what he saw.

Spear said: "What I did was paint a sound. You might say, I imagined Churchill saying 'N-a-r-z-i'."

CFAX BID DEFERRED

CBC Approves CHEK-TV Share Transfer

(BUP and CP Dispatches)

OTTAWA—Approval of transfer of 21 shares in TV station CHEK for $80,000 from C. R White to William Rea Jr., formerly of New Westminster, was recommended today by the CBC board of governors.

In making the application at Ottawa Wednesday, Mr. White, an American, said he had invested $50,000 in the station last fall.

Application of Ellison Queale to operate a new daytime radio station of 1,000 watts in Saanich was deferred, pending study of the service and programming of existing stations in the Greater Victoria area.

The board recommended approval of radio station CKDA's application for a power boost from 5,000 to 10,000 watts and a change of frequency from 1280 to 1220.

However, it recommended denial of a power boost to 10,000 watts from 1,000 for radio station CHUB, Nanaimo, because it would mean fuller coverage in the Vancouver area.

If recommended deferment of Port Alberni radio station CJAV's application for an increase from 250 to 1,000 watts day, 500 watts night and a change of frequency to 730.

Maritimes Swing Toward Tories PC Chief Claims

By ALAN DONNELLY, Canadian Press Staff Writer

AMHERST, N.S. (CP)—John Diefenbaker heads into New Brunswick on the last leg of his one-week Maritime tour today. He said here that the Liberals are "giving us supporting evidence" of a swing toward the Conservatives in the Maritimes.

Thursday night, in a speech to about 800 people in this town of 10,300 he said a "strictly confidential" document by the Liberals reports that: "There are significant shifts in the Atlantic provinces and the West. In the Atlantic provinces there is a clear trend favoring the Progressive Conservative party."

He said the document was issued several weeks ago by H. E. Kidd, secretary of the National Liberal Federation of Canada.

Mr. Diefenbaker toured Cumberland constituency Thursday and talked to survivors of the Springhill mine explosion. At one stop he chatted briefly with Works Minister Winters, also campaigning in the area. At night Mr. Diefenbaker climbed on the stage with Premier R. L. Stanfield, who has spoken with him on three nights.

STREWING PROMISES

Mr. Diefenbaker said Liberal cabinet ministers are "strewing promises" across the country. Last Tuesday the prime minister had "indirectly promised" a 400-mile railroad in Alberta.

A spring blizzard was swirling through Nova Scotia as Mr. Diefenbaker toured. In Springhill he heard the story of the explosion that took 39 lives last year. He said he wanted to go underground to see the workings but that it couldn't be arranged.

The three Maritime provinces, where the Opposition leader is spending this week, have 26 seats in Parliament, the Progressive Conservatives held six at dissolution; four in New Brunswick, and one each in Prince Edward Island and Nova Scotia.

Mr. Diefenbaker travels next week in Quebec and Ontario and a week later heads west.

ON THE HUSTINGS

Two-Bite Win Would Satisfy Roads Minister

Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi says Social Credit can give Canada "the dynamic leadership it lacks."

"I'm not disturbed if we don't win the election this time," Mr. Gaglardi told a North Vancouver meeting. "If we don't take Ottawa in one bite we certainly will in two."

Howard Green, veteran Conservative member of Parliament, was named without opposition Thursday night to try for his sixth consecutive election in Vancouver Quadra.

Mr. Green said the Conservative tide across Canada is proof that the Canadian people are desperate for a new government.

The Liberal government is "no longer sensitive to public opinion," he said. "Parliament is ruled by C. D. Howe, not by Mr. St. Laurent."

Former CCF leader in B.C., Harold Winch, will speak at the CCF Douglas Street Hall tonight.

A dinner at 7 will precede the speech by the MP in the last Parliament for Vancouver East.

Dr. J. M. Thomas, CCF candidate in Esquimalt-Saanich, said Thursday night Canada's great wealth is not being used constructively for the wellbeing of the people.

Taxation policies and expenditures of the Liberal government rob the people of much that should be available for social services, he said.

"The CCF is the only party that presents a real alternative economic policy to that of the other three parties."

. . . BUDGET

revenue from utility companies).

It is committed to a grant of $25,000 this year and each year until $125,000 has been paid, to Royal Jubilee Hospital's proposed new wing.

It is committed to an outlay of $37,500 this year for the underground wiring project and council must replace the lost road and poll tax revenue of $35,000.

Business Tax

When all possible tax cuts have been made consideration will be given to increasing revenues through the business tax approved Thursday. The amount to be raised will be set before council decides its final mill rate.

Comptroller Young estimated a healthy approach to the budget would be to decide to hold special undertakings this year to about $72,000.

"I have stated to previous councils, in a healthy, vigorous community such as Victoria is at the present time, the additional tax revenues from new construction and consequent increased revenues from other sources should, under normal conditions, be sufficient to meet the need for increased services, and in spite of increased costs.

Wage Boosts

"Such a situation prevails today. Without increasing the general mill rate levied in 1956, increased revenues are sufficient to meet the total of $7,174,457—normal operating requirements of the city, in spite of an approximate $100,000 wage increase, and still provide $72,827 for special undertakings, including grants, etc."

Highlights

Here are other highlights of the budget:

It includes allotments for public works which would see Dominion Road re-surfaced from Esquimalt to Wilson, Arm from Craigflower to Selkirk, Douglas from Superior to Dallas, St. Charles at the Rockland intersection, Chatham from Government to Store, and sections of Chambers, Shelbourne and Grant.

New equipment proposed includes two pick-ups, one tractor digger, two crummies, one street sweeper, one tractor loader, one hydraulic elevator, one dump truck.

Traffic signals are proposed for the Fountain Circle ($30,300), Bay Street (at Blanshard, Quadra, Cook and Fernwood), Hillside at Blanshard and Cook, Douglas at Burnside and Topaz.

Flood Measures

There is a vote of $30,000 for anti-flooding precautions and improvements to Bowker Creek and $20,000 for improved drainage in Fairfield.

Twenty-six organizations have asked city grants, one of the largest requests coming from Community Chest ($13,100 as against $2,000 given last year).

Tax revenue based on the 49-mill rate would total $4,060,131 as compared to $3,540,007 last year's tax revenue.

The budget shows an estimated revenue of $300,0000 this year from trade licences. This is expected to be dropped, to be substituted with business tax revenue.

One of the best boosts in civic revenues this year comes as a result of changes in the system of federal grants in lieu of taxes. The federal government is expected to pay the city $154,900 as compared to a grant of $73,327 in 1956.

Low's 14-Point Program Features Pension Boost, Lower Loan Rates

OTTAWA (CP)—Social Credit leader Solon Low proposed a 14-point program Thursday night which, he said, will bring prosperity, happiness and security to Canadians.

In a radio and TV broadcast, Mr. Low said his party's program is the only effective alternative to the policies of the Liberal and Progressive Conservative parties.

The Conservatives were appealing to the people to unseat the Liberal administration but had no effective alternative policies to offer.

"I see no sense in jumping out of the frying pan into the fire," he said. "And, if the only choice the Canadian people have is to be shot, or to be boiled in oil, there isn't much to look forward to, is there?"

Mr. Low, in Edmonton Thursday night, said in the broadcast that the Social Credit party, if elected June 10, proposes the immediate introduction of these measures:

1. A federal old-age pension of $60 a month with provision for splitting with the provinces the cost of a supplementary $40, making for an over-all pension of $100.

The Liberal government has announced a $6 increase in the current $40 old-age pension, effective July 1. The CCF is advocating a $75 pension. The Conservatives, while saying the $6 increase is too small, have not campaigned on a specific figure.

2. Financial policies to balance purchasing power with production.

3. A national health insurance program.

4. Reduced taxation to match revenues with carefully planned and controlled expenditures.

5. Low-interest mortgage funds to every Canadian family wanting a home.

6. A two-price system for wheat barter deals and acceptance of local currencies in export sales of farm surpluses.

7. Low-interest loans for small businesses and farms.

8. Federal assistance for construction of arterial highways.

9. A new foreign policy "based on the highest moral principles and the broadest human sympathies and understanding" including Anglo-Canadian-American solidarity.

10. Elimination of inefficiency and waste in defence policy.

11. Senate reform.

12. A co-ordinated program of selective immigration to overcome a shortage of people in the expanding economy.

13. A vigorous, well-conceived policy of northern development.

14. A national transferable pension plan for workers.

Boston Crackdown On Cabaret Vice

BOSTON (AP)—Owners of 25 Boston night spots were ordered Thursday by the Boston licensing board to clean up vice and other illegal conditions or face "punitive action." The action was taken after the armed forces disciplinary control board placed 10 more downtown entertainment places out of bounds to servicemen because of prostitution, illegal sales of liquor or poor health conditions. Ten others previously had been placed "off limits."

Grandma Jailed; Threw Paperweight

NEW YORK (AP)—A 58-year-old grandmother who threw a paperweight and other odds and ends at her grandson's public school teacher was sentenced Thursday to 10 days in jail. Justice Benjamin Gassman told Mrs. Annabell Britton that "this should teach you and others to have respect for the teachers and the schools." The disturbance developed from an argument over the grandson's conduct.

DEATH ENDS TURBULENT CAREER

McCarthy—'Witch-Hunter' Or Anti-Red Patriot?

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) —A turbulent chapter in American history has closed with the death at 47 of Senator Joseph R. McCarthy of Wisconsin — admired by some as an anti - Communist patriot, denounced by others as a witch-hunter.

McCarthy died late Thursday of an acute liver inflammation five days after he entered the naval hospital in nearby Bethesda, Md.

His death reduces to 46 the number of Republican senators. There are 49 democrats in the Senate. His successor probably will be chosen in a special election this fall.

For a time in the early 1950s McCarthy was a dominant figure whose searches for Communists in government and elsewhere aroused bitter controversy.

Three years ago he reached his peak in a battle with the United States Army, which he said was trying to hinder his hunt for subversives. The army accused McCarthy of browbeating some of its officers called before his Senate investigations sub-committee.

Millions Heard Row With Army

Millions sat in on the ensuing Senate investigation of the Army-McCarthy row, through the medium of television and radio. Millions became familiar with his "Mr. Chairman, Mr. Chairman . . . point of order . . . point of order," delivered in a nasal monotone.

Growing out of that investigation was a Senate investigation of his own conduct, resulting in a censure vote against him. That was the beginning of his eclipse.

By the time of his death he had become just another senator.

But in his heyday he tangled with other Senators and with two presidents—Dwight D. Eisenhower and Harry S. Truman.

These old feuds went unmentioned today as erstwhile foes and friends alike voiced regret at McCarthy's passing and praised him as a "fighting patriot . . . courageous fighter . . . man of strong convictions . . . fine fellow."

Eisenhower, who had omitted McCarthy from the White House social list in recent years, expressed his "profound sympathy" for the senator's widow. Truman, who once referred to McCarthy as a pathological case, said in New York he was "very sorry" to learn of the senator's death.

Latter Life Dogged by Ailments

Acute hepatitis, the illness that killed McCarthy, was the last of a series of ailments that had dogged him during the last few years. He had been in hospital from time to time for sinus, bursitis, a nagging old knee injury and hernia.

Sinking rapidly Thursday, he was given the last rites of the Roman Catholic Church an hour (3.02 p.m., Victoria time.).

Mrs. McCarthy was at his bedside when he died. The senator also leaves an infant daughter adopted early this year.

McCarthy's widow returned to their home near the Capitol about two hours after his death. She was dry-eyed as she went into the house through a rear door. A friend said she was "doing fine under the circumstances."

FROM WISCONSIN FARM

McCarthy, one of seven children, was born in Grande Chute, Wis., on Nov. 14, 1909. As a youth, he worked on his father's farm and in a country store.

Soon after finishing law school at Marquette University he made his first try for public office—as a Democrat. That was in 1936, when he ran for district attorney of Shawano County, and lost.

Three years later he won election as a circuit judge, running as a non-partisan. In 1941 the Wisconsin Supreme Court criticized him for what it called "abuse of judicial power" in ordering destruction of part of the record in a marketing case.

When the Second World War broke out McCarthy entered the U.S. Marine Corps with a commission, serving in the Pacific. He left the service before the war ended to resume his political career.

SHOT INTO SPOTLIGHT

After an unsuccessful try in 1944, McCarthy went after the Republican Senate nomination two years later and upset veteran senator Robert M. Lafollette Jr. McCarthy then swamped his Democratic opponent in the election.

McCarthy drew little attention during his first three years in the Senate.

Then, on Feb. 9, 1950, he said during a speech in Wheeling, W.Va., that he held in his hand the names of card-carrying Communists in the state department.

That shot him into the spotlight, and he became the Senate's leading Red-hunter—a role he filled for four years.

During this time—covering part of both the Democratic Truman administration and the Republican Eisenhower administration — McCarthy dug into federal agencies and interrogated many government officials and private citizens.

His critics coined the word "McCarthyism," and accused him of trampling on individual rights. But many groups praised his efforts to root out communism.

"COURAGEOUS FIGHTER"

In the Senate, the reaction was uniformly one of regret at McCarthy's passing.

Senator Karl Mundt (Rep. S.D.), who presided over the Army-McCarthy hearings, said McCarthy's death "takes out of the American political arena a courageous fighter against communism and a stalwart advocate of our traditional American concepts."

Senator John McClellan (Dem. Ark.), who succeeded McCarthy as head of the investigations subcommittee, said McCarthy will be "missed from the Senate and the American scene." McClellan described McCarthy as "a man of strong convictions."

NATO Allies Line Up Behind U.S. To Weld Solid Front on Mid-East

BONN, Germany (AP) — The Atlantic Allies let it be known today that they are backing the United States in its efforts to block any further Soviet penetration in the Middle East.

Disclosure of the joint stand on the Middle East came as the NATO council, meeting in Germany for the first time, turned its attention to the related problems of German unification and an East-West European security system.

Informants said State Secretary Dulles emphasized at Thursday's closed-door foreign ministers' session American determination to prevent further spread of Soviet influence in the troubled area.

Dulles claimed that the show of force by the U.S. 6th Fleet in the eastern Mediterranean saved restive Jordan from falling into Moscow's grip, but warned that more perils still may face the little Arab kingdom.

Although NATO briefing officers were instructed not to say anything about the Middle East discussion, Allied sources some hours later were telling of the general resolve of the member countries to support the U.S. efforts.

The foreign ministers studied a confidential assessment of the whole Middle East picture, drawn up by NATO political experts.

The 15 NATO foreign ministers also agreed that the alliance must base its defence against potential Communist attack on a balance between conventional and nuclear weapons.

Welcome to Mr. St. Laurent

VICTORIANS WILL WELCOME tomorrow a visitor who is not only the leader of a political party but the Prime Minister of Canada. Many people disagree with Mr. St. Laurent's policies. But as head of the Government and especially as a man, he is respected by everyone, regardless of party.

The Prime Minister has his own quiet method of political campaigning. Not for him the contrived ballyhoo, the organized demonstration or the gaudy promise. He moves about the country and talks, in the simplest language, to the people. For in the best sense of that word he is himself a simple man who sometimes makes mistakes but, as everyone will agree, always tries to do his duty.

His immediate purpose here is to explain various governmental policies that are unpopular with some Canadians and for that reason would never have been enforced except by a man of courage. The Government might have adopted softer, more popular policies to make short-run political gains and assure an easy victory at the polls. Fortunately it is thinking beyond the election while the eyes of its opponents are concentrated on the date of June 10.

It is not difficult, and it is quite proper, to criticize Mr. St. Laurent's mistakes. We have often criticized them here and will continue to do so if he remains in office. But the record of a man and a government must be considered, at election time, in the round. Above all, it must be considered against the available alternative, since perfection does not reside in any man or government.

Thus considered, the record of Mr. St. Laurent has been impressive indeed, from his first days when he entered politics, as he then supposed, for a brief tour of wartime duty to the present when his stature in the nation's history is recognized by friend and opponent alike.

In foreign affairs he has been one of the major architects of the free world's alliance, the first prime minister to advocate the North Atlantic Treaty, a skilled interpreter between London and Washington, with equal prestige in both capitals, a powerful advocate of the Commonwealth, a convinced monarchist and, through his close personal ties with Mr. Nehru, an esteemed friend of the Commonwealth's Asiatic members. A man raised in rural Quebec, where isolationism was then predominant, he has become the most internationalist of all our prime ministers.

Of domestic policy it cannot be said, of course, that Mr. St. Laurent and his Government are responsible for a decade of unprecedented prosperity and economic growth which has made Canada the envy of the world. But on the whole they have managed it well.

The sovereign question of the election is whether that kind of sane management shall continue or whether we should risk our future to politicians who promise us the moon for nothing, more spending but less taxes and all the allurements of soft money.

Canadians may disagree about these things. None can fail to discern Mr. St. Laurent's greatest contribution to the nation's life. Inheriting, like no predecessor, the two great racial strains and the dual traditions of Canada, he has given it a new sense of unity because he has, in unique degree, the confidence of both races. It can be said of him indeed, with literal truth, that he has opponents but no enemies in any part of the nation or in any political party.

History, in due time, will write its verdict on this extraordinary career. Already, however, all Canadians know that they have a good man at the head of the state. It is as a courageous national leader and a warm human being that Victoria welcomes him and will eagerly hear what he has to tell us tomorrow about our joint affairs now in his keeping.

What India Said to Mr. Nehru

MR. NEHRU HAS HAD MORE than a month to analyze the elections which returned his Congress Party to power with more seats than it had before in the lower House of Parliament and sharply reduced the party's majorities in state legislatures.

The latter are important. They are essential agents in carrying out Mr. Nehru's domestic policy. And in them marked changes have occurred since the first general election. One, Kerala, has gone communist.

In the sober aftermath of the elections, several developments have been noted. The 120 million voters of India—vast numbers of them unable to read or write but still able to indicate their preference—have shown that they recognize an alternative to the Congress Party.

They have shown, also, that they consider bread highly important as well as freedom, and they have displayed a wholesome distaste for corruption where it was found, as well as inefficiency.

Most particularly, the polls have disclosed a polarization in Indian political thought. The results, by and large, revealed the main division of votes between the Congress Party and the communists. Independents fared badly.

So Mr. Nehru faces the harsh facts of political life—particularly as those facts apply to Asiatic nations achieving independence in the post-war world.

However "soft" a line he may follow against communism in the international realm—however much he may prefer a course of neutralism—at home his opposition is communism in its political form. It is a force which he can no longer afford to ignore.

A recognition of that fact may be highly beneficial to India. It should, among other things, spur Congress Party administrations to higher efficiency. It undoubtedly will force Mr. Nehru's adherents and colleagues to an appreciation of practical measures as against nebulous principles. Freedom the peoples of India want, but with it they also demand material welfare. That is what they told Mr. Nehru in the huge and complex general election.

A Place Prepared

VISITORS TO THE UNITED NAtions building in New York at the height of the Suez crisis last January found it rather ironic that the Meditation Room—a non-denominational chamber for quiet thought and prayer—was closed. Apparently, with the nations of the world going at it hammer and tongs upstairs, there was no time for meditation.

Now, however, the results of that temporary closure are evident. The Meditation Room has been renovated, a six-ton slab of crystalline Swedish iron ore has been set up as an altar stone with a small shaft of light shining symbolically on it. The decoration of the room has been personally supervised by Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold, and the chamber forms what in many ways is the most hopeful gathering place in the vast building.

Here, regardless of creed, race or language, the peoples of the globe can gather to render tribute to their deities, to meditate on the truths common to all mankind, and to seek in a joint approach to powers greater than themselves a community of effort towards world peace.

And Rome Burned, Too

ALFRED, SAYS THE HISTORY book, was a great king. Alfred, says the legend, couldn't toast buns.

By and large, Alfred had an adequate public relations department—or at least competent and friendly biographers. But he slipped up on the culinary side.

Now, it appears that President Eisenhower faces a comparable fate in which eminence is reduced through some inadequacy with a skillet. But, unlike Alfred, President Eisenhower, according to the legend, thinks he can cook.

President Eisenhower's sister-in-law, Mrs. Ed. Eisenhower, thinks he can't. He overcooks everything says Mrs. Ed.

Possibly the President owes his belief in his cooking skill to the product of a fry-pan over a camp fire. In the wild outdoors the atmosphere can give such an edge to appetites that a well-warmed old boot might pass as good steak.

Perhaps, too, the President has been listening too much to his biographers, who give the presidential glow even to the humble arts of cooking. If so, he should listen more carefully to Mrs. Ed. And he should brief his biographers on the point as well.

History already has a king who singed the buns. Let's avoid a president who crisped the steak. It's bad for the presidential glamor, and worse for the steak—particularly at current prices for steak.

Amusement at Any Cost

FUTURE generations, if they ever bother to think of us at all, will look back at our times as an age of entertainment. If they develop a tougher mental fibre—and they aren't likely to survive if they don't—they will have a lot of contempt for a people that found itself unwilling or unable to approach an idea or a principle unless it was presented in the guise of trivial amusement. Today, when you want to plan a campaign of information for the public, it is almost routine to start your labors by asking, "What kind of a comic strip will we use?"

Tobin

I have nothing against a comic strip as a comic strip. It seems to be a well-established medium for narrative or humor or off-beat comment on events. There are good ones and poor ones, just as there are good paintings and poor ones, good novels and bad.

Drawn to Scale

But having recognized the popularity of this twentieth-century form of literature—or is it art, or neither—this type of wisecrack with diagram, it is a sad criticism of our standards that it should become the accepted means of public communication.

If you want to sell a household appliance you tell your story in a strip of sketches with balloons of conversation attached. If you want to persuade the public to give money to your worthy cause, a row of pen-and-ink drawings will provide your best showcase. If the Government wants to sell bonds, improve the public health or prevent forest fires, it resorts to comic strips or cartoon films.

And why is this the chosen medium? Because, as in a certain city of the eastern United States where nearly everybody reads a certain daily newspaper, nearly everybody reads comic strips.

Entertainment must be provided with every set of facts, or the facts won't be looked at by more than a handful of people. Even religious publications use comics—perhaps as high a message on as low a plane as could be imagined.

But publicity is basically the art of telling your story where the audience is, and if the eyes of North America are on comic strips, that's where the message will appear.

These uses, of course, are only proofs of an underlying trend. They don't set the pace. If people weren't obsessed by the desire for entertainment not a publicity dime would be spent on such media.

What makes people need so much of this trivial enjoyment? No matter how good the feature picture at the theatre has been, there is always an audible murmur of pleasure and a settling down for some real entertainment when Donald Duck or some similar character flashes on the screen.

Psychiatrists probably have a word for it. But from here it looks like a simple collapse of the mind, a surrender to mediocrity, which will do even more harm as an environment which we have created than it does as a habit we have picked up.

Candy-Coated

The day may come when the simplest fact of arithmetic will be incomprehensible to us unless it is presented in the hieroglyphic of the cartoonist. We will not deign to look at a statistic unless it is accompanied by a drawing of a funny face and a balloon of dialogue. All information of the world around us will have to be fed to us with giggles and laughs and cuteness.

The oracles of the day will be, not our great men of letters or of science, our famous teachers or legislators, but little moon-faced caricatures ballooning their advice at us from the screen or printed page.

So great is the need for entertainment, and the recognition of this modern tendency, that such few persons as may be reading this column are hoping that somewhere in its tedious length there will appear a touch of levity to make it palatable.

PAUSE FOR ENTERTAINMENT

A small boy was leading a donkey past an army camp and a couple of rookies by the gate thought they would have some fun with him. "Why are you holding on to your brother so tight, sonny?" asked one of the soldiers. "So he won't get away and join the army," said the lad, and trudged on.

END OF ENTERTAINMENT PAUSE

To resume. It will be a sad day for civilization when we have reduced our communication entirely to comic strips for obviously these are limited in their scope. Unless thinking goes out of fashion entirely there are bound to be a few thoughts which cannot be adequately expressed in a cartoon, and if cartoons are the only accepted form of conveyance these thoughts will be lost to the race.

That may prove to be a pity in the end, for modern civilization hasn't produced so many great thoughts that it can afford to waste any.

For that reason I hope future generations will have the last laugh. I hope they will laugh, not so much at cartoons, as at people who laugh at cartoons. That way, the comic strip may find its way back into the humor departments and the nurseries, and so restore human communication to the medium of language.

As Our Readers See It

An Extravagance

Much as we deplore the destruction of Government House with its valuable contents, and sympathize with Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Ross and members of their staff in the loss of their personal belongings, perhaps you will allow me a little of your valuable space to comment on the proposal that a new and no doubt a more expensive building be erected to replace it.

In this connection I am sure there are many taxpayers in B.C., who consider that in this progressive democratic age, the maintenance of such a vice-regal establishment, with all the attendant ceremonial and expense involved, is an extravagance, and might well be replaced by something less expensive, both to the taxpayers and to Her Majesty's representative.

I understand that other provinces in Canada maintain much simpler establishments, and I must confess that as a comparative newcomer to British Columbia, I am astonished to see such a strict observance of precedence and privilege, and the exclusive and expensive functions and entertainment, more applicable to a colonial regime of the past. I always understood that Canada was a true democracy, free from class distinction and privilege, and I should have thought that a simpler residence, with an office for the Lieutenant-Governor in the Provincial Government Building, and entertainment of important guests at the Empress Hotel, would be more in keeping with this ideal!

However, not being one of the old established residents of Victoria, perhaps I am not qualified to criticize, but I would value the views of your more experienced and enlightened readers.

Hurry, Hurry!

Would you please write something in The Victoria Daily Times about me wanting to have a "pen pal." I would like for her to be a Girl Scout and the same age as I am (nearly 12). I'm doing this for Girl Scouts, so make sure that you say she has to be a Girl Scout. I would be thankful if you would hurry up and write it in the paper because I want to finish my "pen pal" badge.

The group committee of the 1st Centennial Scouts and Cubs wish to express their sincere thanks and appreciation to all persons who so generously gave their time and made the many and varied donations in support of the Scout and Cub bazaar.

Without such co-operation, coupled with the attendance of parents and friends at the bazaar, the success attained would not have been possible.

Birds, Man and Cats

The following facts on the slaughter of European birds are quoted (by permission) from "The Animals' Champion", a humane journal published in England.

"After 24 hours' captivity, 54 out of 80 singing birds died." (Antwerp, 1955.)

"The wholesale destruction of water fowl on the Rhine has drawn a protest from radio and press." (1955.)

"British planes bombed coasts and thereby destroyed millions of birds." (Frankfurt am Main, 1956.)

"Two hundred million birds are annually shot dead in Italy. The Pope has strongly condemned this massacre. A quarter million birds have not returned from Italy this year. These birds have been caught for the table." (Frankfurt am Main, 1956.)

"Birdcatchers killed several hundred birds and put them in a rack. Then it was said that cats were to blame! Thousands of cats are annually murdered by bird lovers." (Starnberg, 1954.)

"A harrowing description of the shooting of galahs (a beautiful white bird) at Kerang." Victoria, Australia, was published in Pix (1956).

"When Senegal's forests were cleared, forty-five million birds were destroyed by fire."

A little nearer home, how about Hamilton's starlings? Cats are invaluable. They have saved hundreds of people from death by fire, perhaps on account of their understanding of mental telepathy.

Jolly Angry

Quite recently a friend told me that he had wrote three letters to the Times but none had seen the light of day, and he asked me if I knew why? Well, I said, there are two or three conditions you must meet if your letter is to be printed. 1st, Be sure that you bang down real hard on Wenner-Gren.

2nd, Do not try to warn anyone re the gravity of the world inter-national situation, and dont try to tell them what the Bible says about it. Do not, in any event, try to interpret Krushev's threat, "We will bury you," from the Biblical standpoint.

3rd, If you can stab any of the men who were elected by the people to represent us in the Provincial Legislature with vitriolic words, then my friend, your letter will appear, pronto, with bells on it!

Stocks for Hooligans

As a deterrent for the hooligans of today, why not put them in stocks in a public place so the people can see who they are?

First offence: Stocks from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Second offence: Stocks and a public thrashing, and increase the dose if it requires a third, and have a policeman on duty.

FROM AMMAN, JORDAN — By JOSEPH ALSOP

A Boy, a King---Now a Man

"I SERVED you as a child and now I serve you as a man." The voice, astonishingly deep and rich for so young a man, gave the sonorous Arabic words an extra emphasis. It was by no means the most important passage of King Hussein's broadcast to his people. But to this reporter, the sentence somehow seemed the best clue to recent events in this tormented little kingdom. Two dramas, one exterior and one interior, have been unfolding here in Jordan on the same stage and with the same players.

In the judgment of the world, which is no doubt correct, the really important drama is the struggle between the King and his supporters and Jordan's powerful pro-Egyptian faction, with all its agent networks, purchased politicians and Communist allies.

This public drama reached its moment of climax with the King's declaration of martial law. In the breathing space thus gained, he must decisively break the power of his enemies. Or they will end by breaking him, not now, perhaps, but quite surely in the future.

Grim Gamble

It is a grim gamble he has taken, for there is no doubt about it; for many different tragic reasons, the King's enemies enjoy strong popular support.

But to this reporter, the interior drama of the King himself seems really more absorbing than the exterior drama, on which the Middle Eastern future quite probably depends.

And the best summary of the interior drama of King Hussein is certainly the sentence from his broadcast quoted above.

In truth he was a child, or at least hardly more than a child, when he came back from school in England to reign in Jordan at the age of eighteen. The British, who were then the real rulers of this country, treated him as a child. Glubb Pasha (Sir John Bagot Glubb), the founder and commander of the Arab Legion, dealt with Hussein as a self-assured elderly guardian might deal with an amiable, but sadly light-headed young ward.

The British gravely underestimated both Hussein and the ugly ferments working beneath this country's surface. The result was first the fearful crisis of the Baghdad pact riots, and second and inevitably, the King's sudden, angry dismissal of Glubb Pasha himself.

As the boy King who had broken Britain's grip on Jordan, Hussein was for a while the hero of Egypt and Egypt's friends.

But an independent Jordan was no more wanted by the Egyptians than it had been wanted by the British. An Egyptian grip was to replace the British grip. That was the design.

The main instrument of this Egyptian design was not any of Jordan's pro-Egyptian or left-wing Nationalist politicians, either. The main instrument was the twenty-one-year-old King's closest friend, the youthful officer whom he had promoted over the heads of so many others to command all the Arab Legion, Maj.-Gen. Ali Abu Nuwar.

The Egyptian design moved forward to completion by rapid stages, with Gen. Nuwar always at the King's side, reassuring, promising, soothing, protesting his own undying loyalty while he sought to subvert the Arab Legion's loyalty to the King.

The denouement was slow in coming. Repeatedly, those who were still loyal to him warned the King of Gen. Nuwar's true intentions. Until the final moment, Hussein would not believe the warnings. And then the terrible moment came when the King's eyes were opened and Gen. Nuwar stood revealed for what he was.

Even today, no one is quite certain just how bitter that revelation was.

It is certain that the King was at least to be reduced to an impotent puppet in a Jordan wholly controlled from Cairo. But it is now reported that there were some among the conspirators who planned to remove Hussein altogether from the scene, by the simple Oriental method of assassination.

At any rate, the mere discovery that the most trusted and most favored had been wholly undeserving of either trust or favor, must in itself have been bitter enough.

The most curious feature of the last ten amazing days has been the failure of the Egyptians and their allies in Jordan to realize the inevitable effect of such a discovery as King Hussein made.

They had always disregarded him, thinking him a light-minded young man, just as the British did. And now they could not believe that the iron had entered into his soul and character and will.

Forceful Action

Baathist (Arab Resurrection party) politicians with whom I talked light-heartedly ridiculed the suggestion that King Hussein was capable of forceful, independent action to control his country.

The mere sight of Hussein the day of the big demonstration was enough to prove how wrong the Baathist leaders were. In his paper-white face, the dark eyes seemed preternaturally large. The slight frame, normally springy and erect, was slumped under the heaviness of fatigue.

But he talked confidently, in the manner of a man who has learned not only bitter truths about the world he lives in, but has learned also reassuring truths about his own capacities.

Without this transformation of King Hussein from boy into man, without this interior drama that the King has lived through, the great public drama in Jordan could never have reached its present stage.

What the outcome may be, none can foretell, for the King has ventured everything on a quick turn of fortune's wheel. But at any rate, one can now be sure that he will not falter or fall into indecision or seek to shirk the necessities of the gamble he has made.

ON THE TIMES — By ART STOTT

'In This Co'nah, in White Trunks...'

THEY used to say in sport that nobody can beat the old but the young. It's still a pretty good maxim even if Sugar Ray Robinson dumped it in the resin with Gene Fullmer Wednesday night.

Stott

Sugar Ray, according to the sports writers is "ancient." Carry the conceit a little further and you might imagine him the subject of Cicero's "De Senectute," a treatise on old age we studied in third or fourth year Latin. Look behind that young fellow Methuselah and the third guy on the right is Mr. Robinson.

Well, anyhow, he's somewhere around 36.

Sugar Ray's age factor put me figuratively in his corner during Wednesday's fight. As Al Capone remarked to Cornelius Vanderbilt under equally incongruous circumstances, "Us guys has got to stick together."

EMBARRASSING

My sympathies were all with this ancient mariner who has weathered his storms. But, as a protagonist, I couldn't help feeling a little embarrassed by the familiar post-knockout remarks of the re-established champ. As seems to be the practice these days, Sugar Ray Robinson attributed his victory to the prayers of his friends and to Divine Intervention.

The cynics, who saw it on television, may agree with Joe Louis, who was there, that the operative factor seemed to be a beautiful left hook. Possibly they only saw the instrument.

I am familiar with, and I do not argue against, the thought expressed by Tennyson that "more things are wrought by prayer than this world dreams of." But in my own prim and prissy way, I have reservations against a strident paean of praise to the Deity from the ring. To me it seems to be the wrong place and the wrong time for a religious outburst—though that could be because I think a man's religion is very personal and very private.

My reaction, too, is colored by some of the pieces Paul Gallico wrote about prize-fighting. To anyone who has read his stories on "Pigs at the Trough" the thanksgiving may seem a little profane.

There are a lot of things that bother me about the practice. I don't like the assumption of divine preference by one man who has just beaten another into unconsciousness. How do you inject into, or extract from, the money-making business of slugging a person insensible any spiritual concept at all? Why should one tradesman in this particular occupation enjoy divine favoritism over an opponent who, quite inadvertently, has offered the other cheek?

NOTHING SPIRITUAL

Like millions of other people, I listen to fight broadcasts on occasion and watch fights. It has never occurred to me, when so engaged, that I was witnessing His servants laboring in God's vineyard. If anything, I've attributed my interests to instincts which predate an appreciation of things spiritual.

I've known a few pretty good boxers in my time. Some of them were marvelous in their footwork, their defensive skill, their ability to move in and tag their opponents. A lot of them never reached championship rating because, as the experts argued, they lacked the killer instinct. They couldn't go in for the knockout when they had the other boy helpless. That deficiency seemed a refinement to me. They attained grace by it.

This, of course, is merely my own opinion. Possibly a great number of people are delighted to hear the Sugar Ray Robinsons attribute to some higher power their ability to beat an opponent. In their own ways, I guess, they are rendering tribute by doing their best in the field they have learned to master.

That is what "Our Lady's Tumbler" was doing in the story which, to me, is one of the most beautiful I have read. Perhaps the analogy is there. A $68,990 purse probably had nothing to do with it.

UN CORRESPONDENCE — By CHARLES LYNCH

Secrecy Surrounds UNEF

NEW YORK—To get information about the United Nations Emergency Force from the responsible officials here at United Nations Headquarters, you have to keep chipping away at the wall that has been built up around the force's business ever since the 11th session of the General Assembly ended.

The security that has been thrown around the force, principally by the secretary general, is not only the military but also the diplomatic kind. The operating theory is that the position of the force is so delicate that the general good can best be served if nobody says anything.

Lynch

In recent days we have managed to hack out bits and pieces of information on UNEF matters as diverse as the dispute over paying the force's bills, and the official status of that "model modern Major General," Maj-Gen. E. L. M. Burns, the force commander.

We have been unsuccessful in trying to pursue previousreports that Gen. Burns had indicated a desire to relinquish his command and return to Canada. Sources who formerly confirmed this report have dried up completely, on advice perhaps from the Canadian government in Ottawa, or perhaps from the secretary general, or perhaps from General Burns himself.

On the question of General Burns' status, we have an official account designed to end the guessing game of whose major-general he might be—a game that arose from the assumption that, since he was a retired Canadian officer and not subject to Canadian orders, he could not be Canada's major-general, and from the fact that the United Nations has no power of itself to create its own major-general.

TEMPORARY RANK

We are now given to understand that when Maj.-Gen. Burns was appointed to the position of Chief of Staff of the United Nations Truce Supervision Organization in Israel in 1954, he was recalled from the retired list of the Canadian Army and given a temporary commission as Major-General, placed on active service and seconded for duty to the United Nations. That remains his status today.

He received instructions from the Canadian government that he was entirely responsible to the United Nations and its organs (including the secretarygene ral) for the period of his appointment, and it was made clear that he was for this period an international servant and would not receive, and should not seek, any instructions or directions from the Canadian government in regard to any of his duties as Truce Supervisor. That position remains the same in his appointment as UNEF Commander, which came about through a resolution of the General Assembly, on the recommendation of the secretary general.

We have also received, through official channels, some information about General Burns' uniform, which has been described as a cross between the garb once favored by General Douglas MacArthur, and that worn by Field Marshal Montgomery in the days of the Second World War. Not so, say officials. Basically, it is the same uniform worn by the United Nations Field Service officers. The uniform was made from the same blue cloth used for these uniforms, by a tailor in Cairo, once Mr. Hammarskjold had indicated it would be good politics for General Burns to put aside his British-tyle Canadian general officers' garb (this was after Egyptian authorities had objected to Canada's Queen's Own Rifles as a component of UNEF, on the ground that they looked and sounded "too British.")

Gen. Burns' cap is the same cap worn by an Air Vice Marshal of the Royal Air Force or Royal Canadian Air Force, except for the Air Force badge being replaced by the UNEF badge. The color of the cloth of the UN Field Service uniform happens to be the same as that of the Air Force cap.

On the question of a reported dispute over the methods of financing UNEF, we were unable to get any information on this subject from the members of Mr. Hammarskjold's Advisory Committee, so we put the question to Mr. Hammarskjold himself. His reply:

"When we got started everything was, as you know, improvised and had to be improvised because we had to get going in a very few days. Then I introduced a very general formula that the contributing countries (Canada, Brazil, Colombia, Denmark, Finland, India, Indonesia, Norway, Sweden and Yugoslavia) should carry the burden or pay the costs for equipment and salaries. Nobody knew the time this operation might last, and for that reason nobody could say exactly what this burden meant in economic terms."

He concluded that these 10 nations had carried the burden of cost too long.

HOME GARDEN — By HILDA BEASTALL

Forsythia Pruning Should Be Done Now

The many public garden events of this week terminate tomorrow with the last afternoon of garden tours and the Cadboro Bay flower show.

Hilda

Local gardeners who are occupied all week have the last day in which to take advantage of these once a year visits.

As a respite from so much busy-ness, it is something of a relief to spend a few quiet minutes in one's own garden doing some small essential job.

The pruning of forsythia shrubs must be done immediately. Now that flowering is over, growth is amazingly rapid, and if we delay pruning, some of the new growth will come at the ends of the old flowering stems. This tends towards legginess and poor flowers.

In small new forsythia shrubs, cut back the stems which have flowered to about half their length, or to new unflowered side growths. The long unflowered stems need no pruning.

With older shrubs, more drastic action is needed. Old branches which have rough grey bark may be cut out completely with a small saw.

Remove old growth which has no new branches. Weak, twiggy growth may also be cut out entirely.

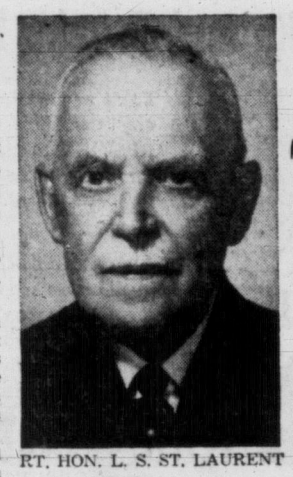
You will be surprised at the number of fine new shoots which will appear from now till midsummer if you treat the forsythia right.

A light dressing of balanced fertilizer under a mulch of rotted compost will benefit an old plant, or a young plant if in poor soil. Otherwise no special care is needed so long as water is given occasionally during a dry summer.

THE PARTY LEADERS

St. Laurent's Career As Statesman, Unique

This is the first in a series of four articles on the leaders of Canada's chief political parties by the British United Press. The second, on Mr. J. G. Diefenbaker, PC, will appear on Saturday.



RT. HON. L. S. ST. LAURENT

OTTAWA (BUP)—The call of an election finds 75-year-old Louis Stephen St. Laurent ready, willing and eager to spring to the hustings and tell all Canada that he and his Liberal party are still around if and when called upon to govern for yet another four-year term.

The Prime Minister's main claim to re-election as First Man on Parliament Hill is that he hasn't lost any of the zest and devotion with which he attacked similar quests in 1949 and 1953.

Mr. St. Laurent badgered and berated by the opposition groups in recent months, warred with by some journalists and facing downright antagonism in parts of his native Quebec, seems to have dismissed his daily cares and crises with his familiar shrug and a special smile that observers say he flashes only in election years.

His hair is whiter now than when he entered politics 15 years ago. The epic "Pipeline Battle" last year is credited with having turned any grey tints remaining in his hair at that time to the snow-white, brushed-back outcrop which gives Mr. St. Laurent an even more benign appearance than that which gave rise to the "Uncle Louis" appellation during the 1953 election campaign.

An indication, perhaps, of the degree to which this glorification could go came from Works Minister Robert Winters recently when he jokingly suggested, at a dinner in Halifax, N.S., that Canadians should "place their trust in St. Louis (repeating, SAINT Louis) at least for the next four or five years."

Wartime Duty

If Mr. St. Laurent returns to his old Ottawa office it won't come about through any wish of his that first brought him to politics in 1942. He came to Ottawa strictly as a loyal Canadian doing a wartime duty. He had no intention of staying in the field after the duration.

Above all else, this eminent constitutional lawyer had the firm resolution of returning to his prosperous law practice after his political stint, or going into retirement.

But he seemed to find an enjoying in politics which he never had in his career as an internationally-known legal man.

In addition to the clarity of thinking gained in his law practice, he brought to politics a homey regard for history. Frequently in his speeches, both political and non-political, he harked back to his youth as the son of a merchant in the small town of Compton, Que., and he frequently recalled the exploits of the Gentlemen Adventurers.

Mr. St. Laurent was president of the Canadian Bar Association in 1930. He made frequent appearances before the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council when it was Canada's final court of appeal. His income ranged up to $100,000 a year. As Prime Minister his income is $37,000.

It was in 1941 that the late Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King induced Mr. St. Laurent to join his cabinet as justice minister. Sir Ernest Lapointe, the former minister and King's right-hand man in Quebec province, had died. King needed a distinguished figure around whom the Quebec vote would rally. He saw Louis St. Laurent as that man.

Mr. St. Laurent was elected as Liberal member for Quebec East in a February, 1942, by-election. He has been the riding's member ever since.

After the war, King's entreaties and his own feeling of duty towards his Quebec compatriots kept Mr. St. Laurent in the cabinet.

Then it was pressure from the Quebec part of the Liberal Party rather than any personal ambition that kept him in politics and pushed him into the party leadership race when King retired in 1948.

Record Victory

The 1949 election followed after Mr. St. Laurent had been only 10 months as party leader and seven months as prime minister. His party won more seats in Parliament than had been given any other administration in Canada's history.

Mr. St. Laurent repeated his success in the 1953 general election, and he did it while steadfastly refusing to pin his government down on extravagant election promises.

Mr. St. Laurent the lawyer brought to the office of Prime Minister a forthrightness and decisiveness which observers agree had grown stale in the latter years of Mackenzie King's premiership.

Mr. St. Laurent also was widely regarded as the architect of the North Atlantic Treaty. He promoted the idea of collective security among the western nations within the United Nations Organization, even though his native Quebec was only slowly emerging from its attitude of isolation in international affairs.

To Mr. St. Laurent, NATO was a fire insurance policy. He said that if the free world was not to lose the security within its grasp, "we must be ready to keep up the insurance, much as I hope we may never have the fire."

SYNOPSIS—Southeast gales developed in northern coastal waters of British Columbia during the night in advance of an active storm centre moving out of the Gulf of Alaska. Rain fell over the Queen Charlottes and northern mainland. However, a ridge of high pressure building over the southern areas of the province gives promise of forming a block in the path of the disturbance and it appears likely that only a few showers will reach the southern regions.

Jury Acquits Penticton Youth Of Murdering Fellow Worker

(From CP Dispatches)

NEW WESTMINSTER — Ernest Gardiner, 20, Penticton, charged with murdering a fellow farm worker near Langley, was found not guilty Thursday by an assize court jury.

The jury deliberated only 45 minutes before returning the verdict.

The badly decomposed body of James Martin was found on the bank of the Nicomekl River last Dec. 27.

CRASH-LANDS ON HIGHWAY

LYTTON — An American pilot escaped injury Thursday when he crash-landed his light plane on the Trans-Canada Highway about six miles east of here.

Marvin Baron, Estacada, Ore., said his plane had run out of gas en route to Dog Creek and he picked the highway as the only level spot in the area.

As the light model Piper Cub glided down to the road, it narrowly missed a truck driven by Charles Gower, Lytton.

The plane sheared off its landing gear on impact, but the pilot was unhurt.

MOTORIST BADLY HURT

KAMLOOPS—A. Paulson of Tranquille was brought Thursday to Royal Inland Hospital in critical condition following a collision on the Tranquille Road, about four miles from the city.

Driver of the second car, Patrick Green, was slightly injured.

DEATH DRIVER CONVICTED

VANCOUVER—Joseph Daigneault, 39, of ancouver was convicted Thursday by an Assize Court jury of manslaughter in the death of a 58-year-old woman last Feb. 16.

Mrs. Concettina Di Palma was killed when struck by a car at an east-end intersection.

Daigneault was remanded for sentence later in the spring assizes.

$8 MILLION PIER PLANS

VANCOUVER — Tenders will be called in late June for Vancouver's biggest pier for deep-water cargo ships, three members of the National Harbors Board announced Thursday.

The new terminal facility will be 1,200 feet long and of all-concrete construction.

Quoting Transport Minister Marler's estimate, board member Maurice Archer said the pier will cost close to $8,000,000.

DIANE ALLEN

'Pops' Concert At 3 Sunday

NANAIMO—Nanaimo Symphony Orchestra will perform Sunday in Nanaimo Senior High School auditorium, starting at 3 p.m., in a "pops" concert of past and current favorites.

Maurice Kushner, LRAM, will conduct the 75-piece orchestra, and guest artist will be Nanaimo soprano Diane Allen.

Miss Allen is a pupil of Dr. Heinz Kilian of Duncan, for many years a singing teacher in Berlin and staff member of both the Theatre Academy and Staatestheatre of Karlesruhe.

SELECTIONS

She will sing "April in Paris," "L'Amour Toujours L'Amour," by Friml; "Embraceable You," by George and Ira Gershwin, and Victor Herbert's "Neopolitan Love Song."

On the orchestral program will be selections by Sibelius, Tschaikowsky, Stravinsky and the popular "Henry VIII" dances by Edward German.

Call Ferry Bids, Gaglardi Told

LASQUETI ISLAND (CP) — A letter was being hurriedly drafted to Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi today asking him to call for tenders for a ferry service between Lasqueti and Vancouver Islands.

The islanders acted after reading a Victoria Times report that the minister had offered a subsidy of $12,000 if the islanders could produce the ferry.

L. Johnston, secretary of the chamber of commerce, read correspondence indicating that the minister was going to call for tenders for a five-ton ferry, but his staff advised him that a bigger vessel would be necessary.

Mr. Johnston said the department found that a government ferry for the route would cost $92,500 to build and $37,000 a year to operate, and Mr. Gaglardi then said this was too much money and offered the $12,000 subsidy.

Brentwood College Tea On Saturday

Brentwood College Chapel Woman's Auxiliary will hold a tea and bazaar on Saturday at 2.30 p.m. in the Brentwood Institute Hall on West Saanich Road.

There will be stalls of home cooking, plants and novelties. The affair will be opened by Mrs. B. P. Harding, president of the diocesan board.

600 Players For Nanaimo Parade Saturday

NANAIMO—Most of the city's 600 junior soccer players will take part in a parade Saturday of Nanaimo and District Juvenile Soccer Association.

Five bands will take part, and on a special float will be a "juvenile soccer queen," to be chosen at Haliburton Street Park just before the start of the parade.

Hospital Area Predicted For Nanaimo

NANAIMO—Formation of a hospital district this fall, to support construction of a 200-bed hospital here has been forecast by Gordon Frith, Nanaimo General Hospital administrator.

Provincial government has recommended that a new hospital be built here before 1961.

Mr. Frith has plans for a new building which could be expanded to 400 beds. It must be discussed by the hospital board, medical society and hospital officials.

Formation of the hospital district likely will follow adoption of the plans.

Victorians Fined For Selling Liquor to Minors

SIDNEY (CP)—Two Victoria men were fined $50 each on pleading guilty to selling liquor to minors.

Robert G. Hough, 22, truck driver, and H. G. Stanton, 30, mill worker, also were ordered to pay costs.

Hough faced a further charge of careless driving, for which he was fined $35.

Stanton was fined $15 on a second count of causing a disturbance. It was stated that he used insulting language when refused service in a hotel here.

Nat Martin Elected

NANAIMO—New officers of the Retail Merchants' Association here are Nat Martin, president; Sam Campbell, vice - president; Ed Miles, secretary; and James Quinn, Gerald Berry and John Cochrane, directors.

Grocery Chain Seeking Sidney Property

SIDNEY—Rezoning of 800 feet of frontage on Beacon Avenue for commercial development has been approved by Sidney village commission.

A grocery market chain has applied for 300 feet of it.

Campbell River Sets Tax Rate

CAMPBELL RIVER—Village commission here has set a tax rate of 31 mills, with 10.91 earmarked for school costs, 5.7 mills for fire protection and hospital district levies, and the balance for municipal purposes.

COURAGE IN THE DARK — Bedridden with arthritis and blind for 10 years, Norman Lidster, 28, demonstrates how he wrote his prize-winning essay. Unable to sit up, Mr. Lidster balances the typewriter on his bed and has certain letters marked with adhesive tape as a guide to the keyboard.

Bed-Ridden City Arthritic Wins National Essay Contest for Blind

Blindness is no barrier to success for 28-year-old Norman Lidster, a patient at Mount St. Mary's Hospital, Victoria.

Bedridden with arthritis and blind for the past 10 years, Mr. Lidster has yet managed to win top prize in an essay contest sponsored by the Canadian Council for the Blind.

He wins $50 for his essay "What the CNIB Means to Me," written while lying on his back with a typewriter balanced on his stomach and adhesive tape fixed to the keys for guidance.

The essay contest was conducted among the blind people of British Columbia by the CNIB, an organization composed of blind people. Contestants were asked to describe the council's work in helping the blind to rehabilitate themselves.

Second prize of $25 was won by Miss Olive Ford of Parksville, while the third and fourth awards go to Miss Beverly Hewitt of Vancouver and Mrs. Helen Marshall of Burnaby.

The judges who considered the 32 entries were Dan Ekman, Vancouver Province columnist; Chris Crombie, Vancouver Sun business writer, and Dick Elson, CBC news editor.

Entries were judged on writing content and sincerity.

CNIB Urges Care In Giving to Blind

Warning against donating money to persons posing as "canvassers for the blind" was given at an annual conference in Vancouver Thursday of the B.C. division, Canadian Council of the Blind.

"Unless the money is going to the Canadian National Institute for the Blind . . . the public should think twice about donating," J. W. Wood, president of the provincial division, told convention delegates.

The CNIB makes no independent public appeal in B.C., he said.

Funds are raised through the annual Community Chest campaign.

Mrs. E. Watling of Victoria was returned as a member of the executive and named one of two delegates to attend a national convention in Brandon, Ont., Aug. 19.

Homes Urged For Mentally Retarded

Use of small residential homes to accommodate mentally retarded persons who may be usefully employed is suggested in a brief presented this week to the provincial government.

The Association for Retarded Children of B.C. made eight major recommendations outlining a comprehensive care program.

Included was a proposal to integrate Woodlands School into the provincial education system.

The brief also asked consideration for financial assistance with transportation costs, permission for school boards to apply for capital expenditures to provide accommodation for retarded children and dormitory and boarding allowances for children attending training centres away from home.

Hammer Throw Fatal to Youth

NEW YORK (AP) — A high school youth died Thursday after being struck accidentally by a 16-pound hammer on an athletic practice field near Columbia University. Dino Masilotti, 16, was bending over to pick up the discus he was practicing with when struck by the iron sphere. He died an hour later in a hospital.

Teenage Japanese Boy Tried to Burn Palace

TOKYO (AP)—News got out today that a teen-age boy making a liquor delivery to the imperial palace two months ago tried to set the place afire. It was the first time on record that any Japanese had sought to do harm to Emperor Hirohito's home. Police hushed the case up until now. The boy now is undergoing mental tests.

Business Tax This Year For Victoria

Council Adopts Rental Basis Plan; Size of Levy to Await Budget Cuts

City council Thursday unanimously endorsed adoption of a business tax which will replace the present trade licence system in Victoria this year.

Expenditure of up to $35,000 to carry out assessment of rental value of all city businesses—before August 31—also was approved.

The amount to be raised by the tax will be decided at council sessions on 1957 budget estimates during the next week.

Council will try to pare estimates which are known to be up 10 per cent over last year's $7,000,000 budget. (Last year council pared the provisional budget by one-half mill in a week of meetings, set the mill rate at 44½—two mills over the year previous).

When aldermen reach the point where they can no longer cut estimates without reducing essential services, consideration will be given to raising extra revenue from the business tax.

Then, when the rental values of all city businesses are assessed, a tax rate for the business tax will be struck.

Bills Out Before End of Year

Bills are expected to go out to city merchants before the end of the year. Previous payments of business licence will be credited to the business tax levy.

Mayor Percy Scurrah told council the tax will mean persons occupying large quarters in high value areas will have a "substantial increase" in payment in comparison to business licences paid in the past.

"This is not going to be an ideal tax. There will be inequalities. The only fair tax is an income tax," he stated.

He made the remark in answer to Ald. M. H. Mooney, who said a firm doing a profitable business in small and remote premises would pay less than a low-profit business in new, centrally located premises.

He said the new tax will be similar to the ones in effect in Vancouver and New Westminster.

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow opposed visits by assessors to city business premises. He was also against the August 31 deadline imposed by council for completion of the new tax roll.

He said the expenditure of $35,000 to establish the new tax roll was exorbitant.

"Every time we want to do a job, the cost is prohibitive. It makes you wonder whether to put the tax in. It seems to me to be extravagant."

Professional Men Hard to Get

He doubted, too, that extra appraisers would be easily obtained.

"You can't find professional men just by putting an ad in the paper," he said.

Mayor Scurrah answered every objection, and had the support of city manager C. C. Wyatt and city assessor Alfred Joyce. But Mr. Joyce thought by extending the deadline to October 1 the tax could still be applied this year, and would give him needed additional time.

"The important thing is to pass this resolution and get on with the job," said the mayor.

He was sure with the extra help paid for by the $35,000 the roll could be completed by Aug. 31.

Ald. J. Donald Smith, who has promoted business tax to council for years, and had blamed council for "not really trying" earlier, congratulated Ald. Hugh Ramsay's committee for recommending the new tax structure.

"I am very pleased. That is the second hurdle. The third will be when we classify businesses and set the rate."

The mayor said it was felt there should be no classification of businesses other than rental values.

"Our advice from Vancouver and New Westminster is strongly against classifying. You lay yourself open to appeals."

Ald. Smith said he would debate that point at a later meeting.

MALAHAT DUST DETERRENT THIS MONTH

A special mixture to keep dust down will be applied this month to most torn-up sections of the Malahat Highway.

Deputy Highways Minister Evan Jones advised directors of the Victoria Automobile Club Thursday that the section immediately north of the Mill Bay cutoff will be treated immediately, and will have a basic paving coat as soon as possible.

A-G Rejects Beer Price Boost; Hotelmen Told to Reduce Costs

The B.C. Hotels' Association has been told by the government to find other ways than a price increase to meet increasing costs of serving beer.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner, after meeting the hotelmen Thursday, issued a statement which in effect rejected their request for an increase from 10 to 15 cents a glass for beer.

"The government's view is that the solution to the rising costs of the hotel industry is not related solely to a variation in the price of beer," Mr. Bonner said.

Two alternative proposals are under consideration by the hotelmen:

Serving 25-cent glasses of beer which would contain 2½ times as much beer as the present 10-cent glass.

Using pitchers so patrons can serve themselves at their tables.

The 10-cent glass would still be available to those who wanted it, however.

A regulation brought in with the new provincial Liquor Act forbidding service of more than two glasses at a time to each customer may be scrapped

BIG SAVING CLAIMED

Topaz Landfill Action Pressed

City Council should proceed with sanitary landfill garbage disposal in the Topaz flats with or without consent of residents, Ald. Arthur Dowell said Thursday.

He regretted that such action would violate 1955 campaign promises, but pointed out conditions have changed since these were made.

"The picture has changed," he stated. "We have told the people if you don't want it, you won't have it. But we are faced with an expenditure of $225,000."

COST $35,000

He said expenditure to begin the landfill project was estimated at $35,000.

In view of the expense involved, is it fair to the rest of the city taxpayers to honor the earlier promises?

The $225,000 expenditure he referred to is the estimated cost of a new garbage wharf which public works committee has asked to be built this year on the site of the old wharf. The cost includes a new-type barge, which should ensure against trash floating back to city beaches.

The sanitary landfill would delay the need for the wharf and barge, perhaps indefinitely.

"Have 20,000 property holders to be ruled by 700? Let our consciences be our guide. What do we think is best economywise for the city of Victoria?" the alderman asked.

AWAY WITH POLITICS

He said council would have to "take politics out of the situation and have courage" to do what is best for the most people.

Council over-ruled a motion by Ald. J. Donald Smith that a previous motion for an educational campaign in Topaz area be dropped and the landfill project forgotten.

Ald. Smith's was the only affirmative vote.

"I am surprised at Ald. Dowell saying we need courage. He needs courage to keep a promise he made at election time. There is a difference now, he says. Yes, now he is in office. He should have courage to uphold that promise," he stated.

Public works committee will proceed to hold public meetings in the area near Topaz Park. Talks and films will show how sanitary landfill, properly carried out is not conducive to odors, rats or vermin and in fact will restore the beauty of a large area which is now a useless eyesore. The four-acre area is owned partly by the city and partly by Baker Brick and Tile and has been used as a gravel pit.

Ald. Dowell called the area "a terrible looking mess" which would cost $1,000,000 to fill with ordinary methods.

Hungarian Refugees End Hunger Strike

ENNIS, Republic of Ireland (Reuters)—A five-day hunger strike by 95 Hungarian refugees at a camp near here ended Thursday night after a meeting with representatives of the Irish government.

Six of the Hungarians were reported seriously ill while 13 others were affected.

Government officials said they promised to do everything possible to get the refugees to Canada in a short time. The strike began Monday in protest against delay in sending the refugees to the U.S. or Canada.

SAVE FORT RODD HILL TOURIST GROUP URGES

A resolution urging the federal government to preserve the old fort at Rodd Hill on the far side of Esquimalt Harbor, was unanimously endorsed by the tourist trade group of the Chamber of Commerce at its monthly meeting Thursday.

The group a month ago urged that the fort be selected as a centennial project for Victoria, but the proposal did not get the support of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce.

While the directors declined to endorse the development of the site as a centennial project, they indicated they favored approaching the federal government to set aside the fort and the 40-acre site as a salt-water national park.

Sam Lane, chairman of the tourist trade group, said it would be a great loss to Victoria if the fort was not preserved as an historic site.

"It's one of our big assets," he said. "Apart from the fort there is the beach and the park-like site."

Sample of Rugby Treat in Store for Victoria Fans

Flashing an example of the dashing play which earned him a berth with Britain's famed Barbarians Football Club, fleet-footed three-quarter G. Wells of Wales breaks through for long run in recent match. Wells is just one of 20 international stars touring Canada with Barbarians, who meet a B.C. rugby side at Macdonald Park next Wednesday night.

Barbarians Cook Up Muscle, Music Menu

By DOUG PEDEN

Britain's most famous collection of musical muscles goes on display at Macdonald Park next Wednesday night.

Containing enough king-sized portions of beef to make a Canadian football coach wince with envy and enough singing talent to wring copious tears from the eyes of a glee club director, the newest edition of the Barbarian Football Club steps out on the pitch to tackle a squad of B.C. rugby stars.

Probably the happiest bunch of athletes in existence, the Barbarians are making the first overseas tour in the club's 67-year history. Singing their way across Canada since opening a six-game Canadian tour at Toronto and scoring a pair of lopsided victories over the Ontario all-stars, the Baa Baas carry their happy-go-lucky manners onto the rugby pitches, playing the game for fun.

But despite their fun-loving approach, the Barbarians, proud of the club's traditions and their status in the rugby world, play with a rugged fury that makes them as hard to handle as a pack of hungry wolves.

Hub of the Barbarians, on the field and off, is the "mighty mite," Cliff Morgan of Cardiff, known in Britain as the Welsh Wizard in tribute to his deceptive and dextrous capers at stand-off half.

Owning a record unmatched in British rugby annals—25 international appearances for Wales and four times a member of the British Isles team—the wondrous Welshman is a choirmaster on the side.

Leading the way with his lilting voice, Morgan has developed a magnificent Welsh choir in the Barbarians' ranks and they have happily sung themselves one-third of the way around the globe.

Morgan may be small but he never has to look far for big protection on the field.

In the front rank of the scrum, for instance, is Rev. Robin Roe, a minister and Irish international, who is a six-foot 210-pounder and a speedster to boot.

Also working in front of Morgan is Rhys Williams, 220 pounds of tough Welshman stretched over six feet three inches. And there is R. W. D. Marques, a former Cambridge blue, stepping in with the forwards at six feet five inches and 225 pounds.

FINEST FULLBACK

Morgan can always look back and find comfort in the sight of another Welshman, sturdy Terry Davies, rated the finest fullback in the game and throwing tackles at 5-11 and 200 pounds.

On his right is another son of Ireland, named Tony O'Reilly and called the greatest wing three-quarter in rugby togs.

Regardless of size, each player on the club is an international star. The Baa-Baas have no official captain, naming a different man for each game, but on the team are no less than four present or former international captains.

Morgan is captain of Wales, Eric Evans captains England; Jim Greenwood heads the Scottish side and Arthur Dorward is a former Scottish skipper.

That's quite a collection of rugby talent. No matter how the coach shuffles his lineup, he'll still have five international stars riding the bench.

Barbarians meet a B.C. side at Empire Stadium Saturday, play at Macdonald Park next Wednesday at 7 p.m. and return to Vancouver for their final game in B.C. on May 11.

CUP THAT CHEERS AND SHOCKS

Manchester U. Or Aston Villa?

By PERCY J. WOODLEY

Soccer's major attraction—the glorious fight for the English Cup—is more popular than ever. It started on Sept. 8, 1956, and this sudden-death contest reaches its final step Saturday with the clash of two great teams—Manchester United and Aston Villa.

For one team it could be a brilliant double event. A possible triple glory was frustrated when Real Madrid beat Manchester United 5-3 in home-and-home games recently.

For Aston Villa it could be their seventh final success—a record. Manchester United are this season's champions of the league.

The destination of the cup appears in great doubt.

What a glorious contest it has been—the fight for the cup that cheers but also shocks. The gamble has been terrific. The luck of the draw, the run of the ball, the pitch of the excitement and the risk of injuries have been successfully surmounted by both teams. Endurance, pluck and determination have brought merit to both. Each deserves a cup—but there is only one.

Royalty graces this great sporting event by their presence with unerring regularity. And the press box at a recent final was occupied by scribes from 15 different countries.

Bournemouth Was Giant Killer

The mightiest upset of the present campaign was recorded by lowly Bournemouth, who beat our British Columbia visitors—Tottenham Hotspurs—3-1 in fifth round. This Third Division club had previously accounted for Wolverhampton Wanderers, and it took a cup finalist—Manchester United—to stop their progress by a 2-1 score

Upset after upset graced the fourth round and replays were unnecessary in these 16 games. It was the first time ever that no drawn games were played in fourth round. All were won outright and the winning teams scored a total of 58 goals to losers' 12.

In semi-final round 65,000 fans saw Manchester United score two goals in as many minutes at Sheffield to defeat Birmingham City, while Aston Villa and West Bromwich drew at Wolverhampton.

Aston Villa's confidence has been severely tested. Three times in this huge contest they have come from behind and team spirit carried them on.

A league meeting of finalists at Old Trafford on March 10 did not find a winner. With four reserves, Aston Villa took a point from Manchester United with a 1-1 draw. The result avails us little. While league football favors science, cup football depends on fitness, speed, team spirit, adaptability to circumstances and the seizure of opportunities to score goals.

Youth Battles Staying Power

Manchester United, whose players average 21 years of age, came through the contest without a drawn game—all were won outright. Manchester City, present cupholders, made a glorious exit, succumbing to Newcastle United in third-round replay after extra time, 5-4.

Seldom has the destination of the coveted silverware been in such doubt as it appears on this occasion. It should be a grand struggle before a six-figure crowd between a brilliant team of youngsters and a set of players who have proved their ability to come from behind and strive to the final whistle.

Manchester United's ability to win the football league rates them champions. But a good goalkeeper can win matches and one who is rated as the best in England can be a big stumbling block to Manchester United's eager young forwards.

Manchester United or Aston Villa—your guess is as good as mine.

PRESS THOSE FLANNELS; CRICKET SEASON STARTS

Victoria senior cricketters play their first league match of the season on the Beacon Hill pitch Saturday when Alcos and Albions meet at 2.30.

A junior match will also be played Saturday as Incogs and Victoria Juniors meet at University School in their second league match.

Sunday play will feature Cowichan and Five C's at Duncan and Oak Bay and Incogs at Windsor Park. Line-up for Alcos for their Saturday match is George Scott, captain; D. Day, J. Moss, Ben Twamley, M. Dodds, D. Wilkinson, P. Neal, R. Jenkins, T. Holland, D. Jones, Al Rowell and W. Scobbie, reserve.

'Birdie Alley' Up Bill's Alley

Court Faces Joe Briggs In Times Tourney Finale

Bill Court, bidding to become the first professional to win the Times Vancouver Island Open Golf Championship when he meets Joe Briggs of Gorge Vale in the 18-hole final Sunday, found "birdie alley" at Uplands Golf Club to his liking Thursday.

Tuning up at the site of Sunday's final, the Colwood pro, who picks up a cheque for $100 if he beats Briggs, partnered Bill McColl in a match against Vince Clarkson and George Bigelow to chalk up a 2-up victory.

Away to a shaky start, Court clipped two strokes from par over the last 10 holes to finish with a four-over-par 74. He stroked in a 15-foot putt for a birdie deuce on the ninth green and added birdies at 14th and 17th holes while slipping one above par at the long 12th.

Court will also be attempting to take the Island title back to Colwood for the third straight year when he faces the smooth-swinging Gorge Vale star. McColl took the crown in 1955 and Laurie Kerr, a second-round upset victim, won last year.

PRIZE WINNERS

Prizes will be presented at the conclusion of Sunday's match. In addition to finalists in both the championship and consolation events defeated semifinalists — Al Reside and Bob Woods in the open and Owen Jull and Fred Worsley in the consolation will receive awards.

Also on the list of prizewinners are tourney medalist McColl, medalist runner-up Emil Beachemin, "B" handicap medalist Archie Gillies and runner-up Connie McBeth, Pete Leung who fired the low net score on the first nine of the qualifying round and Ben Fairclough, low-net winner on the second nine holes.

Gorge Vale's Dr. Roger Ross will meet Oak Bay's Jack Galbraith in the 36-hole final for the "B" championship. Winner will receive the Hugh Francis Trophy and a special prize presented by Francis, city sportsman who formerly sponsored the tournament.

CARPENTER SIGNED

REGINA (CP)—Ken Carpenter, a Western Interprovincial Football Union all-star halfback for the last two years, has signed for his fourth season with Saskatchewan Roughriders, team manager Dean Griffing announced today.

TUGS MEET JOKERS IN 'B' BOXLA

Senior "B" lacrosse action gets under way next Tuesday night when the perennial city champions, Foul Bay, flying under Island Tug & Barge colors, with Tom Halbert as manager, will meet with their arch - rivals, Jokers, under coach Roy Woolsey, at 6.30 at Stevenson Park.

Jokers then move into the second game of the season Thursday night against Junior Shamrocks, managed by Archie Browning and coached by Peewee Bradshaw.

Hear That Giggle? It's Jake Proctor

'Bellies Surprise Shamrocks

Jake Proctor is well on the way to a happy season.

Jake, who piloted Vancouver Pilseners in the Intercity Lacrosse League last year and would sooner beat Victoria Shamrocks than open Christmas presents, switched his canny coaching talents to New Westminster this season.

Thursday night in the Royal City, Proctor took the wraps off his surprise package and sat back in glee as the Salmonbellies tied the power-packed Rocks up in ribbons and handed their coach a 13-7 decision.

Making Jake even happier was the fact that more than 1,000 fans paid their way into Queen's Park Arena to watch the improved Bellies battle from behind to deal the Shamrocks their first defeat of the young season.

SEPKA HURTS

Biggest headache for the Irish was Cliff Sepka, "rookie of the year" two seasons back but a disappointment last year. Sepka paces both clubs in the scoring parade with five goals and an assist. Bill Jobb and Doug McRory each counted twice for the Salmonbellies while Jack Bionda and Don Sherry were the only Rocks to beat veteran Stan Joseph more than once, each collecting two goals.

Joseph, the league's top netminder last season, who moved to New Westminster with Proctor, was in mid-season form. He turned aside 28 shots and broke the back of the Irish attack with a series of spectacular stops when the Rocks made an all-out effort to regain the lead in the third quarter.

Shamrocks, decisive winners in their first two games in Victoria, looked unbeatable as they moved into a 3-1 lead in the opening quarter. But the hard-checking Bellies evened the count at 5-5 at the half and held the Victorians to single goals in each of the last two periods while pumping eight shots behind goalie Donnie Hamilton.

Hamilton's work was the brightest spot in the Shamrock performance. Filling in for ulcer-troubled Geordy Johnston for the second time, Hamilton stopped 33 drives, including 12 in the wide-open third period.

Salmonbellies rapped in three unanswered goals to move ahead early in the third period before Bionda scored his ninth goal of the season. Bionda got the only fourth-period tally for Victoria while the Salmonbellies were adding tinsel to Jake's present with five more goals.

ACES LEAD, 2-1

Sore-Jaw Orval Jars Brandon

By The Canadian Press

MONTREAL (CP)—Orval Tessier has a sore chin today but he isn't complaining.

A puck that bounced wildly out of a scramble struck Tessier on the chin Thursday night and the high - scoring Quebec Aces' forward knocked it down, controlled it with his stick, and rifled a shot that gave the Aces a 7-6 victory over Brandon Regals and a 2-1 lead in their best-of-nine series for the Edinburgh Trophy.

Tessier's goal, his third of the game, came after 6.10 of sudden-death overtime and climaxed an uphill see-saw battle that saw the Aces come from behind four times before they finally won out. It was the third straight game of the series to be decided by one goal.

CHORLEY OFF

Tessier, Quebec Hockey League scoring champion during the regular season, banged home the winning goal from 15 feet in front of the net. It came when Elliot Chorley of the Regals had only two seconds left to serve on a hooking penalty.

Other Quebec scorers were Dick Gamble, Marcel Bonin, Michel Labadie and Stan Maxwell.

The game contrasted sharply with the tight defensive play of the two previous meetings in Quebec City. The teams return there Sunday with the remaining games scheduled to be played in Quebec.

Brandon goal-getters were Les Lilley with three and Don Raleigh, Len Haley and Ray Manson with one each. Playing coach Raleigh also assisted three times.

Mounties Nip Padres Over Lengthy Route

The Vancouver Mounties were supposed to be ducksoup for their Pacific Coast League opponents this year, but they have been changing the diet to goose eggs.

Last night the Mounties blanked San Diego in 15 out of 16 innings and came off with a 5-4 victory that put them in a first-place tie with Los Angeles and Hollywood.

The latter two clubs continued to dance in a circle, Hollywood winning 4-3.

Seattle moved into a virtual tie with all three top spotters by dumping San Francisco 8-3 while Sacramento sat and watched it rain in Portland.

It took Vancouver nearly four hours to win the game with the Padres after the Mounties appeared to have the game sewed up early. A 4-0 Vancouver lead vanished in the top of the ninth when Dave Pope hit a three-run homer and Stu Locklin followed with a solo blast.

From then on it was all goose eggs until the bottom of the 16th, when Jim Marshall singled and was sacrificed to second. Then Jake Crawford whipped out a single that won the game for the Mounties.

George Bamberger, who pitched from the 12th on, took the win and Mudcat Grant, who took over in the eighth, was the loser.

ONE QUALITY—THE BEST

HAS LESS THAN 50-50 STARTING CHANCE

Gen. Duke Hot Derby Topic

By ORLO ROBERTSON

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—This Ohio River city, steeped in the lore of the thoroughbred, went on its annual pre-Kentucky Derby binge today with one ear tuned toward Churchill Downs where 10 finely tuned three-year-old horses awaited the call to boots and saddles.

Nine of the 10 were as ready as man could make them for the 1¼-mile race Saturday before some 100,000 fans and a television audience.

But the other, Calumet Farm's hard - running Gen. Duke, was the talk of the town.

Will Gen. Duke start against the greatest field ever to contest this race? Not even trainer Jimmy Jones could give the answer.

"We may not know until an hour before post time," said Jones of his star who was sidelined with a bruised left front foot Tuesday.

"I would say that he has something less than a 50-50 chance of starting," Jones added. "We would like to run him but I'm not going to do anything that might injure him seriously."

With Gen. Duke a doubtful starter, Bold Ruler has been made the 8-to-5 choice to win the second - richest derby. Based on 10 starters, the race will have a gross value of $153,300, with a net of $109,200 going to the winner.

Ruler will be ridden by Eddie Arcaro, after his sixth derby win.

With or without Gen. Duke, it wouldn't be surprising to see the winner go under the record of 2.01 2-5 hung up by Whirlaway in 1941.

Federal Hill is rated the No. 1 speed horse of the field. But Round Table, Iron Liege and even Bold Ruler are capable of taking command early in the race.

Budd Carter said he'll equip John Applebaum's Toronto-owned Mister Jive with a special ring bit in order to help jockey Hedley Woodhouse keep the colt from running with the early pace.

The prospect is for partly cloudy skies and a fast track.

Sing No Blues Tune For 'Poor Old' Robin

Doug Peden OUTDOOR REPORT

Over coffee the other morning the question came up again—Is there one rod that would be suitable for all types of fishing on Vancouver Island?

The questioner this time was a salesman who spends a good part of his time on Island roads. He likes to fish when he gets a couple of spare hours but can't use up much space in his car for fishing tackle. He wants to carry only one rod.

Others in the same boat or living in small apartments, where space is also at a premium, have posed the question before.

Actually, it's something like asking what would be the best club to carry for a round of golf. All clubs are made to do a specific task. None are ideal for all situations. Yet, an expert can produce better-than-average results with only one.

Sam Snead can put his peerless swing to work with a five iron and break 80 most sunny mornings while the average golfer needs 90-odd strokes to struggle through 18 holes with a bagful of sticks.

A lot depends on the man. The fisherman who knows how to get the most out of his equipment can use a single rod under a variety of conditions. But he can't make it do everything.

Popularity of spinning makes it imperative that the so-called all-round rod be suitable for spin casting. It should be light enough to keep the element of sport in trout fishing and heavy enough to handle steelhead and most salmon.

Best All-Purpose Rod Has Two Tips

That would just about rule out satisfactory fly fishing at one end of the scale and wire-line trolling for spring salmon at the other.

Since I made the mistake of stowing both my spinning rod and dog in the back seat of the car, I have been operating mostly with one rod.

It may be cheating a bit on the one-rod idea, but the fishing pole, made by Pacific for use as either a light or medium trolling rod, has two tips.

When Robbie nipped six inches off the spinning rod tip, I wound a spinning guide on the butt end of the Pacific and came up with what has proved a useful outfit.

With the light tip, it is a two-piece job measuring three inches under the nine feet, flexible enough for trout casting, near perfect for steelhead and strong enough to handle salmon with light gear.

With the heavier tip, it is a seven-foot, seven-inch job excellent for salmon trolling with up to a pound of weight.

Two Spools for Spinning Reel

For me it has filled the bill in most situations. Although it makes spinning a two-handed operation, it throws all lures a highly-satisfactory distance.

There are other rods which would probably do as well, or better. Rich-Make of Vancouver puts out one with two tips that is a bit less expensive and a bit shorter than the one I have, around $21, and should make a good all-round stick.

If it must be limited to one tip, there are several rods selling around $15 that would serve fairly well. However, the all-purpose rod should be glass. Cane may have a better feel but it won't stand up under a variety of chores the way glass will.

To go a little further. A good spinning reel with two spools and a trolling reel are needed to get the most out of one rod. I would suggest nylon monofilament for each, six-pound-test for one spinning spool and either 12 or 15-pound-test for the other. On the trolling reel, 25-pound line should keep you in business with either coho or spring salmon.

Warm weather finally came along last weekend and trout fishermen reaped a happy harvest in several spots.

Trout fishing picked up in lower-Island waters but most lakes on the upper end, although improving, are still too cold for good fishing.

Dry-fly anglers had their best action of the season Sunday and Monday, before rain and dropping temperatures put the trout down again. However, the dry-fly boys should be scoring consistently for the next few weeks.

Limit catches, with some trout tipping the scales at better than three pounds, were common in the upper reaches of the Cowichan River Sunday and Monday. A premature black ant hatch may have helped things along but most of the fish taken on dry flies grabbed either a brown bivisible, bucktail or Professor fly. Wet flies and bait were also producing fish.

Main hatch of the black ant, which always touches off a flurry of activity on the Cowichan, should be during the next warm spell.

Several big brown trout have been landed below Skutz Falls, mostly in the late evening on silver-bodied flies or small spoons.

Phillies' Star Erases Doubts With 3-Hitter

By The Associated Press

Don't hang the crepe out yet for Robin Roberts. He's the healthiest looking "washed up" pitcher you ever saw.

The big Philadelphia righthander scotched talk that he is through as a top-flight hurler with a brilliant 13-strikeout performance Thursday night as the Phillies defeated Chicago Cubs 4-2.

Roberts gave up only three hits and may have had the first no-hitter of his career but for a trade engineered by the Cubs the day before. The three Chicago hits were made by Dale Long and Lee Walls, whom Chicago acquired from Pittsburgh in the deal for Gene Baker and Dee Fondy. Long smashed a home run and single while Walls hit a three bagger.

Roberts rolled up the highest strikeout total of his nine-year major league career in winning his first game after three losses. He walked one and faced only 31 batters, four over the minimum.

WIDEN MARGIN

Milwaukee and Chicago's White Sox, the major league pace setters, continued their winning ways. The Braves won their 11th game in 13 starts, defeating Pittsburgh 8-5 with a three-run outburst in the 10th. The triumph, coupled with St. Louis' 16-inning 3-2 win over Brooklyn, increased the Braves' National League lead over the Dodgers to two games. Cincinnati moved into fourth place, one game behind the Cardinals, with a 9-7 victory over the New York Giants.

Walt Dropo's grand slam home run, in the role of a pinch hitter, paced White Sox to a 6-1 victory over Washington and boosted their first-place margin in the American League to 2½ games.

The New York Yankees swept past Boston into second place, edging Kansas City 3-1 while Detroit Tigers knocked off the Red Sox 7-5. Cleveland and Baltimore were not scheduled.

The Braves pounded three Pittsburgh pitchers for 18 hits, but it took an error by third baseman Baker in the 10th to set up their winning tallies.

Lew Burdette, who won his third game against one defeat, had victory in his grasp in regulation time, but a three-run homer by pinch hitter John Powers in the ninth forced the game into extra innings.

Hard-Boiled Tough Egg

Hard-Boiled Haggerty took only 12 minutes at Memorial Arena Thursday night to substantiate his claim that he is the best wrestler twisting limbs today.

The hard-boiled one, operating with an advantage of 30 pounds, proved too powerful for Larry Clarke in the main event of the pro grapple card and battered Clarke into submission after 12 minutes of the one-fall bout.

Maurice Lapointe came up with a win in the semi-main event, working 40 minutes before an estimated crowd of 1,000 fans to take the odd fall in three from Jack Bente.

Buddy Knox and Pierre Deglane tussled 30 minutes to a draw in a special bout and Pat Sherman whipped "Bad Boy" Heinz in the one-fall opener.

Dog Fanciers' Show

Victoria Curling Rink will be the site May 17 and 18 of the Vancouver Island Dog Fanciers' Association Champion Dog Show with entries received from all over B.C., Eastern Canada and the United States.

Entries for the show close May 6, and judging will be done by Mrs. Sheila Anderson and Mr. Robert Cross.

Trap Shots Battle for Island Title

Vancouver Island's trap-shooting goes on the block at Victoria Gun Club Sunday.

Some of Canada's top shotgun experts will be bidding for the crown won last year by Vancouver's Earl Caldwell when firing at the Albert Head Road layout gets under way at 9 a.m.

Caldwell and Frank Opsal, Canada's two trap representatives at the Olympic Games at Melbourne, Australia, last November, are expected to lead the invasion by a strong mainland contingent, which includes scattergun stars Herb Sabine, Bert Whelan and Eric Price.

Whelan captured the doubles title at Nitinat Gun Club last year, while Fred Olson of the Cowichan Valley Gun Club nailed down the handicap championship.

LOCAL MARKSMEN

The host club will send a strong squad postward for the difficult chore of bringing the singles title back to the Island. Rated among the top Victoria threats for Caldwell's crown in the 100-bird, 16-yard singles event are city champion Henry Pottinger, B.C. all-star Jack Roach, many-time provincial trap king Johnny Wenger and city class "B" titleholder Herb Handyside.

Expected from up-Island clubs are Lem Traer of Duncan, Nitinat's perennial contender Ray Vye and Harry Squires Jr. of Courtenay Gun Club.

In addition to the open singles event, shooters will fire at 25 pairs in the doubles competition and at 100 targets in the handicap scramble. Also scheduled, if time permits, is a five-man team shoot.

Firing is expected to continue until after 6 p.m. and spectators are invited to attend the shoot.

Win CLGU Championship

Mrs. G. E. Harris and Mrs. H. G. Mearns gained a 2 and 1 victory over Mrs. E. Jackson and Mrs. N. Bamford Thursday to win the CLGU foursomes championship at Royal Colwood Golf Club.

Mrs. Harris and Mrs. Mearns defeated Mrs. H. G. MacKenzie and Mrs. C. Harrell. Mrs. MacKenzie was co-holder of the title in 1956.

Final round results follow:

First flight—Mrs. D. Naysmith and Mrs. B. P. Thirlwell defeated Mrs. R. S. Dyer and Mrs. R. B. Wilson, 2 and 1.

Second flight—Mrs. C. McRae and Mrs. A. G. E. Robbins defeated Mrs. R. Fanthorpe and Mrs. V. Wakelin, 1 up.

Third flight—Mrs G. Chisholm and Mrs. M. Whyte defeated Mrs. L. Cann and Mrs. J. Castle, 1 up.

Fourth flight—Miss J. Warter and Mrs. W. B Leach defeated Mrs. C. Holland and Mrs. E. Bryan.

Fifth flight—Mrs. S. D. Horsford and Mrs. H. Woolison defeated Mrs. A. B. Gennason and Mrs. E. Watt, 1 up.

Par competition—Mrs. C. H. Willis, Mrs. G. Hall, Mrs. H. E. Vale and Mrs. F. Skillings, tied 2 down.

IT'S THAT TIME AGAIN

Kids Listening For 'Play Ball'

All over town this weekend, the cry of "Play Ball" and the sound of hickory on horsehide will go up as six Little League, Babe Ruth and Colt Leagues swing into action in the first game of their season's schedules.

Some start the season with little or no fanfare, while others will have dignitaries and speeches but all will signal the beginning of a summer's fun for more than 1,000 Victoria youngsters in 12 minor baseball loops.

Saturday, two Little Leagues herald the opening of activity as Reeve A. C. Wurtele throws out the first ball for the Esquimalt-Victoria West loop at Bullen Park at 1.30 p.m., prior to four-inning games between Merchants and Lions at 2, and Foresters and Dodgers at 3.

Also opening play Saturday is the Hampton Little League with games scheduled at Hampton Park, starting at 1.30.

The games will match Totems against Cubs and Cougars against Beavers.

BAND AT OPENER

Colt League ceremonies will feature Archdeacon A. E. deL Nunns and the S. J. Willis Junior High School Band Sunday at Windsor Park at 1, with Dowells and Morrisons starting their game at 1.30, followed by Pacifics and Victoria Tire at 3.30.

A single game between Outdoor Supermarket and Brotherhood of Painters will open Saanich Babe Ruth League play at Reynolds Road Park Sunday at 1.30, while National and American Little Leagues will hold their opening day ceremonies at Jaycees Little League Park on Hillside Avenue.

Odd Fellows No. 1, last year's league champions, will open play against Rotary in the National League and will be followed by the official ceremonies by civic officials, team sponsors and visiting dignitaries.

After the ceremony, American League teams, Kinsmen and Tuglets, will initiate their league.

Two Jockeys Die After Pile-Up

ALBURY, Australia (AP)—One of the worst horse race accidents in Australian turf history has brought death to two jockeys and serious injuries to a third.

Three horses in the Albury Cup race Wednesday jammed together in a move for the rail and sent their riders spilling.

Doug Barclay, 26, died in an Albury hospital shortly after the accident. Maurie Gray, 34, died Thursday. The third rider, Ivan Spaling, 23, is in critical condition with a fractured skull.

REVERE, Mass.—Burke Emery, 166½, Sherbrooke, Que., outpointed Bobby King, 172, Everett, Mass., 8.

A Trifle Delayed, Prep Final Slated

High school soccer? At this time of year?

Don't look now, but the long-awaited, sudden-death game between Victoria High School and Vancouver Tech for the provincial championship is reaching reality.

On Saturday at 12 the two squads will square off in Vancouver's Callister Park to settle for this year at least the question of 1957 high school supremacy.

In recent years the local representatives have found the mainland competition just a shade too tough and experienced, and the best that has been managed by a Victoria team for several years was Vic High's 0-0 draw with Vancouver Tech in 1955.

Last year, the Vics, again the Victoria area winners, absorbed a 2-0 defeat from Tech.

Vic High will be using an unprecedented nine juniors on Saturday, which will make for an age difference of at least two years. The Techs are also expected to outweigh the Vic High crew by 20 to 30 pounds per man.

Although Keith Long, coach of the Vic High squad, feels that using younger talent will give them greater speed, he is not voicing any false optimism.

"We know the opposition," he said. "We should—we played the same team last year! They're a formidable bunch; but I know the boys will give their best."

Also making the trip are halfbacks Dave Dawson and Ron Pinfold and fullback Bill Gower.

Strait Girds Loins To Resist Attacks

At the sound of the splash, it will be strait swimming time.

Juan de Fuca thrashers are again beginning to assemble for onslaughts on the 18.3 miles of disquieting water between here and Port Angeles.

So far this year two attempts are definitely slated: Ben Laughren for May 15 from Port Angeles and Sgt. Bruce Holmes of the army pay corps at Gordon Head a few days later.

And, if interest of past years is maintained, there'll be a lot of others in the swim.

Ol' Juan has been conquered five times since the first abortive efforts back in 1933.

Since then about 65 attempts by some 30 swimmers have been made.

Totalled, their arm-grinds add up to around 355 swimming hours, or 15 days of daylight work on or under water.

Highlights of recent attempts were when marathoner Cliff Lumsdon, 25, churned his way to P.A. Aug. 16 last year, in 11 hours and 35 minutes; when Marilyn Bell, then 18, and when Victoria's swimming chef, Mr. Laughren, won the Junior Chamber of Commerce mass swim and a $1,000 prize by completing nearly 10 miles after 10 hours and 15 minutes in the water Aug. 26.

Big Ben made it from the U.S. city to Church Point Aug. 18 last year, as did American swimmer-housewife Amy Hiland.

Tacoma's Bert Thomas, who was made a Freeman of the City of Victoria for his valiant bids, swam from Port Angeles to Saxe Point here July 7-8 in 1955 in 11 hours and 15 minutes.

He followed on the heels of Florence Chadwick, who, in effect, started the craze of strait swimming. She gave it up after about five hours in the frigid (42-degree) waters Aug. 9, 1954.

'Y' Boys' Camp Needs Rowboats

Y's Men's Club of Victoria wants a gift of two sturdy rowboats of from 10 to 12 feet in length for the use of youngsters attending YMCA Camp Thunderbird at Glinz Lake in Sooke.

"It would be nice to get them for nothing, but we do have limited funds for the purchase of the right type of boat," said Frank Rainsford, of one of the club committees. "We are in the position to paint and repair boats that might be given to us."

The club hopes to have the boats no later than June 1 in order to make them ready for the summer season. Youngsters use the camp boats regularly for fishing in the evenings, he said.

Anti-Slavery Pact Signed

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — A new international agreement against slavery came into force this week. Thirty-two countries, including Russia, have signed the convention, adopted in Geneva last Sept. 7. The United States is not among them, as its policy is not to sign international conventions on subjects of domestic legislation.

Syria Protests

ISTANBUL (Reuters) — Syria has sent a note to Turkey complaining that Turkish Air Force planes have flown over Syria. It also complains that Turkish Army manoeuvres have been arranged with a view to affecting present relations between Jordan and Syria.

Atomic Artillery Shells Confirmed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The defence department has confirmed reports that United States forces have an eight-inch atomic artillery shell. It also disclosed that the army has both eight-inch guns and eight-inch howitzers capable of firing nuclear warheads.

Cattle Heir Weds

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — An heir to cattle millions slipped quietly into a Roman Catholic church Wednesday and married a dark-eyed German girl who once was the family cook. Before he became 21 last February William Wallace Mein III was thwarted by his parents from wedding 24-year-old Isolde Constantini, brunette immigrant from Mannheim.

Earth Ringed By H-Bomb 'Peel' Of Radioactivity

THE HAGUE (Reuters) — A Dutch scientist said Wednesday the earth is ringed by a huge "peel" of radioactivity from hydrogen bombs. Prof. H. P. Berlage, director of the Royal Meteorological Institute, said the peel radiates the equivalent energy of 100,000,000 grams of radium and is growing with each explosion.

Central Bank Interest Rate at Record 4.01%

OTTAWA (CP) — The Bank of Canada interest rate rose to a record 4.01 per cent this week, .01 per cent higher than the record high reached Feb. 14 and equalled last week, the central bank reported Thursday.

The rate is fixed at one-quarter of one per cent above the week's average yield for treasury bills, which rose to 3.76 from 3.75.

Victorians donated a total of 293 pints o blood—only seven pints short of the clinic goal—at a one-day clinic at Red Cross House Thursday.

Colorful Uniform Needed for Army

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian soldiers should be given a color' l uniform, says an army major.

"Battledress may be adequate in an operational theatre but that it is an embarrassment to the soldier in peacetime is plainly evident," writes Maj. William Simcock in the current issue of the Canadian Army Journal.

The journal publishes Maj. Simcock's prize entry in the Conference of Defence Associations .. 6 essay contest. The subject pos d was means of attracting the best men into the army.

Picketing Resumes at Gaspe Mines

MURDOCHVILLE, Que. (CP) —Picketing resumed today for the first time in more than a week at the main gate of the Gaspe Copper Mines here.

Five pickets, members of the United Steelworkers of America (CLC), took up posts near the gate. The workers have been on strike since March 11.

Lieut. Gerard Timlin, in charge of the 110-man provincial police detail in the area, gave permission Thursday for picketing to resume. It was stopped April 25 when police enforced a company-obtained injunction.

One thousand workers walked out March 11, three days after the company dismissed the union's local president. Two hundred workers subsequently left the area to seek jobs elsewhere.

STOUTLY BUILT

Remains of Roman baths with walls five feet thick were found in 1948 at old Canterbury in England.

Store Closing Issue Passed to Councils

The provincial government has passed the ball to municipal councils in the question of early closing for corner grocery stores.

"I'd suggest that the proprietors of these stores should go direct to their own council for the latter's consideration and action if the council deems such a step is advisable," Municipal Affairs Minister Wesley Black said Thursday.

The minister said that under provisions of the new Municipal Act, which takes effect July 1, corner stores will be able to sell "the bulk of the commodities" sold at present after normal closing hours.

FORCED OUT

A number of small independent store owners have complained they will be forced out of business by regulations in the act which make 6 p.m. closing mandatory unless city or municipal councils pass special by-laws.

Said Mr. Black:

"While corner stores as such are not designated in the act, and for that matter it would be difficult to do so, nevertheless if the council so wishes they may permit shops to sell fresh fruits, fresh vegetables, soft drinks, dairy products, bakery products, cut flowers, florest products and confectionery at any time."

Basic wording of the new act is the same as the old, Mr. Black said.

AUSSIE WORKERS STRIKE AGAINST INCENTIVE PAY

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters)—More than 150 truck drivers struck today because their employers insisted on giving them too much money—incentive payments which they said they do not want.

The drivers have posted pickets to prevent anyone taking their jobs at wages which include the incentive payments averaging about £2 a week. Six months ago the men accepted on a trial basis the incentive payments plan, based on speed on handling loads.

The rush for extra money brought disregard of traffic regulations and squabbling among drivers eager to get loads away quickly.

So the men decided unanimously they would not tolerate the incentive pay any longer and when their recent pay envelopes still included the extra "speed" money, they decided to strike.

Farm Incomes Show Gain in '56

OTTAWA (CP)—Cash income of farmers from the sale of their products totalled about $2,662,100,000 in 1956, an upward revision of about $6,200,000 from last January's preliminary estimate.

The bureau of statistics said yesterday the estimate is about 13 per cent higher than the revised figure of $2,357,100,000 in 1955, but still below the all-time record of $2,849,300,000 in 1952.

Higher returns were reported in all provinces, ranging from a 1 per cent increase in Ontario to a 40 per cent jump in Saskatchewan.

Cash income from wheat, Saskatchewan's largest single source of farm income, rose to $460,000,000 from $329,500,000. Marketings of oats and barley rose to $150,000,000 last year from $98,000,000 the previous year, and flaxseed sales increased to $62,000,000 from $40,500,000.

U.S. Governors Back Canadian Gas Pipeline

CHICAGO (UP) — Governors W. G. Stratton of Illinois and Vernon W. Thomson of Wisconsin have urged federal approval of a Canadian pipeline to serve the two states with natural gas.

Thomson said the governors would press for federal authorization of a Canadian pipeline running from Calgary through Wisconsin and into northern Illinois.

"The approval must come within the next six months or the cost of this gas will rise above what we first contracted for," Thomson said. The federal power commission will conduct a May 4 hearing in Washington on the question.

Golds Pace Advance On Toronto Exchange

Finance 1-F —K230 —Golds

Golds led a slight advance today on the Toronto Stock Exchange. Trading was light.

McIntyre was the leader among golds with a rise of 1½ points to 96. O'Brien was up 17 cents at 79 cents.

The market at New York backed away slightly after penetrating the barrier of its 1957 high. Leading stocks were ahead from fractions to a point or more but there were plenty of losers. Rails paced the advance. Oils were mostly lower.

AT TORONTO International Nickel was off ½ at 107. Uraniums were mixed to higher with Pronto the leader with a 30-cent climb at $7.70. Algoma Steel was the top industrial, up 3½ at 135. Utilities were strong.

Western oils were lightly traded and moved in a narrow margin.

AT NEW YORK rising Canadian stocks included McIntyre, ahead 2⅜, International Nickel ⅜, Dome Mines ¼ and Aluminium Ltd. ⅛. Off were Distillers-Seagrams, down ¼, Canadian Pacific ⅛ and Hudson Bay ⅛.

Gaining Canadian issues on the American exchange included Brazilian Traction and Sapphire Petroleums, up ⅛ and 1/16 respectively. Losing were Preston East Dome, off ⅜, Canadian Marconi and Shawinigan, ⅛ each, Fargo Oil, Richwell Petroleum and Molybdenite of Canada, 1/16 each.

AT MONTREAL industrials today were irregularly stronger in moderate trading on the stock exchange.

AT LONDON the stock market was bright today with continued demand for industrial equities.

Guest Keen advanced sharply and other leading engineerings improved. Textiles, electrical and stores were in demand. Hudson Bay was easier.

Leading oils were firm and dollar stocks improved.

AT VANCOUVER trading was slow with prices slightly higher. Canaam Copper sold 9,500 at 35. Vantor moved 15,200 between $2.39 and $2.50. Skeena Copper traded 4,500 at 12.

NEW YORK (CP)—The Canadian dollar was at a premium of 4 17/32 per cent in terms of U.S funds today. The pound sterling was $2.79⅝.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP) — Prices were somewhat irregular today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange as overseas business continued light.

Only business reported in Canadian coarse grains were parcel lots of flax to the Continent. Trade reports also disclosed that France had made purchases of Canadian wheat and Malta had taken a cargo.

Flax trade was moderately active, with evidence of export buying in the May while offerings were light. Selling, which included hedges and U.S. offerings, appeared in the deferred months. Prices were fairly steady.

Oats and barley were irregular and generally easier. New seasonal lows were recorded in both grains during the session. Buying was domestic in connection with feed requirements. Rye was irregular, with buying attributed to U.S. accounts.

Lakehead prices for class two, IWA and domestic wheat were unchanged except for the durums which dropped one-eighth cent.

RCN SHIPS BACK HOME AFTER 4 MONTHS, 18,000 MILES, 7 PORTS

Warm welcome home for 1,000 officers, men and cadets of RCN Pacific Command was extended by relatives and friends at HMC Dockyard and HMCS Naden today when three ships returned after four-month training cruise to Far East and mid-Pacific ports. At Naden, nearly 2,000 crowded jetty as HMCS Ontario drew alongside; at Dockyard, HMC ships Janquiere and Stettler were greeted by 600. At far right, WREN Margaret McRae helps HMCS Venture Mascot Buffer pick out his returning friends among the cadets trainees. The three ships steamed 18,000 miles, visited Hawaii, Guam, Manila, Singapore, Okinawa, Yokohama, Hong Kong. Cadets received sea training in all branches; 550 men passed tests to qualify them for promotions. Unique feature of voyage was sea-going exhibit of Canadian art, seen by hundreds who visited ships while in port. British Consulate at Hong Kong arranged for special showing in art gallery there. VICTORIA, B.C., FRIDAY, MAY 3, 1957 17

MONTE ROBERTS

I see where the authorities have passed a law against dandelions.

This is a fact, and you can look it up; the government of the Province of British Columbia, through the due processes of constitutional authority and the powers invested therein by the electorate of this province, has produced an order-in-council which states that, forthwith and hereinafter, the dandelion shall be a noxious weed.

This holds true whether the dandelion is called a dandelion or Taraxacum spp. Zinn.

Under this order-in-council, the dandelion moves into the select company of such as couch grass, redroot and Russian thistle, and its name and number will appear in the Noxious Weed Act.

Which, friends, is where you and I come in.

Under the Noxious Weed Act, any landlord caught harboring noxious weeds (of which there is a list approximately three miles long) can be ordered by an Agriculture Department inspector to destroy them.

I am not clear about what penalties will be levied against the landowner who fails to destroy the dandelions in his garden.

Possibly he will be ordered to mow his lawn twice a day, and no power mowers allowed.

In any event, you can be sure the penalties will be severe.

I presume the Department of Agriculture, with this new noxious weed on its list, will soon hire an additional army of inspectors to track down the nefarious dandelions.

There are so many dandelions, it would take at least an army, and possibly a navy and air force as well, to find all the landowners who are breaking the law by having dandelions on the premises.

But, knowing governmental ways, I am sure sufficient manpower will be forthcoming, and I, for one, am prepared to find an inspector peering through my hedge at any moment.

And when he peers through my hedge, he will see enough dandelions to ensure me of at least a life sentence.

It is not that I do not wish to respect the law of the land.

It is not that I do not understand the new law.

It is just that nobody has told the dandelions about it.

Don't bother with the handcuffs, inspector, I'll go quietly.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

As the result of a typographical error, the Times reported Thursday in a survey of the B.C. oil and natural gas industry that there are only 14 natural gas wells in the province. The figure should have been 104.

Rock 'n' Roll Teenager Gets 30 Days

Girl on Probation In Police Attack

Victoria juveniles Barbara Joan Winterburn, 16, and Douglas Brian Grover, 17, were sentenced in city police court today for assaulting a police officer at a rock 'n' roll dance April 13 in Memorial Arena.

Grover was given 30 days in Oakalla Prison, and Miss Winterburn placed on 12 months' probation and $500 bond for good behaviour.

In his judgment, Magistrate H. C. Hall gave consideration to the youth of both offenders, but insisted:

"This conduct must stop."

The pair were charged with assaulting Const. Norman Galbraith, a plainclothesman, as he placed another teen-ager, Timothy Rogers, under arrest for obstructing an officer.

"There is no question that each of you did assault Const. Galbraith," said Magistrate Hall. "You, Joan Winterburn, kicked him. You, Douglas Grover, struck him on the floor of Memorial Arena.

JUMPED OFFICER

"Not only that, after you, (Grover) had been removed from the Arena, you returned and jumped on Galbraith.

"The question is whether you knew Const. Galbraith was a police officer . . . engaged in the arrest of Timothy Rogers. He was not in uniform, but while he was arresting Rogers, you, Joan Winterburn, were in the immediate vicinity . . .

"According to the evidence, Const. Galbraith said . . . 'I'm a police officer. Now behave yourself.' He said this in a loud voice . . . This was confirmed by Const. Wells, also engaged in the execution of his duty.

"Winterburn, you are only 16 years of age. It was altogether improper conduct on your part, but I don't feel disposed to send you to Oakalla."

New City Priest to Sing First High Mass on Sunday

Rev. Bernard Hanley, 27, ordained last Sunday at St. Andrew's Cathedral by Most Rev. James M. Hill, Bishop of Victoria, will sing his first Solemn High Mass Sunday at 10.30 a.m. at Sacred Heart Church, Palmer Road.

Born in Saskatoon, Fr. Hanley has lived in Victcoria since 1934, and was educated at St. Ann's Academy and St. Louis College prior to studying at the Seminary of Christ the King in Mission City.

He is the second of six brothers to enter the priesthood, Rev. Philip Hanley having been ordained six years ago. This is the first instance in Victoria of two members of the same family becoming priests.

SISTERS TOO

Two of his three sisters have chosen religious vocations, Sister Mary Constance being at Apple Valley, Calif., and Margaret set to take her vows at Santa Barbara in July.

Fr. Philip Hanley will be deacon at his brother's first mass, and sub-deacon will be Rev. M. J. O'Connell. Rev. G. Planeta will be assistant at the service, and Rev. Lewis MacLellan will give the sermon.

A reception for Fr. Hanley will be held at Lake Hill Hall Sunday at 3 p.m.

Fr. Hanley is the son of Mrs. D. P. Hanley, 4025 Borden. His father died in 1945.

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court today:

Charles Gray McKinnon, RCN, $25 for driving without a licence.

Dallas Gordon Greig, 630 Langford, previously fined, and Gerald S. Adamus, 614 Niagara, also previously fined, each given two-month licence suspension except for business purposes, for careless driving.

WEATHER OUTLOOK UPWARD

Saturday will be sunny with cloudy periods, and there is an "even chance" that Sunday will be fine, weatherman William Mackie said today.

"A high-pressure area sitting over the northwest is fending off storms approaching from the ocean," he said. "One storm already near the northern coast of B.C. will give cloud Saturday, and we hope the high-pressure area will be strong enough to divert storms Sunday."

No rain is expected for either Saturday or Sunday, and temperatures will range from 48 degrees tonight to 60 degress Saturday.

Fine of $100 For Running Bingo Game

Bingo game operator Mrs. Audrey Jorgenson, 5151 Cordova Bay, was fined $100 in city police court today on a charge of operating a common gaming house.

Charge was laid after a police raid on premises of Victoria Whist and Bridge Club, in the basement of Westholme Hotel, 1417 Government, last month.

Nominal penalty was imposed on the basis of a submission by the defence that Mrs. Jorgenson was a paid employee of the club. This was substantiated by a probation report.

"It would appear by the probation report when you receive a salary you are not interested in the business otherwise," Magistrate H. C. Hall said.

"Under those circumstances you will be fined $100 or in default, 30 days."

Sunshine Camp Dining Hall Ready Soon

Addition to the dining hall at the "Sunshine Camp" at Saseenos will be finished before the two-month camping season opens June 24, director W. A. Scoones said today.

Construction has been undertaken by volunteer workmen from the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, local 1598.

The seven 10-day camping periods have been allotted to old aged pensioners, members of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, handicapped persons and pre-teenage girls. Three family camps also will be included.

'Gore' Meeting Tuesday Night

A meeting of Shelbourne and Mt. Tolmie district residents has been called for next Tuesday at 8 p.m. in Richmond CCF Hall to decide action on Peace Memorial Gore, at Shelbourne and Cedar Hill Cross Road.

A group of interested citizens, led by A. E. Horner, 1729 Kisber, who are sponsoring the meeting, want Saanich council to dedicate the entire pie-shaped piece of land as a memorial park.

Saanich has set a $15,000 price tag on a sliver of the property and is prepared to dedicate the rest.

Gun-Point Robbery At Nanaimo Hotel

Island Search Under Way For Pair Who Got $600

An Island-wide search was under way by RCMP today for two men who held up a Nanaimo hotel employee at gunpoint early this morning, and escaped with about $600 in bills.

Police in Nanaimo today would say only they were "working on the case," but it was understood at least one suspect was questioned in regard to the robbery.

Thomas Rhodes, 49, of Northfield, night janitor at the Newcastle Hotel, near the hub city's Civic Arena, said he was cleaning up the lobby of the hotel at 3.40 a.m. when "two men barged in and said they wanted money."

DISGUISED

"While one man stayed at the door in the lobby, the other, wearing funny dark glasses and a false nose, held a short, stubby revolver on me. It was about .38 calibre," Rhodes said.

He pushed Rhodes into the back bar and took the money from behind the till. It is understood they escaped in an old model station wagon that had been parked opposite the hotel, and had headed north.

DESCRIPTIONS

The armed man was described as being six feet tall, weighing 185 pounds, and wearing a suit jacket. He was from 30 to 40 years of age. His companion, also between 30 and 40, was about five feet, seven inches in height, and was wearing a fawn-colored windbreaker.

Owners of the hotel are Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Clark, and manager is Walter Scarsbrook. Rhodes was the only staff member on duty at the time of the hold-up.

CANADIAN COMMITTEE of the International Press Institute, meeting in Toronto, Thursday, re-elected Victoria Daily Times publisher J. Stuart Keate as chairman. G. V. Ferguson, Montreal Star, is vice-chairman. Institute is an association dedicated to the principle that understanding among journalists leads to understanding among peoples.

Victoria-East Group Formed

Formation of a Victoria East Community Association for civic betterment and to assist in organization of healthful children's activities was announced here today.

First president is Hugh Hollingworth, 1501 Haultain.

The group already includes 25 residents and is calling for new members from the area bounded roughly by Cook, Hillside, Richmond and Pandora.

"The organization is concerned primarily with provision of parks and playgrounds for children in our own area. But we hope to take an active part in other city affairs affecting our homes and taxes," said Mr. Hollingworth today.

First organizational meeting was Wednesday night. The group will meet again at a date to be announced in early June and is hopeful of obtaining a church hall in the area for regular meetings.

The new ratepayers' group was formed originally by Bay Street neighbors in 1952 and prevailed on the city to open the Bay Street playground near Oregon Street.

Members provided $200 toward the project. Seven city lots were dedicated as a park. It is now hoped residents in the area near Forbes, Denman, Gladstone and Victor will join the association and work toward a similar development in a city-owned field bounded by those streets.

Formation of a Scout and Cub group is also under consideration.

Prospective members should contact the secretary, Mrs. Norman Harlan, at 4-7745.

Jaycees Ready For 90,000 At Big Fair

Plans were completed today for the opening at the Memorial Arena Monday of the largest annual Victoria Industrial and Agricultural Exhibition, expected to attract over 90,000 visitors next week.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the exhibition, announced that the one-week fair will feature over 100 exhibits — more than any previous year.

In addition, a midway and agricultural section, will be the largest since the inauguration of the exhibition 11 years ago.

RINK TOO

Some of the exhibits will be shown at the Victoria Curling Rink.

The exhibits of the agricultural section, to include 80 head of cattle and 200 rabbits of all types, will be housed in a large tent at the rear of the arena.

The exhibition will be thrown open to the public at 6 p.m. and officially opened by Public Works Minister W. N. Chant at 7.30.

QUEEN BALLOT

A special attraction of the week-long fair will be the selection by popular ballot of May Queen.

Contestants for the May Queen are sponsored by city clubs and organizations. They are Annlyn Florence, Sue Pearson, Francis Merriman, Grace Chew, Jean Roberts, Lucy Tomczyk, Rose Welder and Marlene Woyce.

Winner of the Queen contest will receive an all-expense paid trip to Honolulu.

The contestants will appear nightly at the exhibition and will participate in fashion shows.

NEW PRODUCTS

The exhibits will include all types of merchandise and manufactured goods, as well as new products.

Here are some of the exhibits visitors will see:

An arts and craft show featuring the works of accomplished Victoria artists, as well as a display of metal and wood work and coins.

The latest army equipment, and a new field piece, exhibited by the 5th Coast Army Reserve.

The wood carvings of K. Neilson, who has won province-wide recognition for his carvings in British Columbia.

A display of stripped cars by the Quarter-Milers' Club.

New farm equipment and plastic materials.

The Motor Vehicles Branch will also set up its reaction equipment for road testing. Visitors will be able to test their driving reaction with the equipment.

A table televsion set will be given each night as a door prize.

The main prize of the exhibition will be a 1957 Dodge hardtop.

Toronto Firm To Examine BCPC Methods

A Toronto firm of management consultants, J. D. Woods & Gordon Ltd., has been hired to examine the business methods of the B.C. Power Commission.

The survey will be aimed at cutting costs and increasing efficiency, Lee Briggs, commission general manager, said today.

"In a fast-growing organization, it is essential that methods of operation be examined periodically to see where they can be improved or simplified," Mr. Briggs said.

"In our case we are handling public money, which we believe must be safeguarded not only through continuous outside audit, but also by occasional critical examinations into the efficiency of our whole business organization."

ASK The TIMES

Q. Upon returning to Victoria after several years I was surprised to see that a schoolhouse had been built on the old Langford Speedway. Does auto racing still flourish in Victoria? And if so, where? —C.C.

A. Auto racing is no longer held at the old Langford Speedway, but the Western Speedway is operating on Millstream Road.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Sweet Hothouse Tomatoes To Brighten Meal Times

By PENNY SAVER

Something that has been missing from the produce markets has returned—the dessert tomato. These sweet, small tomatoes are wonderful for decorating your salads or for nibbling with a touch of salt. Sandwiches, crisp with lettuce are good tasting, too. Right now, the first shipment of these hothouse tomatoes cost 33 cents a half pound. No. 1 hothouse tomatoes are 38 cents a half pound. Imported Mexican toms are 29 cents a package.

New arrivals, and welcome ones, are new potatoes with light colored skins, fresh and tasty. These are 25 cents for three pounds. A perfect complement for these new potatoes are fresh green peas, yours at two pounds for 45 cents.

For a dash of color, here are fresh, new carrots at two bunches for a quarter, and cauliflower at 25 cents a head.

Broccoli is going down, and is 19 cents a pound, while spinach is 19 cents.

Asparagus is tender and appealing at 29 cents a bunch, and green beans are 39 cents a pound. White turnips are two bunches for 39 cents, and beets, two bunches for 45 cents.

In the salad-making department, here are radishes and onions, both selling at two bunches for 19 cents, and lettuce, 17 cents a head. Cucumbers are two pounds for 35 cents, and seedless cukes are 35 cents each. Romain and endive are 20 cents each and celery 25 cents a stalk.

Strawberries still have a place of honor in the fruit displays. Sweet smelling and rich tasting, the berries are 39 cents a box. Rhubarb, vying with the strawberries for the most colorful section, costs 29 cents for two pounds. Bananas are two pounds for 29 cents, and a bag of Winesap apples costs 59 cents. A taste treat are coconuts, selling at 29 cents.

"I flunked the driving test . . . the man said I operated the horn very well but needed a little more practice on the rest."

Old Japanese Prints Attract

Ten colorful Japanese prints add a spicy, Oriental touch to the Georgian living room of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Cameron, 2021 Runnymede Avenue.

Collector's items, the prints date from late 18th century to early 19th century, and show the Japanese in many phases of oriental life and culture.

Mrs. Cameron thinks the prints will be of special interest to those who visit her home, May 11, on the annual house tour, sponsored by the Women's Committee to the Greater Victoria Art Gallery.

Artistic combination of pale chartreuse, lacquer red, yellow and cocoa tones makes the Cameron living room visually pleasing. It is the perfect setting for the Japanese prints.

Walls of the room are the pale chartreuse and the matching ceiling is molded in gold leaf design.

The main lighting fixture is a chandelier . . . a sparkling waterfall of crystal drops.

LOUISE DAVIS

On Etiquette

May a 14-year-old sister be maid of honor?

My sister, who has just turned fourteen, would like to be maid of honor at my wedding next September. Everyone but her and my mother think that she is too young. She is my only sister and, of course, I want her as one of my attendants. What should I do?

Louise Davis answers:

Have your sister as junior bridesmaid, for she is too young to be maid of honor. Louise Davis She shouldn't even be classed as bridesmaid for the same reason. Your maid of honor should be someone your own age, preferably your closest friend.

About wording and addressing announcements:

As my daughter's wedding will be very small, I will be issuing announcements just after she is married. I am divorced. Should my name appear as Mrs. Helen S. Dixon or Mrs. Helen Smith Dixon? In sending announcements to three sisters living in the same house (one is a widow and the other two are single), should they be sent to each, or should I send one to the widow and one to the two sisters, addressing the outer envelope to the older sister and putting the other names on the inside?

Louise Davis answers:

Of the two names, I prefer Mrs. Helen Smith Dixon. Ordinarily adults in a family get separate announcements, but with three sisters living in the same house, I would be inclined to defy the custom by addressing the outside envelope with the three names, such as: Mrs. Lester Ellis, Miss Mary Gordon, Miss Elizabeth Gordon, writing one name under the other. The three names should be repeated in the same way on the inside envelope.

Rooms Decorated — At last meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to Royal Jubilee Hospital, with Mrs. P. E. Corby presiding, it was announced that case rooms in the maternity wing had been decorated; new drapes provided and screens and bedside tables installed by the auxiliary. It was decided to provide three wheelchairs and a Stryker frame for orthopedic cases for the hospital.

$50 For Education—At a recent meeting of Major John Hebden Gillespie Chapter, IODE, $50 was voted to help bring a doctor from India or Pakistan for further education and study. Mrs. P. W. Bell presided and the evening rummage sale realized $75. First vice-regent, Miss Joan French was named delegate to the national convention in Vancouver with the standard bearer, Mrs. Arthur Laundy. It was decided to hold a luncheon at the home of Mrs. R. H. Spilsbury, 2995 Uplands Road on May 9 from 12 to 2.

Junior Auxiliary Sponsors Showing

"Cruise In The Sun" is the theme chosen for an informal showing of summertime sports, day and evening wear to be presented in Eaton's Victoria Room, next Friday and Saturday afternoons at 3 p.m., under the auspices of the Junior Auxiliary to the Royal Jubilee Hospital. There will be shorts, swimsuits, separates, dresses for daytime, dining and dancing—all meant for fun anywhere "under the sun". Models will be Ina Harford, Times Fashion editor Nona Damaske, Pat Olson, Jan Joslin, Helen Beirness, Judy Greenfield and for the tiny tads, Linda Miller and Leslie Beatty. Tickets may be obtained from any member of the auxiliary or on Eaton's fashion floor.

Honor Rings Awarded at Spring Festival

During the spring festival of Girls' Auxiliary of the Anglican Church in Canada, held in Memorial Hall recently, six girls were invested with the ring of honor. They were Sheila Todd, St. Andrew's and Holy Trinity, Sidney, B.C.; Mary Joyce Jenkins, Darlene Nute, Cynthia Thompson, St. Saviour's, Victoria; Vivian Chan and Wendy Love, Christ Church Cathedral.

Prizes were presented as follows: Quilt top, St. Mark's Branch, Victoria; layette, St. Mark's, Qualicum; Bible story telling, Bonnie Duncanson, St. John's, Courtenay; Bible reading, St. Aidan's, Cowichan Lake.

Winner of the girls' auxiliary banner was the Cathedral Branch; winner of the special award, St. Aidan's, Cowichan Lake.

Mrs. A. E. Raymond, Victoria, diocesan girls' secretary, was in charge of the festival program which included addresses, a panel and buzz session, talent numbers, swimming at the Crystal Garden, a visit to the museum, a tour of the cathedral, films, a demonstration of flower making, exhibits of church furnishings and Dorcas work and a banquet.

Immigrants Need Friendly Welcome in Big, New Land

To extend the warm hand of friendship to newly-arrived immigrants in Canada and make them feel welcome in their land of adoption is one of the best ways to make our country spiritually and politically sound, said Dr. W. G. Black at a recent meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club here.

Customs and beliefs of the old lands have much to offer and assimilation of these cultures with the Canadian way of life can instill into all citizens broader ideals. New Canadians, the majority of whom come from Great Britain, West Germany, Italy and Holland are quick to learn our language and readily accept new ideas in law, police and elections. "They become appreciative Canadian citizens," Dr. Black said.

A panel of four newly arrived new Canadians, Mrs. Aksel Petersen, Denmark; Mrs. Nicky Lall, India; B. H. Roberts, South Africa, and R. Ciccimara, Austria, dicussed questions on why they came to Canada, comparison of Canada to homeland and the adjustments made to new way of living. All spoke glowingly of the friendliness of Canadian people. Panel chairman was Miss Ella Brett.

Mrs. H. L. Smith, president, Victoria branch, Citizenship Council, spoke briefly on the work of the organization.

Miss Verna Beek expressed thanks of meeting to speakers.

A dinner was held in the clubroom prior to the meeting at which the speakers were honored guests. Club president, Mrs. Ruby Masters presided.

A Silver Tea

Mrs. James Ryan has opened her home at 2660 Lansdowne Road, to members of St. Joseph's Hospital Auxiliary, for a silver tea to be held next Wednesday afternoon.

In Honor of The Bride

Miss Joyce Allison was honored Wednesday at a miscellaneous shower by co-hostesses, Mrs. P. G. Mackereth and Mrs. G. A. Spring at the home of the latter. She was presented with a white carnation and stephanotis corsage and her mother, Mrs. Carl Allison, and the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. P. W. Mackereth received carnations. Guests were: Mrs. E. Seedhouse, Mrs. Ed Seedhouse, Mrs. A. Vaughan, Mrs. R. Hatton, Mrs. J. Newton, Mrs. C. Allison, Mrs. P. Mackereth, Mrs. G. Mackereth, Mrs. G. Spring, Mrs. D. Harrington, Mrs. W. Tyson, Mrs. D. Tyson, Mrs. G. Stevens, Mrs. H. Tyson, Mrs. Bill Tyson, Mrs. S. Ralph, Mrs. W. Ralph, Mrs. D. Ralph, Mrs. T. Copley, Mrs. J. Ballantyne, Misses M. Ralph, M. Ballantyne, B. Vaughan, E. Spring, M. Spring J. Tyson, R. Tyson, Master A. Spring and Master J. Spring.

Mrs. White New Junior CWL Head

Mrs. Joan White was elected president of the Junior Catholic Women's League of St. Andrew's Cathedral parish at a recent meeting. Other officers are Mrs. Ann Rendle, first vice-president; Mrs. I. Cavin, second; Miss E. Kobelsky, third; Miss M. Ayling, treasurer; Miss J. Knapik, corresponding secretary; Mrs. M. Griffin, Mrs. M. Longpre and Mrs. A. Chapman, councillors.

In her annual report, retiring president, Mrs. Griffin, said money making events were a summer fete, turkey dinner, turkey draw, white elephant sale, credit union tea and catering for communion breakfasts.

Two hundred and seventy pounds of clothing and some food hampers were sent to Father Bradley's Indian Mission; food and clothing provided to Hungarian refugees and a confessionaire presented in the cathedral.

INVITATIONS GO OUT FOR JUNE BALL

With assembly-line precision a group of volunteers under direction of Mrs. C. E. King, have this week addressed and mailed invitations for the third annual June Ball to be held in the gymnasium in HMCS Naden on Friday, June 7. Pictured busily "stuffing" envelopes are, from the left, Mrs. A. H. Bamford, Mrs. Gar Dixon, Mrs. King, Mrs. Bruce Humber, Mrs. R. D. Travis and Miss Elisa Stenner. Ball proceeds are used for work of the Armed Services Centre.

McMath-Cole Vows Heard

Rev. Douglas B. Carr officiated at a ceremony in Centennial United Church recently when Miss Audrey L. Cole, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Cole, 844 Goldstream Avenue, Langford, exchanged wedding vows with James A. McMath, son of Mrs. E. McMath, 2870 Foul Bay Road.

The bride, given in marriage by the groom's father, chose for the ceremony a gown of white brocade in waltz-length. Her chapel veil was held to a dainty headdress, and completing her ensemble, she carried a bridal bouquet of pink roses and white feathered carnations.

The bride's only attendant was Mrs. Norma Cole who chose a green brocade waltz-length gown and carried a bouquet of yellow carnations.

The groom had Robert McMath as best man.

The bride's travelling outfit was a turquoise three-piece suit.

Following a honeymoon in Parksville, the newlyweds have made their home at 1066 Finlayson Street in Victoria.

JUNE WEDDING BELLS

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prize? Then Ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Sue Ellen Rose Metro, aged 15, of Buck Creek, Ind., for her question:

Are There Really Ant Cows?

Ant cows are aphid insects or plant lice. The countless little aphids are humble relatives of the lordly cicada which Andy wrote about a few weeks ago. All these insects are plant eaters and most of them are pests who dine on our crops, gardens and favorite trees. Colonies of small green aphids team over buds and twigs, sipping the juices. Each type of aphid selects the kind of plant it prefers.

As it sips, the aphid gives off a sweet syrup through a pair of tubes at the tail end of its body. This is honeydew, the favorite cake, ice cream and candy of the ant world. Any ant will take the honeydew from an aphid. This pleases the ant and also the aphid who tends to clog up in his own sweetness.

The cornfield ant goes even further. This busy black insect carries out a plan to keep a plentiful supply of honeydew right in her pantry. Come fall she scurries around gathering up the new laid eggs of the corn-root aphid. She totes them to a safe place in her nest. Through the winter, she moves them from one warm chamber to another.

Come, spring, the ant is on hand when the aphid eggs hatch. She carries the new babies to a tunnel by a knotweed root. Here they feed, though this is not their favorite food. This is ready when the young spring corn sets its roots down into the ground. Then along comes the busybody cornfield ant and carries her tame aphids to a chamber by a corn root.

Now the aphids thrive and give off their honeydew. Cornfield ants arrive to take the sweet sprup. These ants tend their aphids as a dairyman tends his stock. They protect these domesticated aphids from their enemies. Sometimes they even stroke the aphids to milk out the honeydew. No wonder we call these tame aphids ant cows! And the milkmaid cornfield ant is an expert, though miniature, dairy farmer.

This is one of the fascinating stories of the ant world. However, those little ant cows steal the sap from our corn crops. To the farmer, this ant dairy farming is a pest.

The pesky aphids have an interesting life cycle. What's more, if it were not for their enemies, they could produce enough descendents to destroy all the plants in the world. If all her children lived, one aphid could have several million descendents during a single summer.

The mother lays a few eggs in the spring. They are all females and ready to lay eggs of their own in a few days. The broods appear every few days through the summer, all of them wingless females. Come fall, the broods are winged and mixed male and female. The eggs laid by this group usually sleep through the winter. Let's welcome the graceful lacewing insect, the aphid lion. Her grubs feed on aphids and help keep down the plant lice population.

Andy sends a Hammond's International World Globe to Craig Giddens, age nine, of Shreveport, La., for his question:

Who built the Suez Canal?

The Suez Canal was planned by a French engineer named Ferdinand de Lesseps. He designed the canal and he started the company which raised the money to build it. He also arranged a proper give-and-take with Said Pasha, the viceroy of Egypt.

The Suez Company was started in 1858. It was an Egyptian company with offices in Paris. Business men bought stock, the money was raised and the work began. It was agreed that after 99 years of operation, the canal and its revenue should belong entirely to Egypt.

The canal was finished and opened on Nov. 17, 1869. In 1875, Ishmail Pasha, the Khedive of Egypt, needed money badly. He sold his share in the Suez Company to the British government. They paid about $20,000,000 for almost half the company. Another 52 per cent of the company was held by French stockholders.

Many people of many nations gave a helping hand. But Ferdinand de Lesseps was the man who made the dream of the Suez Canal come true. It joins the Mediterranean with the Red Sea and is a short cut waterway between Europe and Asia.

Sunset Ritual On Tuesday By Army Unit

First of three sunset flag-lowering ceremonies scheduled for May will be performed next Tuesday at the Legislature flagstaff by 5 Independent Medium Battery.

Next Thursday, members of 40 Technical Squadron RCEME will conduct the ceremony, and on May 30, 4 Light Anti-Aircraft Battery will stage the traditional retreat.

Units expected to participate during the summer season—up to Aug. 31—include 2455 Aircraft Control and Warning Squadron RCAF (Aux.), Sea Cadets, University School, Royal Canadian Navy, Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's) Army Cadets and others.

If possible, units will use a public address system and commentator to explain significance of the various forms of ceremony.

The city of Victoria presents a swagger stick to the best turned-out man on parade, and at the end of the season provides a trophy for the unit capturing the most points in parades through the summer.

Units will parade through the business section to and from the Legislature flagstaff, and an effort will be made to synchronize ceremonies with other events for attendance purposes.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

By FREEMAN KING

Victoria District Notes: The second work party for Camp Barnard, Sooke, will leave scout headquarters on Saturday morning at 8.30. Those taking their own cars should be at camp by 9.30 a.m. There will be no transportation provided on Sunday.

The dining shelter will be painted, and a putty coat applied to the floor.

A start will be made on digging a well. The old water tank has been shot full of holes by vandals.

Especially wanted this week are carpenters and painters and anybody who can use a shovel.

Comox District: Thirty-nine Scouts, who are taking part in a weekend Bronze Arrowhead course, attended morning service at the RCAF Station Comox Protestant Chapel.

The Scouts were accompanied by district commissioner R. T. Farrington, district scouter T. R. Yaeger and Scouters A. Mitchell, H. Howard and E. Lecroix.

Troops represented on the course are First Quadra Island, First Courtenay, First Comox and Second Comox.

Outdoor Market To Double Space By September

The Outdoor Market at Cook and Quadra will double its selling space by September.

A house adjoining the property was moved Wednesday to a new location on Glasgow Street. It was the second house to yield to the market's expansion over the past three years.

The first, moved around the corner to Cook Street, is the home of Saanich-born owner Henry Eng, 31, a former truck driver who has guided the market's growth from a shack to a supermarket valued at $200,000.

The present parking lot will give way to a 6,500-square-foot addition to the market this year.

Parking space will be provided on the newly-vacated lot "by the end of this week," Mr. Eng said.

FACE FACTS SQUARELY

British Tough In Emergency

TORONTO (CP) — Sir Saville Garner said Wednesday night the record of the British government in the last four months shows that the people of Britain "are ready to face facts, are tough enough to draw the conclusions from those facts and are willing to act accordingly."

Sir Saville, United Kingdom high commissioner in Canada, spoke at the 40th anniversary dinner of The Canadian Press, giving to his audience of newspapermen from coast to coast "a picture of the position of my country today as I see it."

D. B. Rogers, president of The Canadian Press, presided and head table guests included Sir Christopher Chancellor, general manager of Reuters News Agency, and Robert McLean, president of The Associated Press.

DIFFICULT YEAR

Sir Saville said it would be an understatement to say that the last year was a difficult one for Britain. The Suez crisis came as a shock to public opinion.

He paid tribute to Sir Anthony Eden, prime minister in those times of difficulty, saying that no one who knows Sir Anthony's character and record "can doubt his complete integrity and his earnest striving for the upholding of international law and order."

Harold Macmillan succeeded Sir Anthony four months ago and Sir Saville spoke of the "warm intimacy of personal relations" established at the Bermuda talks between Mr. Macmillan and President Eisenhower and Mr. Macmillan and Prime Minister St. Laurent.

NEW DOMINION

In a reference to the June conference of Commonwealth prime ministers in London, he mentioned that Ghana will be represented for the first time and that in years to come the prime ministers of Malaya, Nigeria, The West Indies will attend similar conferences.

"It is a most imaginative and hopeful experiment that so many different races, creeds, colors wish to retain this link and that in this way we are building up in friendship a true multi-racial commonwealth," he said.

Sir Saville spoke of British relations with the United States, which country he described as the main support of the free world against the threat of international communism.

Britain wanted closest co-operation with the U.S., "but true friendship must rest on respect and mutual respect rests on recognition of strength in the other."

NO YES-MEN

"We want to be partners and not satellites," he said. "We are not naturally 'yes-men' or 'me-too-ists' and the Americans would not expect us to be."

Sir Saville said one of the major facts the British are facing "is the reality of defence in the modern world." A white paper had told the people of Britain that "there is at present no means of providing adequate protection for the people of this country against the consequences of an attack with nuclear weapons."

Consequently, the over-riding consideration of the "new look" military policy was to prevent war, rather than prepare for it.

Britain would take part in the collective defence of the free world "by our contribution to the nuclear deterrent and by a fair share of the armed forces needed by NATO."

Sir Saville spoke of Britain's plans to test her first hydrogen bomb and of the concern these tests have aroused in many countries.

"So long as Russia goes on with such tests," he said, "We cannot afford neglect to arm our side with this weapon."

Plans for scrapping battleships and anti-aircraft, for reduction of overseas garrisons and for economies in administration and manpower had come about because two considerations: that recent scientific advances must fundamentally alter the whole basis of military planning, and that claims of military expenditure must be considered with the need to maintain the country's financial and economic strength.

Sir Saville said the British are not living in the past or on the glories of a past age but "are realists in the harsh world of today and are confident we can meet the challenge of the future."

'Near Famine' Reported in Nepal

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP)—One quarter of Nepal's 10,000,000 people are suffering "near famine conditions" because of crop failures, an official spokesman said Wednesday. Asking people to "face the situation gravely," the government-controlled Nepal radio said the food scarcity is being felt in this capital city.

Soviet Memorials

BUDAPEST (Reuters)—A Hungarian Communist newspaper has proposed erecting memorials for Soviet soldiers killed in the Hungarian uprising last October and November. The newspaper Eszakmagyarorszakg, published in Miskols, northeast Hungary, says "We must erect memorial statues for those Soviet soldiers who sacrificed their lives in November, 1956, so that we should live."

Switcheroo! Japanese Send Apples to B.C.

Talk about coals to Newcastle: now it's Japanese apples to B.C.

The Japanese have always had a monopoly on the tangerine market, but now they've moved into one of the province's specialized fields.

The disclosure was made this week by Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes in a campaign speech. He implied there's something wrong with government policy and the marketing system to allow such a thing.

The situation was confirmed today by local wholesalers.

CANNED APPLES

A shipment of Japanese canned apples was bought by a Vancouver broker some six months ago.

The apples were reported to be of a very high quality and considerably cheaper than the B.C. product.

"It's a strictly a matter of economics," one dealer said. "The B.C. packers just can't compete with these foreign products."

Another wholesaler reported his firm buys canned apples from Tasmania and Holland because of the price differential.

"We try to avoid it whenever possible," he added, "and support our own growers."

Marketing set-up of the whole B.C. fruit-growing industry is now under review by a Royal Commission.

Furness, Withy Will Transport Totem Free

British Columbia's Centennial gift to Queen Elizabeth, a 100-foot totem now being carved at Thunderbird Park, will travel to the United Kingdom aboard a Furness, Withy ship.

Announcement was made Thursday by Cecil Ridout, manager of King Bros. Ltd., Victoria agent for the British shipowners.

"We are honored to have our offer to transport the totem to England accepted," he said.

No freight charges will be made.

Furness, Withy operates a fleet of passenger-freighter combinations on a regular schedule between the U.K. and Pacific coast ports.

At Thunderbird Park, chief carver Mungo Martin and assistant carvers David Martin and Henry Hunt are making steady progress.

The symbolic figures on the pole—which will have one foot of carving for every year of B.C.'s life as a province—are slowly emerging from the wood of the giant cedar.

Carving work is a focal point for tourist interest, and is likely to be the most photographed activity in Victoria this season.

(BB) "THE TATTERED DRESS" (Odeon)—The trouble with Universal-International's "The Tattered Dress" is, its slip is showing.

The slip being, you can't believe the plot.

To grey-thatched Jeff Chandler, "the greatest criminal lawyer since Clarence Darrow"—the law is something to be manipulated like a pinball machine. So successful is he at snatching accused murderers from the lap of the chair that those in need of his services regard him as the ost reliable mouthpiece since the invention of the pay telephone.

THEN LAWYER CHANDLER gets a hurried SOS from small-town millionaire Philip Reed who has thoughtlessly bumped off his wife's lover. The price being right, the big city slicker hops a train for the wide open spaces and soon finds out that there are stickier things in the desert than the weather.

Actually he doesn't encounter too much trouble winning an acquittal for his client. The old law game is just as easily beaten in the sticks as it is in New York. Then the blow. During a celebration drink following the trial Chandler is handed a subpoena indicting him before the grand jury for allegedly bribing a woman witness.

UP TO THIS POINT "The Tattered Dress" is as full of promise as a June bride. There soon grows an uneasy feeling, however, that one has been through it all before—and hadn't then believed that such things could happen in the sacred halls of U.S. jurisprudence. There's Jack Carson, the crooked sheriff, the weak Reed and his tramp wife, Elaine Stewart. There's the rigged poker game and the bitter townspeople — all old friends from old plots.

★ ★ ★

IN THE END Chandler's estranged wife, Jeanne Craine, turns up to stand by him in his hour of trial. Although she knows her hubby is a sharp cookie nd a ladyfinger, she wants to keep the big bite within the family. At that, lawyer Chandler is indeed in need of a friend. Because by the end of the picture, he hasn't got many, especially in the audience.

One of the most amazing stories (completely authentic) ever to come out of World War II is this story of a scheme designed to alter the whole course of the war and to save thousands of lives. So ingenious and daring was it that it required the express approval of Prime Minister Winston Churchill who gave the final orders for its implementation. The account was written by the Hon. Ewen Montague, one of England's leading lawyers who actually played a small role in the picture. It ensures you complete and absorbing entertainment. Very highly recommended.

Pinza Reported 'Much Better'

STAMFORD, Conn. (UP)—Operatic basso Ezio Pinza, who suffered another heart attack this week, was reported "much better" today.

Pinza was stricken for the third time in 11 months Tuesday at his home. His wife said "he's much better today and in good spirit." She said the seizure was not regarded as serious enough to warrant hospitalization.

Pinza, 64, suffered his first attack in Cervia, Italy, and the second last August at his home.

First-Grader Registration May 6 to 10

Registration of the 2,000 new grade one pupils expected to enter Greater Victoria schools for the first time in September will take place between May 6 and May 10.

School board officials announced today children should be taken by a parent or guardian to the elementary school nearest the home between 3 and 4 p.m.

Only those youngsters who will be six by Dec. 31 of this year will be accepted for enrolment. Proof of date of birth is required.

AUTOMATIC

Children who are already enrolled in kindergartens are not required to register for grade one as the advance is automatic.

Registrations for kindergartens in areas where these classes are available will take place at the same time. Parents must present proof that children entering kindergarten are five years of age by Dec. 31.

Kindergartens will be held this year at James Bay, North Ward, George Jay, Lampson, Oaklands and Sir James Douglas schools.

Later announcements will advise whether kindergartens now in operation at Doncaster, Glanford and Willows will be continued, but registrations will be accepted.

Lack of space for elementary school students is blamed for the possible discontinuance of these latter kindergartens.

Instructions regarding time and place for dental examinations for children entering grade 1 may be obtained at the time of registration.

Due to the concentration by health authorities on the Salk polio vaccine program, physical examinations will not be made in advance of first school attendance. Authorities will accept examination reports made by family doctors, provided the health department form is used. All local physicians have these forms.

'Urumpff, Urumpff' Goes Record As Disc Jockey Enjoys Long Sleep

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—An all-night radio disc jockey fell sound asleep at the post at 3.30 a.m. today and it took two policemen and a janitor to get the "Little Larry Buck Program" on Station KSPO back on the groove.

The song had ended but the scratching lingered on.

The police found the door of the station locked but rounded up a janitor who had a key.

"We walked in," officer David Dippell said, "and found the telephones ringing and record going 'round, urumpff, urumpff."

Head on his arms, Little Larry was out cold. They shook him awake and he explained a sleepy, 18-minute long-play number had done the job. By police request, he put on a peppier piece and the show resumed.

WIND INSTRUMENT

The ancient musical instrument, the sackbut, was an early form of the trombone.

Car Stolen—Piece by Piece

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—A thief has been stealing Jess White's automobile the hard way, piece by piece. White complained to police that someone stole all four wheels off his 1948 car Monday, the hood Tuesday and the radiator and grill Wednesday.

BRIDGE LESSON

By Oswald Jacoby

If you want to get the most out of today's article look at the bidding and at the East and North hands only. Then put yourself in the position of Dan Westerfield of Phoenix who was East and see if you can come up with the right defence.

Dan won his partner's opening lead of the deuce of diamonds with the king and looked over the dummy carefully. Four tricks would be necessary to defeat the contract and Dan expected to make three of them himself. The problem was to get a fourth out of his partner's hand.

Should West hold the king of spades, Dan noted that four tricks would almost surely be produced if he just sat pat and waited. West would get in with that king of spades and shift to a club and everything would be fine.

Dan also noted that his partner just could not have the king of spades. South had come in freely with a bid of two hearts on a suit headed by king-jack at best and the king of spades was the only other really high card that he wasn't looking at in his own hand or in dummy.

Once he had concluded that South held the king of spades Dan had no real problem left. The only way he could beat the hand would be to find his partner with the queen and jack of clubs. Accordingly Dan shifted to the six of clubs.

This play produced two club tricks for his side and beat the contract. Easy enough if you can see all the cards but a right tough play at the table.

EDDIE MACHEN FIGHTS JOEY MAXIM ON CHANNEL 4 AT 7

★ ★ ★

KENTUCKY DERBY SATURDAY AT 2.15 ON CHANNELS, 11, 12

By PHIL LEE, Times TV Editor

THE CASUALTIES—Have you ever stopped to think of the names and programs that you don't see on your TV screen any more?

We've been writing this column for the Times now for just a little more than two years. In terms of employment, writing a book, rearing a child, owning a home or even a car, this is relatively a short period of time—only a deep breath when measured against the allotted three score and ten span of man. Yet in the highly competitive world of TV it must be an eon.

Remember when Milton Berle owned television? Yet when was the last time you saw Uncle Milt in action? Then there was Red Buttons. And don't forget Pinky Lee. Once upon a time the masses were agog to see the latest instalment of such situational comedies as "Life With Elizabeth," "I Married Joan," "My Favorite Husband" and "Willie."

★ ★ ★

AND WHERE is William Boyd, TV's heroic Hopalong Cassidy? And what of veterans Jimmy Durante and Eddie Cantor? Remember all the jokes about "Medic" and Liberace? A million years ago Martha Raye laughed it up at regular intervals. And don't forget Donald O'Connor of the nimble feet and wry grin. And remember when Saturday night wasn't complete without Herb Shriner and his Two for the Money. And how about the Mickey Rooney show and Celeste Holm's "Honestly, Celeste."

Hardly seven months ago the new TV season started with a host of new shows. Already many of them are "dead," mowed down by heartless ratings. Gone is Walter (The Hat) Winchell, Edgar Bergen's Do You Trust Your Wife, Buddy Hackett's "Stanley," wonderful Johnny Carson (but not for long they promise), Wally Cox's "Hiram Holliday" and "The Big Surprise."

★ ★ ★

NEXT SEASON Robert Montgomery is expected to be among the missing. Arthur Godfrey is giving up his evening show. The cast of Your Hit Parade will be completely changed. Jeannie Carson is scheduled to get the umsba ushray and Emmy-winners Sid Caesar and George Gobel are losing their Saturday night slots. Even "Mr. Big" himself, Jackie Gleason, has been the target for the "firing squad."

Oh, and while we think of it, what ever has happened to Elvis the Pelvis?

NATIONAL MOTORS
IS NOTED FOR ITS GENEROUS TRADE-INS—EASY TERMS—"WRITTEN GUARANTEES"—

'56 MONARCH
Lucerne Sports 4-Door Sedan. Has the new, very low lines of the 57s. The smartest of all the models. Low mileage. Beautifully two-toned in buckskin tan and colonial white. Two-tone Vinyl and nylon matching upholstery. Interior immaculately kept. Turn signals, custom radio, custom heater - air - conditioner, electric clock. Famous Fordomatic transmission, twin fender mount mirrors, whitewall tires, good for thousands of carefree miles. Chrome wheel discs. Twin exhausts, backup lights. Powerful 225-horsepower Monarch V-8 engine in excellent condition. This car is a standout in any company, one you'll love to drive. New price over $4,600. With National's generous trade-in allowance and the low asking price, it's bound to go fast. Phone a salesman at home now and ask him to hold it till you see it. Only $3295

'55 PLYMOUTH
Belvedere 2-Door Hardtop. Very smart in black and seafoam green with matching two-tone upholstery in vinyl and nylon. The interior is immaculate. Modern turn signals. Rich tone custom radio with twin speakers. Custom heater-air conditioner. Tinted glare-resistant glass all round for restful driving. Powerflyte automatic transmission. Handsome whitewall tires. Twin spotlights and twin fog lights. Up-to-date V-8 engine in excellent condition. Fender skirts add to its '56 appearance. Imagine all this, plus National Motors' generous trade-in allowance. This car is a popular seller, so phone a salesman listed below now. Get your name on the top of the list. No obligation, of course $2195

'57 FORD
Four-Door Station Wagon. Here's a car built for the whole family to enjoy. Sportily styled in Dresden blue and colonial white. Matching two-tone Vinyl upholstery. Turn signals. Custom heater air-conditioner. Automatic transmission. Padded safety dash. Powered by the famous Ford V-8 engine, master of the highway. This is a one-owner car of very low mileage. Everything about it is in new condition. This car is worth $3,900. Because it's been driven a few miles, you can have it for only $3595

'57 FORD
Custom 4-Door Sedan. Low and sleekly styled in Bermuda blue. Harmonizing two-tone grey upholstery in long-wearing Vinyl rayon. Turn signals; custom heater air-conditioner. Tires, machinery, every detail about this car is in brand new condition. Powered by the much-talked-about 144 - horsepower 6-cylinder Ford engine. This is a very desirable low-mileage car. See it on the lot. Licence number is 46-738 $2695

'55 FORD
Custom 2-Door Sedan. First come, first served. We've had a lot of inquiries for this type of car. Well groomed in meadow mist green. Matching two-tone upholstery. This car has been beautifully cared for. Its interior is in lovely condition. Modern turn signals. Custom heater air-conditioner. Tires, motor good for many carefree miles. Enjoy the lovely days ahead. Phone or drop down right away $1795

'49 METEOR
Two-Door Sedan. Smart grey-green exterior. Harmonizing grey - blue upholstery. Turn signals. Custom radio. Custom heater air-conditioner. Good tires. Powerful V-8 engine, spotlight, dual carburetors. Licence No. 54-833. If this is your price range, see it immediately. Get in touch with a salesman listed below. Only $695

'53 METEOR
Four-Door Sedan. Here's a dandy car that's been further reduced $100 to sell immediately. Good looking in pineridge green. Matching custom upholstery in Vinyl. Interior in good condition. Automatic Fordomatic transmission. Tires are in very excellent condition. Powered by Ford's famous V-8 engine. Was $1,595. Further reduced, so act now $1495

'52 PLYMOUTH
Cambridge 2-Door Sedan. This is a car the whole family will enjoy. Nicely finished in sea mist blue with contrasting seat covers. You should see its excellently kept interior. You'll like the custom heater air-conditioner. Tires, everything about this car are good value. Its smooth six-cylinder motor is in excellent condition. Better go to the phone now and ask a salesman to hold it for you. Only $1195

'48 DE SOTO
Four - Door Sedan. In '48 this maroon car was the pride of the highway. Its luxury interior is in good shape. Complete with radio for happy driving. Custom heater air-conditioner. Automatic fluid-drive transmission. Lots of care-free driving in the tires. Worth making a special trip to see $695

CARROLL RIGHTER'S ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

SATURDAY, MAY 4, 1957

(Author of the new "Astrology and You")

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)—Fine for forgetting outside world and getting down to that work requiring attention at your domicile. Be sure you do not only fix utilities, plumbing, gadgets, repair, paint, paper, etc., but get relations with family more harmonious.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)—Shopping for supplies and doing important errands brings swift, beneficial results. Be sure you contact those usually unavailable and come to decision as to best course of action in future. Tonight, get out and have fun with jolly chums.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—Attend to all those money matters, find charm in color, design, art that you can add to your property. Then you will find you can increase your income, revenue by lopping off unnecessary expenses and being alert to new sources of supply.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21)—Your day now to decide what you want and to swiftly go after it. Decide early what your personal desires actually are, get all dressed up in your most charming apparel, then really go!

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)—Behind-the-scenes work of all kinds reveals the way and means by which you can decide what you are best fitted, adapted to doing. Make private arrangements with those in power to gain by presenting plans to them.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)—Now you have a chance to see those loyal and emotional friends who are so devoted to you that their loyalty is unquestioned. State your aims to them. Listen to their unusual and very different ideas from yours. Be off to attractive site tonight.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)—Look to those worldly decisions which are awaiting some action by you. Think out ways to gain more support from the general public, as well as those in authority. P.M. excellent for social and general prosperity, popularity. Amuse the boss.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—Get out of your own little niche into the wide, wide world of naw and enlightening ideas, viewpoints, methods that you can use in the future. Be generous with those who think different than you. You gain greatly therefrom.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—Lots of financial matters require your interested attention. This not only has to do with bills and collections, but some better way to make ends meet and increase your revenue. Tonight fine for having happy, romantic moments.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—Much conversation with all partners, especially those who are deliberate and who may seem to be long-winded, brings out some very fine suggestions that will improve your mutual understandings, alliance. P. M. reach agreement with all.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—Tackle that mountain of odds, ends, routine tasks awaiting your personal attention with enthusiasm and vitality. You get lots done and find wsat you had thought to be tedious has some amusing aspects connected therewith. Enjoy comrades.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)—Fine day for whatever has to do with personal charm, social prestige, dealing with youngsters, investigation, education or investments, living at a pleasant standard in entertainment, sports, recreation. Hove a good time. Be happy.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN SATURDAY . . .

Saturday's child is one of those very attractive youngsters who will yearn for affection, but who may seem to be pretty modest and retiring. So, in order to build up a feeling of security in your progeny's thoughts, you will have to give constand evidences of your unswerving devotion. This reasuures your timid youngster whose natural tenacity of character can then express itself and the innate charm, so powerful in the make-up, can have a real outer expression. Fine for dramatic or merchandising vocations.

SUNDAY, MAY 5, 1957

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)—Look to what your family feels to be the right means by which you can have greater accord at your dwelling as well as in outside matters. Their attitude and the spiritual studies of your choice bring peace, contentment now.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)—This is an excellent day for you to think out the ways you can round out all that is best and right for you. Services of your choice early help. Later you can get together with kin, neighbors, compatible comrades and have fun.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—Now you would be stop, look, listen to what your background and accumulated experiences of worthwhile nature, have brought you that is currently unsable. Later fine for looking at your assets, property and deciding how to increase.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21)—Now you have a day to be just as personal as you like. Get in touch with others and state to them exactly what you do want. Make sure you get your health in good shape by treatments found to bring higher realization. P.M. be very, very social.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)—Get busy and investigate whatever may have been obscure, oblique, confusing to you ere this, but which you want straightened out in your own mind. Studies of a lofty nature are excellent. Then exude charm to those who are depressed, lonely.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)—Think out today, especially a.m. at spiritual studies, just what your hopes and wishes actually are. Don't be so critical of yourself. Be kind to others as well and you can learn a great deal right now. Don't make such a slavery of the petty.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)—You are usually so busily engrossed in your own little world of delightful action that you forget to see how the rest lives. Be worldly in your standpoints after early gaining backing of those who know what they're talking about. Impress boss.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—Wonderful day for you first to listen to spirirual advisor who is high-minded and who answers questions of depth, penetration. Then off to new sites, and/or with newcomers to gain better systems, etc., under which to operate. Be open-minded.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—You have unusually accurate hunch and prophetic insight today into all of those odd conditions which have been occurring. Now Now you can understand them if you are quiet for a while. Later you can sensibly schedule the coming week.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—Listen with more attention to understand what others have to say instead of trying to constantly work all those angles all the time. You'll get further, and much more quickly. Get together with all partners, opponents and make deals.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—You can find ways to have greater harmony with co-workers and usual associates today. You also are able to look about you to see just how you are operating. And you see clearly ways to be more efficient. Blueprint where you are headed.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)—This is your day to really enjoy yourself. Make a point early, and throughout the day, to tell your close comrades, and special attachment, just how much you appreciate them and value their friendship, affection. Then burdens lift.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN SUNDAY . . .

Sunday's child is one of those charming youngsters who will have a powerful imagination and a strong liking for romance, mystery and adventure. Be sure you early teach that only what one earns by his or her own efforts is truly enjoyed and appreciated. Otherwise, you can show that life becomes stale. Fine for work in connection with public commodities, or whatever requires ingenuity and imagination, plus a considerable amount of emotional fervor. But don't let child hand on to mother's apron strings.

CCF Wants Chance to Do It Itself

OTTAWA (CP)—The CCF would like a chance to do it itself.

That in essence was the radio-television speech Thursday night by CCF Leader M. J. Coldwell as he joined the three other national party leaders in their bid for the June 10 federal election.

"We, as a political movement, take pride in the contribution we have made in pressuring reluctant governments to enact progressive social welfare measures," he said. But the CCF party was not satisfied with the few steps taken so far.

Canada's great wealth would not be shared by all Canadians "as long as we have governments dedicated to the serving of specially-privileged groups."

(A Winnipeg CCF whip Stanley Knowles told a Winnipeg meeting his party will make an increase in old age pensions to $75 from $46 monthly a major issue. The CCF also would ask that the federal treasury pay 80 per cent of health costs, not 50 per cent as on the national hospital insurance scheme offered by the Liberals.)

In a speech at Central Butte, Sask., CCF Leader Coldwell says his party is convinced that no agricultural policy is acceptable to the CCF unless it assures farm income at full parity with the rest of the Canadian economy.

The socialist leader outlined a 10-point agricultural program which included parity prices for farmers, national marketing boards where requested by producers, cash advances on farm-stored grain, a board of livestock commissioner, more credit for farmers, and revision of Canadian trade policies.

He advocated an agricultural parity board to take over from the present agricultural prices support board, and thus cover all commodities.

600 Refugees Due to Leave Abbotsford

Overcrowding To Be Alleviated

VANCOUVER (CP) — Director of immigration Charles Smith Thursday set plans in motion to remove "at least 600 immigrants from the Hungarian refugee camp at Abbotsford within the next 10 days."

Mr. Smith said "he hoped to reduce the Abbotsford camp from 1,160 immigrants to 1,000." Camp capacity was described as being 1,000.

Mr. Smith made plans for immediate relief of the camp by transferring 80 immigrants from Abbotsford, 45 miles east of here, to Vancouver Thursday night. He said the immigrants would be integrated in jobs and homes in the Vancouver area.

Commenting on conditions in the camp he said: "It is one of the best camps I have seen. There is definite over-crowding but morale, hygiene and feeding facilities are more than satisfactory."

Mr. Smith said a plan is in process that will see the camp population cut by 280 by the weekend. He said these 280 would be integrated throughout the province.

He said the department "was considering the possibility of a general dispersal which may or may not be out of the province."

Discussing the reason for overcrowding he said, "We naturally have an immigration schedule that is planned at least six months in advance."

He said the plan broke down because "the domestic economic situation was not as was anticipated."

Mr. Smith said he felt this situation was temporary and the plan would soon be functioning smoothly.

The 80 immigrants transferred to Vancouver will be accommodated temporarily in the Immigration Building and double bunks were put in to meet the surplus.

Mr. Smith said the biggest difficulty at the camp was the infringement of education facilities caused by the surplus. Classrooms were converted to dormitories to meet the emergency.

He said "even though there is no threat to the health or happiness of the immigrants the cramped conditions provide a situation that must be speedily remedied" and that Vancouver immigration officials had been working 16 hours a day for 10 days to relieve the situation.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Rev. N. J. Southcott of St. Chad's Anglican Church said Thursday that hundreds of food parcels collected for Hungarian relief in Austria are lying in the crypt of his church here because "the Canadian Red Cross isn't interested."

Col. C. C. Scott, B.C. Red Cross commissioner, when told of the supplies, said: "It is regrettable that the Red Cross has not been advised on that."

SILVER HILL MINES LTD. (N.P.L.)
TO THE DEBENTURE-HOLDERS

Notice is hereby given that a meeting of the holders of Silver Hill Mines Ltd. (N.P.L.) NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Sealed tenders for the construction of thirteen portable buildings 35'x10' to Forest Service design will be received by the undersigned up to 2 p.m. Pacific Daylight Time, May 30th, 1957, and opened in public at that time.

Plans and specifications may be obtained from the District Forester at Vancouver, B.C., or the undersigned upon a deposit of $5.00 refundable upon return of plans and specifications in good condition within thirty days of the opening of tenders. The deposit of the successful tenderer will not be returned.

Tenders will not be considered unless made out on the form supplied and signed, and a deposit of 10% of the tender is enclosed, payable to the order of the Minister of Finance for British Columbia, which shall be forfeited if the tenderer declines to enter into the contract when called upon to do so. Cheques of the unsuccessful tenderers will be returned when the contract is awarded.

No tender shall be considered having any qualifying clauses whatsoever, and the lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

SIMPLE, DIRECT TALKS TO CHILDREN

'Uncle Louis' Uses Influence To Get Holiday for Students

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent

VANCOUVER—It was a day of sunshine and mountain—a day spent riding a comfortable train through the Rockies and chatting with the children at various stops along the lines.

It was a day that saw Prime Minister St. Laurent, sometimes known affectionately as "Uncle Louis", doing one of the things he likes best—that of speaking to groups of the younger generation in a kindly, grandfatherly manner, that charms the youngsters and delights their parents.

That was the way Canada's prime minister spent Thursday as he moved from Alberta's Calgary to British Columbia's Vancouver. At Banff, Field, Golden and other stops along the Canadian Pacific scenic route there were children waiting eagerly to catch a glimpse of their prime minister.

SIMPLE TALK

The children were the object of Mr. St. Laurent's attention. To each group he talked simply and directly. To some he explained the way in which Canada's system of government operated, how he and his colleagues had to obtain the approval of Parliament for what they were doing and how in turn Parliament had to obtain the approval of the people.

Others heard a simple talk on the tremendous resources of Canada. He would gesture towards a towering range of mountains and tell of the minerals and other resources to be found in this country. At Golden he talked about uranium and the atomic bomb in simple terms.

Obviously he enjoyed meeting the boys and girls. The pleasure was not the pose of a poltician but a sincere reaction which Mr. St. Laurent, who is a father, grandfather and great grandfather, experiences when he is surrounded by young Canadians.

And at each centre he explained that while the federal government had not control over the provincial education authorities, nevertheless, he would enquire of the teachers to see if a holiday could be granted.

A short consultation and he declared a holiday to the accompaniment of cheers.

One nine-year-old boy at Field tugged at the jacket of the prime minister's private secretary.

"What is the prime minister's address in Ottawa," he whispered as Mr. St. Laurent declared a school holiday.

The address was provided. But why was it wanted? "Oh, I want to write him to declare another holiday. I don't like school," the youngster explained.

COME LONG WAY

Mr. St. Laurent has come a long way since the eight years ago when he embarked upon his first cross-Canada tour as prime minister.

Then he was a man trained in the law who had not had to do much campaigning to be elected in his home province of Quebec. He was ill-at-ease and out of his element as he launched that first whistle stop campaign.

His speeches at the outset were legalistic and dull. Liberals in the west were worried. They were afraid the impression that the Quebec corporation lawyer left with election audiences might not be too favorable.

He spoke at Edmonton first in 1945. The audience was uninspired. The following day there was a whistle stop at Edson, Alberta. Mr. St. Laurent emerged from his private car and prepared to deliver another stodgy legalistic address. But the crowd was made up largely of children. Obviously this was no place for the speech he had prepared.

BETTER REACTION

Then his experience as a father and family man came to his aid. Tucking his notes into his pocket the prime minister talked simply and directly just as he talked to his own children and grandchildren.

The reaction not only among the youngsters, but among the adults in the crowd was excellent.

Mr. St. Laurent relaxed. He had found himself as a politician on the hustings. Newspapermen listening to the new fatherly approach in Mr. St. Laurent's campaigning dubbed him "Uncle Louis," and the nickname stuck, became a term of affection that the Liberals have found to their liking.

The same approach to political campaigning is serving the prime minister well on this his third election tour.

Labor Shortage Pinch Felt

DUNCAN — Labor shortages are being felt in the Cowichan area, and applications on file at the Duncan office of the National Employment Service are dropping steadily, according to R. S. Robinson, office manager.

The construction industry is finding a shortage of tradesmen, skilled personnel in other industries are scarce, and both skilled and unskilled loggers are hard to find.

Earlier resumption of work because of favorable weather and heavy construction work available, have accentuated the shortage, Mr. Robinson said.

Sawmills are in full production, construction is going ahead without delay at the B.C. Forest Products pulp mill at Crofton, and many laborers are working on the pulp mill pipe line from Cowichan River to Crofton.

Northern Construction Company and J. W. Stewart Ltd. has hired more workers at Bare Point, near Chemainus, where the B.C. Power Commission is building a 100,000-horsepower thermal generating unit.

Retail trade has shown a definite improvement, and banks, real estate, and insurance firms have reported a good volume of business. Housing of all types remains scarce, Mr. Robinson said.

ASSESSORS' ENTRY RIGHT CHALLENGED

PORT ALBERNI—A resident can deny an assessor entry to his home if he wishes, Ald. W. C. Hamilton told city council this week.

Six government assessors are here to reassess improvements. It was pointed out that they would have proper identification, and that the Assessment Act permits them to enter any house during "reasonable" hours.

"Ten acts would not give the assessor the right of entry against the wishes of the owner," he said. "Mr. Black (municipal affairs minister) is not all the law."

Wenner-Gren Monorail Accepted In Sao Paula; Experts Opposed

SAO PAULA, Brazil (Reuters)—Disregarding the advice of the Brazilian Institute of Engineers that the Alweg plan for a rapid transit system is not suitable for Sao Paulo, the municipal transport company has authorized the signature of a contract with the German firm owned by Axel Wenner-Gren for construction of a metropolitan monorail network.

The plan calls for the building of 101 kilometres (just over 60 miles) of underground, surface and overhead lines at a cost estimated at 20,000,000,000 cruzeiros ($295,000,000).

This action was taken the day after a special commission of engineers, set up at the request of the transport company to study the plan, made public its report stating that Sao Paulo does not need a rapid transit system until 1965 and that there is no need to start constructing one before 1961.

The commission also strongly advised against the adoption of the system of the Alweg Corporation of Cologne, West Germany. This corporation's bid won the call for tenders in competition with Societe Generale de Traction et Exploitations (France) and Pacific Consultants KK (Japan).

The principal reasons given by the engineers for the decisions included in their report were:

1. The "precarious" financial position of both the city and the municipal transport company.

2. The absence of an immediate need for such a costly and extensive system of public transport.

3. Insufficient planning and foresight.

4. Not enough time allowed in calling for tenders for construction.

Referring to the haste being displayed by city officials and the transport company for completion of a rapid transit system, the commission stressed the physical impossibility of opening, rapidly, the right-of-way for the initial lines.

CANADIANS GOING NORTH

New B.C. Mining Law Seen Aiding Alaska

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP)—The Territorial Department of Mines says Alaska already has benefited "to a certain extent" by two laws passed recently in British Columbia.

The department, in its May bulletin, describes the two laws as "detrimental" to the future of mining in the province.

"B.C.'s loss is, to a certain extent, Alaska's gain," the bulletin says, "and this condition will improve (for Alaska) as time goes on."

The TDM Bulletin, a monthly report mailed throughout the territory, said two Canadian companies already have visited Juneau "to look further into Alaskan opportunities." It says the two mining firms "have dropped Canadian projects where possible and intend to increase their Alaskan program."

The department predicts: "More undoubtedly will follow."

One of the new British Columbia laws cited by the bulletin as an aid to Alaska mining development provides for taxing ore reserves while still in the ground, at a rate up to 10 per cent annually of the ore's net value.

"As this tax applies only to producing properties," the bulletin claims, "it can readily be seen that it will discourage new deposits from being put into production and discourage the development of ore reserves. This law is intended at present to apply only to iron deposits, but it could be easily extended to include other minerals in the future."

The second law, the department says, prevents a mining company or a prospector from obtaining title to claims "regardless of how much time or money has been spent in their development."

The bulletin says the law "gives great discretionary power to the B.C. department of mines to control the activities of prospectors and mining companies in developing ore deposits, and creates uncertainty as to security of rights."

Record Civic Budget Exceeds $7.5 Million

Aldermen Start Cutting to Avert 4½-Mill Tax Hike

By PETE LOUDON

A record $7,596,550 budget, bulging with new projects and new inescapable costs, was presented to city council this morning.

It calls for a 4½-mill tax increase, setting the provisional mill rate at 49 mills. (See also Page 8).

Council dug into it immediately, hoping to pare it close to the 1956 tax level by the middle of next week.

Daily meetings and perhaps some evening sessions will be held as aldermen struggle to reduce expenditures.

$4.50 a Thousand

As it stands, the budget indicates a tax increase of $4.50 for every $1,000 of taxable property assessment on Victoria homes and businesses.

The $600,000 boost in cost of running the city is mainly due to six major items—wages, increased school costs, the first of five annual contributions to the cost of a new wing at Royal Jubilee Hospital, the city's share of the B.C. Electric underground wiring project, traffic improvements recommended in the Faustman report and lost revenue due to cancellation last January of road and poll taxes.

Up to Council

City comptroller Dennis A. Young told council his estimates include normal running expenses and estimated costs of ". . . certain special undertakings in respect of which you as aldermen must determine the policy."

He said the mill rate increase for general and debt purposes was provisionally set at 4.31 and the increase in the mill rate for school purposes was .19.

He pointed out 33.97 mills are required for city purposes while 15.03 mills—almost one-third of the total necessary revenue—is required to meet Victoria's share of district school costs.

Misleading

He said the school rate increase of .19 mills over 1956 is misleading.

"The reason for the comparatively minor school rate increase is in part the result of recent legislation requiring utility companies to pay school taxes from which they were previously exempt.

"To offset this added cost to the companies concerned, the same legislation reduced from 2 per cent to 1 per cent, the required payment in lieu of general property taxes.

"This has the effect of shifting the incidence of taxation from schools to general purposes and in effect, cost the city $46,085, or slightly more than half a mill."

This meant, he said, that only 3¾ mills of the overall increase, actually is due to civic costs.

Of the 3¾ mills, 2¾ is due to special undertakings which are indicated as the first target of the council budget-cutting attack.

Reductions

Reductions will be sought in a $74,300 item for new street construction, $38,400 for new public works equipment, $60,100 for new traffic signals, $61,428 for expansion of the sanitation and waste removal program, and requests for civic grants totalling $36,515.

Council is unable to reduce the $100,000 increase in city wages nor the $66,000 increase in school costs (including lost

COST-OF-LIVING INDEX HITS RECORD 120.9

OTTAWA (BUP)—The cost-of-living index rose from 120.5 March 1 to a record 120.9 April 1, the Bureau of Statistics reported today.

The new peak is 3.7 per cent above the April, 1956, level of 116.6.

Food index climbed .3 per cent with higher prices for fresh vegetables, sugar, bread, chocolate bars and beef. Prices for potatoes, tea, coffee, eggs, bananas and pork were lower.

$5,000 Prize For Sasquatch

Directors of British Columbia's Centennial Committee will pay $5,000 for the first genuine Sasquatch found anywhere in the province during the Centennial year of 1958.

The announcement was made today by L. J. Wallace, chairman of the committee, following a meeting of the directors in Cranbrook.

At the same time, Mr. Wallace announced the board had rejected the submission of Harrison's Centennial Committee to have a Sasquatch hunt approved as the committee's permanent Centennial project.

NOT PERMANENT

"We feel that a Sasquatch hunt can hardly be classified as a permanent project within the terms under which grants are made for this purpose," said Mr. Wallace.

"Since there is considerable debate over just where the Sasquatch are to be found in B.C., we feel any search should not be localized in a specific area so the committee's offer of a reward will cover the finding of a Sasquatch anywhere in B.C. The only stipulation is that the board of directors must be satisfied as to the authenticity of the find and the discovery must be made between Jan.1 and Dec. 31 of 1958."

OPENS B.C. TOUR

PM Pooh-Poohs East's Socreds

(Special to the Times)

VANCOUVER — Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent arrived in Vancouver this morning, greeted by the skirl of bagpipes and a crowd of 500 persons at the railway station.

The prime minister told welcomers that he was feeling in "top form" and was looking forward to his meeting in Georgia Auditorium tonight and Victoria's Royal Theatre Saturday night.

Later, he said the Social Credit party is not being taken "seriously" in Eastern Canada.

That, he maintained, is why Social Credit Leader Solon Low has cut down his speaking engagements in the East to just one in Ottawa.

Liberals gave their party chieftain a rousing welcome at the CPR station, where he received gifts from both the Chinese and East Indian elements of Vancouver's population.

Defence Minister Campney and Fisheries Minister Sinclair met him at his railway car. Two pipers led the prime minister up to the station concourse.

Carolynne Chang, 6, got a kiss from the prime minister when she presented him with a doll, a present from Vancouver's Chinese community.

Dolly Gurdas, 18, gave him a garland of carnations, a gift from the Canadian East Indian Welfare Association.

As Mr. St. Laurent opened his tour of the city he visited the new $13,000,000, seven-storey post ofice.

The prime minister told newsmen that the federal government was quite willing to help the development of Columbia power resources if the provincial authorities were willing to do their own part.

ADDRESSES WORKERS

Later, at the post office, he donned a construction workers' white helmet and spoke to about 200 of the workmen through amplifiers.

Mr. St. Laurent then drove in a 20-car motorcade to Shaughnessy Military Hospital where he was given a warm reception by hospital officials, staff and patients.

He went into the hospital auditorium and made a short speech.

He held high hope that the great powers of the world would not use their "terrible weapons" because of "mutual fear or respect" for destruction capabilities.

PM WELCOMED BY BENNETT; NO MEETING

Premier W. A. C. Bennett today welcomed Prime Minister St. Laurent to British Columbia, but said he had no plans to meet him.

"I have had no notice that he will be calling," the premier said.

Asked if he would go to hear Mr. St. Laurent speak at the Royal Theatre Saturday night, Mr. Bennett replied that "the business of the province" would keep him away.

U.S. General Supplied File In Norman Case

TORONTO (CP) — A Baltimore dispatch to a newspaper here says Maj.-Gen. Charles A. Willoughby of the United States Army has acknowledged that he supplied security reports on the late E. H. Norman, Canadian ambassador to Egypt, to congressional committees investigating communism.

The story says Gen. Willoughby, chief of intelligence to Gen. MacArthur during the Allied occupation of Japan, said in an interview Thursday night that the reports were among two lockers of papers he made available to the committee upon his return from Japan.

It adds that the papers were also available to congressional investigation prior to that time through executive agencies of the government.

Norman committed suicide in Cairo April 4, following testimony before a United States Senate subcommittee linking him with communism. He was chief of the Canadian liaison mission to Gen. MacArthur from 1946 to 1950.

'DADDY . . . DADDY . . . THERE'S DADDY!'

Excited welcome for daddy, CPO G. I. Miller, was screamed by three-year-old Leann from arms of Mrs. Miller, as cruiser Ontario returned after four-month training cruise with frigates Jonquiere, Stettler. About 2,500 relatives were at Dockyard, Naden, for welcome home. (See Page 17.)

'CLEANER BY HIS FALL'

U.K. Papers Scorn McCarthy Memory

(From Times News Services)

LONDON — The death of Senator Joseph McCarthy has renewed in European newspapers much of the long-dormant passions that once surged around his name.

Nearly all British papers gave the story prominent frontpage play, along with bitter editorials of "McCarthyism."

Typical of British comment is an editorial in the Liberal News Chronicle: "He built a monstrous myth and made millions believe it but like a fool he overplayed it and destroyed both the myth and himself. America was the cleaner by his fall, and is cleaner by his death."

In France, all papers referred to McCarthy as "the witch hunter."

The word "inquisition" was used in the London Conservative paper, The Daily Telegraph. Austrian papers announced the death with such headlines as "Snooper Senator McCarthy Dies."

Other British comment:

Daily Herald (Labor): "He used his position to hound men whose only crime was love of freedom of thought."

The habitually restrained and impartial British Broadcasting Corporation called McCarthy's anti-red policy a facet which President Eisenhower allowed to die of its own rottenness and that in the long run Eisenhower's policy proved effective.

The BBC broadcast read, in part, "McCarthy . . . alleged that there were 205 communists in working in the state department. He was never able to substantiate, yet some of the mud stuck. After President Eisenhower's election, he intensified the witch hunt, extending it to the universities and even to the armed forces. The activities became of increasing embarrassment to the administration but in the long run President Eisenhower's policy of allowing the thing to die of its own rottenness proved effective."

PRAYER FOR TODAY

Dear God, save us from the blindness which hid from Jesus' contemporaries the fact of His divine Sonship. May we never be unaware that Christ walks each day with His people. We open our hearts wide for His triumphal entry; in the Saviour's name. Amen.

Bennett Unruffled By Alaska's Claim

(See Page 29)

An Alaska government report which says new mining legislation is detrimental to the industry in B.C. was branded as "propaganda" today by Premier Bennett.

The premier used the phrase after reporters told him about the report, which states that Alaska is benefitting from the legislation by companies leaving B.C.

Mr. Bennett said he had not read the newspaper account of the report put out by the territorial department of mines. He went into a cabinet meeting without commenting further.

It was learned, meanwhile, that B.C. mining activity has slumped since the new legislation was unveiled earlier this year.

CLAIMS DOWN

The slump is also reflected in the number of mining claims staked by prospectors and mining companies.

In the first three months of this year there were 3,008, compared with 7,836 in the same period of 1956.

The drop was most noticeable in the month of March when only 950 claims were staked, compared with 3,387 in March last year.

A record number of 26,232 claims were staked in the province during 1956 and it doesn't appear that figure will be approached this year.

UNHELPFUL TO CAUSE OF PEACE

Churchill Criticizes UN For Actions in Suez Crisis

LONDON (CP) — Sir Winston Churchill, in one of his rare public speeches, today criticized the United Nations for its stand on the Anglo - French invasion of Egypt last autumn.

The 82-year-old elder statesman told the Primrose League that "I do not think that the attitude then adopted by the United Nations has been helpful either to the free world or to the cause of peace and prosperity in the Middle East."

The Primrose League is primarily made up of Conservative party supporters. Churchill is its grand master.

His speech today in Royal Albert Hall was his first public address in a year.

The former prime minister said Britain and the Conservative party owe gratitude to Sir Anthony Eden for a lifetime of work upon the causes they all served.

"Indeed, those who at home and abroad attacked the resolute action which, in company with our French allies, he took last autumn may now perhaps have reason to reconsider their opinions.

"I do not think that the attitude then adopted by the United Nations has been helpful either to the free world or to the cause of peace and prosperity in the Middle East.

"However, that cannot be helped. Events have moved on since those days and we must not be discouraged from continuing to take our full share of leadership in world affairs."

Churchill said the burden has fallen on the new prime minister, Harold Macmillan, who would "devote himself wholeheartedly and with imaginative vigor to the well-being of the country." He ended his speech with these words:

"In the keen international race before us the prizes will go to the nation which has the highest skill of brain and hand. Where we are behind, we must catch up; where we lead we must stay ahead.

"But man does not live by bread alone. Our aim must be men and women not only skilled and diligent in earning a living, but having access to those deep wells in which lie the secrets of the future.

"The world around us is changing fast. For good or ill, new and disturbing powers are falling into the hands of mankind.

"We must hope that man's wisdom will match his widening knowledge."

HIGH TIME UNTIL EARLY MORN

Winnie 'Comes Out' With Granddaughter

By STERLING SLAPPEY

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill had a high old time until at least 1.20 this morning at his granddaughter's coming-out dinner dance.

The 82-year-old soldier-politician - orator - author - historian-war strategist-race horse owner-novelist - artist - farmer - newspaper man-elder statesman went to Claridge's to see Edwina Sandys, 17-year-old eldest daughter of Defence Minister Duncan Sandys and the former Diana Churchill, launched into society.

"This is most enjoyable — I haven't been to a dance for such a long time," said Sir Winston. Edwina is Churchill's first grandchild to bow to society.

Several near-rock 'n' roll numbers were played, but the general beat was of the waltz and fox trot.

Sir Winston, meanwhile, is making no secret of what he thinks of his latest portrait, hanging in the Royal Academy's summer exhibition. He is much annoyed.

The painting, by Ruskin Spear, shows his bald head bent toward a microphone, glasses sliding down his nose and his mouth open and twisted to one side.

Churchill let it be known at the academy banquet the other night that he didn't like what he saw.

Spear said: "What I did was paint a sound. You might say, I imagined Churchill saying 'N-a-r-z-i'.."

CBC Approves CHEK-TV Share Transfer

(BUP and CP Dispatches)

OTTAWA—Approval of transfer of 21 shares in Victoria TV station CHEK for $80,000 from C. R. White to William Rea Jr., formerly of New Westminster, was recommended today by the CBC board of governors.

In making the application at Ottawa Wednesday, Mr. White, an American, said he had invested $50,000 in the station last fall.

Application of Ellison Queale to operate a new daytime radio station of 1,000 watts in Saanich was deferred, pending study of the service and programming of existing stations in the Greater Victoria area.

The board recommended approval of Victoria Station CKDA'S application for a power boost from 5,000 to 10,000 watts and a change of frequency from 1280 to 1220.

However, it recommended denial of a power boost to 10,000 watts from 1,000 for radio station CHUB, Nanaimo, because it would mean fuller coverage in the Vancouver area.

If recommended deferment of Port Alberni radio station CJAV's application for an increase from 250 to 1,000 watts day, 500 watts night and a change of frequency to 730.

Maritimes Swing Toward Tories PC Chief Claims

By ALAN DONNELLY, Canadian Press Staff Writer

AMHERST, N.S. (CP)—John Diefenbaker heads into New Brunswick on the last leg of his one-week Maritime tour today. He said here that the Liberals are "giving us supporting evidence" of a swing toward the Conservatives in the Maritimes.

Thursday night, in a speech to about 800 people in this town of 10,300 he said a "strictly confidential" document by the Liberals reports that: "There are significant shifts in the Atlantic provinces and the West. In the Atlantic provinces there is a clear trend favoring the Progressive Conservative party."

He said the document was issued several weeks ago by H. E. Kidd, secretary of the National Liberal Federation of Canada.

Mr. Diefenbaker toured Cumberland constituency Thursday and talked to survivors of the Springhill mine explosion. At one stop he chatted briefly with Works Minister Winters, also campaigning in the area. At night Mr. Diefenbaker climbed on the stage with Premier R. L. Stanfield, who has spoken with him on three nights.

STREWING PROMISES

Mr. Diefenbaker said Liberal cabinet ministers are "strewing promises" across the country. Last Tuesday the prime minister had "indirectly promised" a 400-mile railroad in Alberta.

A spring blizzard was swirling through Nova Scotia as Mr. Diefenbaker toured. In Springhill he heard the story of the explosion that took 39 lives last year. He said he wanted to go underground to see the workings but that it couldn't be arranged.

The three Maritime provinces, where the Opposition leader is spending this week, have 26 seats in Parliament, the Progressive Conservatives held six at dissolution; four in New Brunswick, and one each in Prince Edward Island and Nova Scotia.

Mr. Diefenbaker travels next week in Quebec and Ontario and a week later heads west.

ON THE HUSTINGS

Two-Bite Win Would Satisfy Roads Minister

Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi says Social Credit can give Canada "the dynamic leadership it lacks."

"I'm not disturbed if we don't win the election this time," Mr. Gaglardi told a North Vancouver meeting. "If we don't take Ottawa in one bite we certainly will in two."

Howard Green, veteran Conservative member of Parliament, was named without opposition Thursday night to try for his sixth consecutive election in Vancouver Quadra.

Mr. Green said the Conservative tide across Canada is proof that the Canadian people are desperate for a new government.

The Liberal government is "no longer sensitive to public opinion," he said. "Parliament is ruled by C. D. Howe, not by Mr. St. Laurent."

Former CCF leader in B.C., Harold Winch, will speak at the CCF Douglas Street Hall tonight.

A dinner at 7 will precede the speech by the MP in the last Parliament for Vancouver East.

Dr. J. M. Thomas, CCF candidate in Esquimalt-Saanich, said Thursday night Canada's great wealth is not being used constructively for the wellbeing of the people.

Taxation policies and expenditures of the Liberal government rob the people of much that should be available for social services, he said.

"The CCF is the only party that presents a real alternative economic policy to that of the other three parties."

. . . BUDGET

revenue from utility companies).

It is committed to a grant of $25,000 this year and each year until $125,000 has been paid, to Royal Jubilee Hospital's proposed new wing.

It is committed to an outlay of $37,500 this year for the underground wiring project and council must replace the lost road and poll tax revenue of $35,000.

Business Tax

When all possible tax cuts have been made consideration will be given to increasing revenues through the business tax approved Thursday. The amount to be raised will be set before council decides its final mill rate.

Comptroller Young estimated a healthy approach to the budget would be to decide to hold special undertakings this year to about $72,000.

"I have stated to previous councils, in a healthy, vigorous community such as Victoria is at the present time, the additional tax revenues from new construction and consequent increased revenues from other sources should, under normal conditions, be sufficient to meet the need for increased services, and in spite of increased costs.

Wage Boosts

"Such a situation prevails today. Without increasing the general mill rate levied in 1956, increased revenues are sufficient to meet the total of $7,174,457—normal operating requirements of the city, in spite of an approximate $100,000 wage increase, and still provide $72,827 for special undertakings, including grants, etc."

Highlights

Here are other highlights of the budget:

It includes allotments for public works which would see Dominion Road re-surfaced from Esquimalt to Wilson, Arm from Craigflower to Selkirk, Douglas from Superior to Dallas, St. Charles at the Rockland intersection, Chatham from Government to Store, and sections of Chambers, Shelbourne and Grant.

New equipment proposed includes two pick-ups, one tractor digger, two crummies, one street sweeper, one tractor loader, one hydraulic elevator, one dump truck.

Traffic signals are proposed for the Fountain Circle ($30,300), Bay Street (at Blanshard, Quadra, Cook and Fernwood), Hillside at Blanshard and Cook, Douglas at Burnside and Topaz.

Flood Measures

There is a vote of $30,000 for anti-flooding precautions and improvements to Bowker Creek and $20,000 for improved drainage in Fairfield.

Twenty-six organizations have asked city grants, one of the largest requests coming from Community Chest ($13,100 as against $2,000 given last year).

Tax revenue based on the 49-mill rate would total $4,060,131 as compared to $3,540,007 last year's tax revenue.

The budget shows an estimated revenue of $300,0000 this year from trade licences. This is expected to be dropped, to be substituted with business tax revenue.

One of the best boosts in civic revenues this year comes as a result of changes in the system of federal grants in lieu of taxes. The federal government is expected to pay the city $154,900 as compared to a grant of $73,327 in 1956.

Low's 14-Point Program Features Pension Boost, Lower Loan Rates

OTTAWA (CP)—Social Credit leader Solon Low proposed a 14-point program Thursday night which, he said, will bring prosperity, happiness and security to Canadians.

In a radio and TV broadcast, Mr. Low said his party's program is the only effective alternative to the policies of the Liberal and Progressive Conservative parties.

The Conservatives were appealing to the people to unseat the Liberal administration but had no effective alternative policies to offer.

"I see no sense in jumping out of the frying pan into the fire," he said. "And, if the only choice the Canadian people have is to be shot, or to be boiled in oil, there isn't much to look forward to, is there?"

Mr. Low, in Edmonton Thursday night, said in the broadcast that the Social Credit party, if elected June 10, proposes the immediate introduction of these measures:

1. A federal old-age pension of $60 a month with provision for splitting with the provinces the cost of a supplementary $40, making for an over-all pension of $100.

The Liberal government has announced a $6 increase in the current $40 old-age pension, effective July 1. The CCF is advocating a $75 pension. The Conservatives, while saying the $6 increase is too small, have not campaigned on a specific figure.

2. Financial policies to balance purchasing power with production.

3. A national health insurance program.

4. Reduced taxation to match revenues with carefully planned and controlled expenditures.

5. Low-interest mortgage funds to every Canadian family wanting a home.

6. A two-price system for wheat barter deals and acceptance of local currencies in export sales of farm surpluses.

7. Low-interest loans for small businesses and farms.

8. Federal assistance for construction of arterial highways.

9. A new foreign policy "based on the highest moral principles and the broadest human sympathies and understanding" including Anglo-Canadian-American solidarity.

10. Elimination of inefficiency and waste in defence policy.

11. Senate reform.

12. A co-ordinated program of selective immigration to overcome a shortage of people in the expanding economy.

13. A vigorous, well-conceived policy of northern development.

14. A national transferable pension plan for workers.

Boston Crackdown On Cabaret Vice

BOSTON (AP)—Owners of 25 Boston night spots were ordered Thursday by the Boston licensing board to clean up vice and other illegal conditions or face "punitive action." The action was taken after the armed forces disciplinary control board placed 10 more downtown entertainment places out of bounds to servicemen because of prostitution, illegal sales of liquor or poor health conditions. Ten others previously had been placed "off limits."

Grandma Jailed; Threw Paperweight

NEW YORK (AP)—A 58-year-old grandmother who threw a paperweight and other odds and ends at her grandson's public school teacher was sentenced Thursday to 10 days in jail. Justice Benjamin Gassman told Mrs. Annabell Britton that "this should teach you and others to have respect for the teachers and the schools." The disturbance developed from an argument over the grandson's conduct.

Picketing Resumes at Gaspe Mines

MURDOCHVILLE, Que. (CP) —Picketing resumed today for the first time in more than a week at the main gate of the Gaspe Copper Mines here.

Five pickets, members of the United Steelworkers of America (CLC), took up posts near the gate. The workers have been on strike since March 11.

Lieut. Gerard Timlin, in charge of the 110-man provincial police detail in the area, gave permission Thursday for picketing to resume. It was stopped April 25 when police enforced a company-obtained injunction.

One thousand workers walked out March 11, three days after the company dismissed the union's local president. Two hundred workers subsequently left the area to seek jobs elsewhere.

Store Closing Issue Passed to Councils

The provincial government has passed the ball to municipal councils in the question of early closing for corner grocery stores.

"I'd suggest that the proprietors of these stores should go direct to their own council for the latter's consideration and action if the council deems such a step is advisable," Municipal Affairs Minister Wesley Black said Thursday.

The minister said that under provisions of the new Municipal Act, which takes effect July 1, corner stores will be able to sell "the bulk of the commodities" sold at present after normal closing hours.

FORCED OUT

A number of small independent store owners have complained they will be forced out of business by regulations in the act which make 6 p.m. closing mandatory unless city or municipal councils pass special by-laws.

Said Mr. Black:

"While corner stores as such are not designated in the act, and for that matter it would be difficult to do so, nevertheless if the council so wishes they may permit shops to sell fresh fruits, fresh vegetables, soft drinks, dairy products, bakery products, cut flowers, florest products and confectionery at any time."

Basic wording of the new act is the same as the old, Mr. Black said.

AUSSIE WORKERS STRIKE AGAINST INCENTIVE PAY

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters)—More than 150 truck drivers struck today because their employers insisted on giving them too much money—incentive payments which they said they do not want.

The drivers have posted pickets to prevent anyone taking their jobs at wages which include the incentive payments averaging about £2 a week. Six months ago the men accepted on a trial basis the incentive payments plan, based on speed on handling loads.

The rush for extra money brought disregard of traffic regulations and squabbling among drivers eager to get loads away quickly.

So the men decided unanimously they would not tolerate the incentive pay any longer and when their recent pay envelopes still included the extra "speed" money, they decided to strike.

Farm Incomes Show Gain in '56

OTTAWA (CP)—Cash income of farmers from the sale of their products totalled about $2,662,100,000 in 1956, an upward revision of about $6,200,000 from last January's preliminary estimate.

The bureau of statistics said yesterday the estimate is about 13 per cent higher than the revised figure of $2,357,100,000 in 1955, but still below the all-time record of $2,849,300,000 in 1952.

Higher returns were reported in all provinces, ranging from a 1 per cent increase in Ontario to a 40 per cent jump in Saskatchewan.

Cash income from wheat, Saskatchewan's largest single source of farm income, rose to $460,000,000 from $329,500,000. Marketings of oats and barley rose to $150,000,000 last year from $98,000,000 the previous year, and flaxseed sales increased to $62,000,000 from $40,500,000.

U.S. Governors Back Canadian Gas Pipeline

CHICAGO (UP) — Governors W. G. Stratton of Illinois and Vernon W. Thomson of Wisconsin have urged federal approval of a Canadian pipeline to serve the two states with natural gas.

Thomson said the governors would press for federal authorization of a Canadian pipeline running from Calgary through Wisconsin and into northern Illinois.

"The approval must come within the next six months or the cost of this gas will rise above what we first contracted for," Thomson said. The federal power commission will conduct a May 4 hearing in Washington on the question.

Golds Pace Advance On Toronto Exchange

Finance 1-F —K230 —Golds

Golds led a slight advance today on the Toronto Stock Exchange. Trading was light.

McIntyre was the leader among golds with a rise of 1½ points to 96. O'Brien was up 17 cents at 79 cents.

The market at New York backed away slightly after penetrating the barrier of its 1957 high. Leading stocks were ahead from fractions to a point or more but there were plenty of losers. Rails paced the advance. Oils were mostly lower.

AT TORONTO International Nickel was off ½ at 107. Uraniums were mixed to higher with Pronto the leader with a 30-cent climb at $7.70. Algoma Steel was the top industrial, up 3½ at 135. Utilities were strong.

Western oils were lightly traded and moved in a narrow margin.

AT NEW YORK rising Canadian stocks included McIntyre, ahead 2⅜, International Nickel ⅜, Dome Mines ¼ and Aluminium Ltd. ⅛. Off were Distillers-Seagrams, down ¼, Canadian Pacific ⅛ and Hudson Bay ⅛.

Gaining Canadian issues on the American exchange included Brazilian Traction and Sapphire Petroleums, up ⅛ and 1/16 respectively. Losing were Preston East Dome, off ⅜, Canadian Marconi and Shawinigan, ⅛ each, Fargo Oil, Richwell Petroleum and Molybdenite of Canada, 1/16 each.

AT MONTREAL industrials today were irregularly stronger in moderate trading on the stock exchange.

AT LONDON the stock market was bright today with continued demand for industrial equities.

Guest Keen advanced sharply and other leading engineerings improved. Textiles, electrical and stores were in demand. Hudson Bay was easier.

Leading oils were firm and dollar stocks improved.

AT VANCOUVER trading was slow with prices slightly higher. Canaam Copper sold 9,500 at 35. Vantor moved 15,200 between $2.39 and $2.50. Skeena Copper traded 4,500 at 12.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP) — Prices were somewhat irregular today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange as overseas business continued light.

Only business reported in Canadian coarse grains were parcel lots of flax to the Continent. Trade reports also disclosed that France had made purchases of Canadian wheat and Malta had taken a cargo.

Flax trade was moderately active, with evidence of export buying in the May while offerings were light. Selling, which included hedges and U.S. offerings, appeared in the deferred months. Prices were fairly steady.

Oats and barley were irregular and generally easier. New seasonal lows were recorded in both grains during the session. Buying was domestic in connection with feed requirements. Rye was irregular, with buying attributed to U.S. accounts.

Lakehead prices for class two, IWA and domestic wheat were unchanged except for the durums which dropped one-eighth cent.

RCN SHIPS BACK HOME AFTER 4 MONTHS, 18,000 MILES, 7 PORTS

Warm welcome home for 1,000 officers, men and cadets of RCN Pacific Command was extended by relatives and friends at HMC Dockyard and HMCS Naden today when three ships returned after four-month training cruise to Far East and mid-Pacific ports. At Naden, nearly 2,000 crowded jetty as HMCS Ontario drew alongside; at Dockyard, HMC ships Jonquiere and Stettler were greeted by 600. At far right, WREN Margaret McRae helps HMCS Venture Mascot Buffer pick out his returning friends among the cadets trainees. The three ships steamed 18,000 miles, visited Hawaii, Guam, Manila, Singapore, Okinawa, Yokohama, Hong Kong. Cadets received sea training in all branches; 550 men passed tests to qualify them for promotions. Unique feature of voyage was sea-going exhibit of Canadian art, seen by hundreds who visited ships while in port. British Consulate at Hong Kong arranged for special showing in art gallery there. MONTE ROBERTS

I see where the authorities have passed a law against dandelions.

This is a fact, and you can look it up; the government of the Province of British Columbia, through the due processes of constitutional authority and the powers invested therein by the electorate of this province, has produced an order-in-council which states that, forthwith and hereinafter, the dandelion shall be a noxious weed.

This holds true whether the dandelion is called a dandelion or Taraxacum spp. Zinn.

Under this order-in-council, the dandelion moves into the select company of such as couch grass, redroot and Russian thistle, and its name and number will appear in the Noxious Weed Act.

Which, friends, is where you and I come in.

Under the Noxious Weed Act, any landlord caught harboring noxious weeds (of which there is a list approximately three miles long) can be ordered by an Agriculture Department inspector to destroy them.

I am not clear about what penalties will be levied against the landowner who fails to destroy the dandelions in his garden.

Possibly he will be ordered to mow his lawn twice a day, and no power mowers allowed.

In any event, you can be sure the penalties will be severe.

I presume the Department of Agriculture, with this new noxious weed on its list, will soon hire an additional army of inspectors to track down the nefarious dandelions.

There are so many dandelions, it would take at least an army, and possibly a navy and air force as well, to find all the landowners who are breaking the law by having dandelions on the premises.

But, knowing governmental ways, I am sure sufficient manpower will be forthcoming, and I, for one, am prepared to find an inspector peering through my hedge at any moment.

And when he peers through my hedge, he will see enough dandelions to ensure me of at least a life sentence.

It is not that I do not wish to respect the law of the land.

It is not that I do not understand the new law.

It is just that nobody has told the dandelions about it.

Don't bother with the handcuffs, inspector, I'll go quietly.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

As the result of a typographical error, the Times reported Thursday in a survey of the B.C. oil and natural gas industry that there are only 14 natural gas wells in the province. The figure should have been 104.

One of Esquimalt's oldest residences, built by W. Fitzherbert Bullen in 1889, is being torn down this week.

"Oakdene" at 923 Esquimalt Road has been vacant since July of 1956 when Mrs. Bullen died at the age of 93. A granddaughter of Sir James Douglas, she went to the home shortly after her marriage.

The late Mr. Bullen was owner of B.C. Marine Ways, now Yarrows Ltd.

Rock 'n' Roll Teenager Gets 30 Days

Girl on Probation In Police Attack

Victoria juveniles Barbara Joan Winterburn, 16, and Douglas Brian Grover, 17, were sentenced in city police court today for assaulting a police officer at a rock 'n' roll dance April 13 in Memorial Arena.

Grover was given 30 days in Oakalla Prison, and Miss Winterburn placed on 12 months' probation and $500 bond for good behaviour.

In his judgment, Magistrate H. C. Hall gave consideration to the youth of both offenders, but insisted:

"This conduct must stop."

The pair were charged with assaulting Const. Norman Galbraith, a plainclothesman, as he placed another teen-ager, Timothy Rogers, under arrest for obstructing an officer.

"There is no question that each of you did assault Const. Galbraith," said Magistrate Hall. "You, Joan Winterburn, kicked him. You, Douglas Grover, struck him on the floor of Memorial Arena.

JUMPED OFFICER

"Not only that, after you, (Grover) had been removed from the Arena, you returned and jumped on Galbraith.

"The question is whether you knew Const. Galbraith was a police officer . . . engaged in the arrest of Timothy Rogers. He was not in uniform, but while he was arresting Rogers, you, Joan Winterburn, were in the immediate vicinity . . .

"According to the evidence, Const. Galbraith said . . .'I'm a police officer. Now behave yourself.' He said this in a loud voice . . . This was confirmed by Const. Wells, also engaged in the execution of his duty.

"Winterburn, you are only 16 years of age. It was altogether improper conduct on your part, but I don't feel disposed to send you to Oakalla."

New City Priest to Sing First High Mass on Sunday

Rev. Bernard Hanley, 27, ordained last Sunday at St. Andrew's Cathedral by Most Rev. James M. Hill, Bishop of Victoria, will sing his first Solemn High Mass Sunday at 10.30 a.m. at Sacred Heart Church, Palmer Road.

Born in Saskatoon, Fr. Hanley has lived in Victoria since 1934, and was educated at St. Ann's Academy and St. Louis College prior to studying at the Seminary of Christ the King in Mission City.

He is the second of six brothers to enter the priesthood, Rev. Philip Hanley having been ordained six years ago. This is the first instance in Victoria of two members of the same family becoming priests.

SISTERS TOO

Two of his three sisters have chosen religious vocations, Sister Mary Constance being at Apple Valley, Calif., and Margaret set to take her vows at Santa Barbara in July.

Fr. Philip Hanley will be deacon at his brother's first mass, and sub-deacon will be Rev. M. J. O'Connell. Rev. G. Planeta will be assistant at the service, and Rev. Lewis MacLellan will give the sermon.

A reception for Fr. Hanley will be held at Lake Hill Hall Sunday at 3 p.m.

Fr. Hanley is the son of Mrs. D. P. Hanley, 4025 Borden. His father died in 1945.

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court today:

Charles Gray McKinnon, RCN, $25 for driving without a licence.

Dallas Gordon Greig, 630 Langford, previously fined, and Gerald S. Adamus, 614 Niagara, also previously fined, each given two-month licence suspension except for business purposes, for careless driving.

WEATHER OUTLOOK UPWARD

Saturday will be sunny with cloudy periods, and there is an "even chance" that Sunday will be fine, weatherman William Mackie said today.

"A high-pressure area sitting over the northwest is fending off storms approaching from the ocean," he said. "One storm already near the northern coast of B.C. will give cloud Saturday, and we hope the high-pressure area will be strong enough to divert storms Sunday."

No rain is expected for either Saturday or Sunday, and temperatures will range from 48 degrees tonight to 60 degress Saturday.

Fine of $100 For Running Bingo Game

Bingo game operator Mrs. Audrey Jorgenson, 5151 Cordova Bay, was fined $100 in city police court today on a charge of operating a common gaming house.

Charge was laid after a police raid on premises of Victoria Whist and Bridge Club, in the basement of Westholme Hotel, 1417 Government, last month.

Nominal penalty was imposed on the basis of a submission by the defence that Mrs. Jorgenson was a paid employee of the club. This was substantiated by a probation report.

"It would appear by the probation report when you receive a salary you are not interested in the business otherwise," Magistrate H. C. Hall said.

"Under those circumstances you will be fined $100 or in default, 30 days."

Sunshine Camp Dining Hall Ready Soon

Addition to the dining hall at the "Sunshine Camp" at Saseenos will be finished before the two-month camping season opens June 24, director W. A. Scoones said today.

Construction has been undertaken by volunteer workmen from the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, local 1598.

The seven 10-day camping periods have been allotted to old aged pensioners, members of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, handicapped persons and pre-teenage girls. Three family camps also will be included.

'Gore' Meeting Tuesday Night

A meeting of Shelbourne and Mt. Tolmie district residents has been called for next Tuesday at 8 p.m. in Richmond CCF Hall to decide action on Peace Memorial Gore, at Shelbourne and Cedar Hill Cross Road.

A group of interested citizens, led by A. E. Horner, 1729 Kisber, who are sponsoring the meeting, want Saanich council to dedicate the entire pie-shaped piece of land as a memorial park.

Saanich has set a $15,000 price tag on a sliver of the property and is prepared to dedicate the rest.

Gun-Point Robbery At Nanaimo Hotel

Island Search Under Way For Pair Who Got $600

An Island-wide search was under way by RCMP today for two men who held up a Nanaimo hotel employee at gunpoint early this morning, and escaped with about $600 in bills.

Police in Nanaimo today would say only they were "working on the case," but it was understood at least one suspect was questioned in regard to the robbery.

Thomas Rhodes, 49, of Northfield, night janitor at the Newcastle Hotel, near the hub city's Civic Arena, said he was cleaning up the lobby of the hotel at 3.40 a.m. when "two men barged in and said they wanted money."

DISGUISED

"While one man stayed at the door in the lobby, the other, wearing funny dark glasses and a false nose, held a short, stubby revolver on me. It was about .38 calibre," Rhodes said.

He pushed Rhodes into the back bar and took the money from behind the till. It is understood they escaped in an old model station wagon that had been parked opposite the hotel, and had headed north.

DESCRIPTIONS

The armed man was described as being six feet tall, weighing 185 pounds, and wearing a suit jacket. He was from 30 to 40 years of age. His companion, also between 30 and 40, was about five feet, seven inches in height, and was wearing a fawn-colored windbreaker.

Owners of the hotel are Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Clark, and manager is Walter Scarsbrook. Rhodes was the only staff member on duty at the time of the hold-up.

CANADIAN COMMITTEE of the International Press Institute, meeting in Toronto, Thursday, re-elected Victoria Daily Times publisher J. Stuart Keate as chairman. G. V. Ferguson, Montreal Star, is vice-chairman. Institute is an association dedicated to the principle that understanding among journalists leads to understanding among peoples.

Victoria-East Group Formed

Formation of a Victoria East Community Association for civic betterment and to assist in organization of healthful children's activities was announced here today.

First president is Hugh Hollingworth, 1501 Haultain.

The group already includes 25 residents and is calling for new members from the area bounded roughly by Cook, Hillside, Richmond and Pandora.

"The organization is concerned primarily with provision of parks and playgrounds for children in our own area. But we hope to take an active part in other city affairs affecting our homes and taxes," said Mr. Hollingworth today.

First organizational meeting was Wednesday night. The group will meet again at a date to be announced in early June and is hopeful of obtaining a church hall in the area for regular meetings.

The new ratepayers' group was formed originally by Bay Street neighbors in 1952 and prevailed on the city to open the Bay Street playground near Oregon Street.

Members provided $200 toward the project. Seven city lots were dedicated as a park. It is now hoped residents in the area near Forbes, Denman, Gladstone and Victor will join the association and work toward a similar development in a city-owned field bounded by those streets.

Formation of a Scout and Cub group is also under consideration.

Prospective members should contact the secretary, Mrs. Norman Harlan, at 4-7745.

Jaycees Ready For 90,000 At Big Fair

Plans were completed today for the opening at the Memorial Arena Monday of the largest annual Victoria Industrial and Agricultural Exhibition, expected to attract over 90,000 visitors next week.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the exhibition, announced that the one-week fair will feature over 100 exhibits — more than any previous year.

In addition, a midway and agricultural section will be the largest since the inauguration of the exhibition 11 years ago.

RINK TOO

Some of the exhibits will be shown at the Victoria Curling Rink.

The exhibits of the agricultural section, to include 80 head of cattle and 200 rabbits of all types, will be housed in a large tent at the rear of the arena.

The exhibition will be thrown open to the public at 6 p.m. and officially opened by Public Works Minister W. N. Chant at 7.30.

QUEEN BALLOT

A special attraction of the week-long fair will be the selection by popular ballot of May Queen.

Contestants for the May Queen are sponsored by city clubs and organizations. They are Annlyn Florence, Sue Pearson, Francis Merriman, Grace Chew, Jean Roberts, Lucy Tomczyk, Rose Welder and Marlene Woyce.

Winner of the Queen contest will receive an all-expense paid trip to Honolulu.

The contestants will appear nightly at the exhibition and will participate in fashion shows.

NEW PRODUCTS

The exhibits will include all types of merchandise and manufactured goods, as well as new products.

Here are some of the exhibits visitors will see:

An arts and craft show featuring the works of accomplished Victoria artists, as well as a display of metal and wood work and coins.

The latest army equipment, and a new field piece, exhibited by the 5 Medium Battery.

The wood carvings of K. Neilson, who has won province-wide recognition for his carvings in British Columbia.

A display of stripped cars by the Quarter-Milers' Club.

New farm equipment and plastic materials.

The Motor Vehicles Branch will also set up its reaction equipment for road testing. Visitors will be able to test their driving reaction with the equipment.

A table television set will be given each night as a door prize.

The main prize of the exhibition will be a 1957 Dodge hardtop.

Toronto Firm To Examine BCPC Methods

A Toronto firm of management consultants, J. D. Woods & Gordon Ltd., has been hired to examine the business methods of the B.C. Power Commission.

The survey will be aimed at cutting costs and increasing efficiency, Lee Briggs, commission general manager, said today.

"In a fast-growing organization, it is essential that methods of operation be examined periodically to see where they can be improved or simplified," Mr. Briggs said.

"In our case we are handling public money, which we believe must be safeguarded not only through continuous outside audit, but also by occasional critical examinations into the efficiency of our whole business organization."

ASK The TIMES

Q. Upon returning to Victoria after several years I was surprised to see that a schoolhouse had been built on the old Langford Speedway. Does auto racing still flourish in Victoria? And if so, where? —C.C.

A. Auto racing is no longer held at the old Langford Speedway, but the Western Speedway is operating on Millstream Road.

Sweet Hothouse Tomatoes To Brighten Meal Times

By PENNY SAVER

Something that has been missing from the produce markets has returned—the dessert tomato. These sweet, small tomatoes are wonderful for decorating your salads or for nibbling with a touch of salt. Sandwiches, crisp with lettuce are good tasting, too. Right now, the first shipment of these hothouse tomatoes cost 33 cents a half pound. No. 1 hothouse tomatoes are 38 cents a half pound. Imported Mexican toms are 29 cents a package.

New arrivals, and welcome ones, are new potatoes with light colored skins, fresh and tasty. These are 25 cents for three pounds. A perfect complement for these new potatoes are fresh green peas, yours at two pounds for 45 cents.

For a dash of color, here are fresh, new carrots at two bunches for a quarter, and cauliflower at 25 cents a head.

Broccoli is going down, and is 19 cents a pound, while spinach is 19 cents.

Asparagus is tender and appealing at 29 cents a bunch, and green beans are 39 cents a pound. White turnips are two bunches for 39 cents, and beets, two bunches for 45 cents.

In the salad-making department, here are radishes and onions, both selling at two bunches for 19 cents, and lettuce, 17 cents a head. Cucumbers are two pounds for 35 cents, and seedless cukes are 35 cents each. Romain and endive are 20 cents each and celery 25 cents a stalk.

Strawberries still have a place of honor in the fruit displays. Sweet smelling and rich tasting, the berries are 39 cents a box. Rhubarb, vying with the strawberries for the most colorful section, costs 29 cents for two pounds. Bananas are two pounds for 29 cents, and a bag of Winesap apples costs 59 cents. A taste treat are coconuts, selling at 29 cents.

"I flunked the driving test . . . the man said I operated the horn very well but needed a little more practice on the rest."

Rooms Decorated — At last meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to Royal Jubilee Hospital, with Mrs. P. E. Corby presiding, it was announced that case rooms in the maternity wing had been decorated; new drapes provided and screens and bedside tables installed by the auxiliary. It was decided to provide three wheelchairs and a Stryker frame for orthopedic cases for the hospital.

$50 For Education—At a recent meeting of Major John Hebden Gillespie Chapter, IODE, $50 was voted to help bring a doctor from India or Pakistan for further education and study. Mrs. P. W. Bell presided and the evening rummage sale realized $75. First vice-regent, Miss Joan French was named delegate to the national convention in Vancouver with the standard bearer, Mrs. Arthur Laundy. It was decided to hold a luncheon at the home of Mrs. R. H. Spilsbury, 2995 Uplands Road on May 9 from 12 to 2.

Junior Auxiliary Sponsors Showing

"Cruise In The Sun" is the theme chosen for an informal showing of summertime sports, day and evening wear to be presented in Eaton's Victoria Room, next Friday and Saturday afternoons at 3 p.m., under the auspices of the Junior Auxiliary to the Royal Jubilee Hospital. There will be shorts, swimsuits, separates, dresses for daytime, dining and dancing—all meant for fun anywhere "under the sun". Models will be Ina Harford, Times Fashion editor Nona Damaske, Pat Olson, Jan Joslin, Helen Beirness, Judy Greenfield and for the tiny tads, Linda Miller and Leslie Beatty. Tickets may be obtained from any member of the auxiliary or on Eaton's fashion floor.

Old Japanese Prints Attract

Ten colorful Japanese prints add a spicy, Oriental touch to the Georgian living room of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Cameron, 2021 Runnymede Avenue.

Collector's items, the prints date from late 18th century to early 19th century, and show the Japanese in many phases of oriental life and culture.

Mrs. Cameron thinks the prints will be of special interest to those who visit her home, May 11, on the annual house tour, sponsored by the Women's Committee to the Greater Victoria Art Gallery.

Artistic combination of pale chartreuse, lacquer red, yellow and cocoa tones makes the Cameron living room visually pleasing. It is the perfect setting for the Japanese prints.

Walls of the room are the pale chartreuse and the matching ceiling is molded in gold leaf design.

The main lighting fixture is a chandelier . . . a sparkling waterfall of crystal drops.

On Etiquette

May a 14-year-old sister be maid of honor?

My sister, who has just turned fourteen, would like to be maid of honor at my wedding next September. Everyone but her and my mother think that she is too young. She is my only sister and, of course, I want her as one of my attendants. What should I do?

Louise Davis answers:

Have your sister as junior bridesmaid, for she is too young to be maid of honor. She shouldn't even be classed as bridesmaid for the same reason. Your maid of honor should be someone your own age, preferably your closest friend.

About wording and addressing announcements:

As my daughter's wedding will be very small, I will be issuing announcements just after she is married. I am divorced. Should my name appear as Mrs. Helen S. Dixon or Mrs. Helen Smith Dixon? In sending announcements to three sisters living in the same house (one is a widow and the other two are single), should they be sent to each, or should I send one to the widow and one to the two sisters, addressing the outer envelope to the older sister and putting the other names on the inside?

Louise Davis answers:

Of the two names, I prefer Mrs. Helen Smith Dixon. Ordinarily adults in a family get separate announcements, but with three sisters living in the same house, I would be inclined to defy the custom by addressing the outside envelope with the three names, such as: Mrs. Lester Ellis, Miss Mary Gordon, Miss Elizabeth Gordon, writing one name under the other. The three names should be repeated in the same way on the inside envelope.

RECORD $7.5 MILLION BUDGET FOR VICTORIA

4½-Mill Tax Hike Looms; Aldermen Start Slashing

By PETE LOUDON

A record $7,596,550 budget, bulging with new projects and new inescapable costs, was presented to city council this morning.

It calls for a 4½-mill tax increase, setting the provisional mill rate at 49 mills. (See also Page 8).

Council dug into it immediately, hoping to pare it close to the 1956 tax level by the middle of next week.

Initial paring this afternoon knocked $46,000 from the budget—about half a mill. Public works and parks estimates were first to feel the pinch.

Daily meetings and perhaps some evening sessions will be held as aldermen struggle to reduce expenditures.

$4.50 a Thousand

As it stands, the budget indicates a tax increase of $4.50 for every $1,000 of taxable property assessment on Victoria homes and businesses.

The $600,000 boost in cost of running the city is mainly due to six major items—wages, increased school costs, the first of five annual contributions to the cost of a new wing at Royal Jubilee Hospital, the city's share of the B.C. Electric underground wiring project, traffic improvements recommended in the Faustman report and lost revenue due to cancellation last January of road and poll taxes.

Up to Council

City comptroller Dennis A. Young told council his estimates include normal running expenses and estimated costs of ". . . certain special undertakings in respect of which you as aldermen must determine the policy."

He said the mill rate increase for general and debt purposes was provisionally set at 4.31 and the increase in the mill rate for school purposes was .19.

He pointed out 33.97 mills are required for city purposes while 15.03 mills—almost one-third of the total necessary revenue—is required to meet Victoria's share of district school costs.

He said the school rate increase of .19 mills over 1956 is misleading.

"The reason for the comparatively minor school rate increase is in part the result of recent legislation requiring utility companies to pay school taxes from which they were previously exempt.

"To offset this added cost to the companies concerned, the same legislation reduced from 2 per cent to 1 per cent, the required payment in lieu of general property taxes.

"This has the effect of shifting the incidence of taxation from schools to general purposes and in effect, cost the city $46,085, or slightly more than half a mill."

This meant, he said, that only 3¾ mills of the overall increase, actually is due to civic costs.

Of the 3¾ mills, 2¾ is due to special undertakings which are indicated as the first target of the council budget-cutting attack.

Reductions will be sought in a $74,300 item for new street construction, $38,400 for new public works equipment, $60,100 for new traffic signals, $61,428 for expansion of the sanitation and waste removal program, and requests for civic grants totalling $36,515.

Council is unable to reduce the $100,000 increase in city wages nor the $66,000 increase in school costs (including lost

COST-OF-LIVING INDEX HITS RECORD 120.9

OTTAWA (BUP)—The cost-of-living index rose from 120.5 March 1 to a record 120.9 April 1, the Bureau of Statistics reported today.

The new peak is 3.7 per cent above the April, 1956, level of 116.6.

Food index climbed .3 per cent with higher prices for fresh vegetables, sugar, bread, chocolate bars and beef. Prices for potatoes, tea, coffee, eggs, bananas and pork were lower.

$5,000 Prize For Sasquatch

Directors of British Columbia's Centennial Committee will pay $5,000 for the first genuine Sasquatch found anywhere in the province during the Centennial year of 1958.

The announcement was made today by L. J. Wallace, chairman of the committee, following a meeting of the directors in Cranbrook.

At the same time, Mr. Wallace announced the board had rejected the submission of Harrison's Centennial Committee to have a Sasquatch hunt approved as the committee's permanent Centennial project.

"We feel that a Sasquatch hunt can hardly be classified as a permanent project within the terms under which grants are made for this purpose," said Mr. Wallace.

"Since there is considerable debate over just where the Sasquatch are to be found in B.C., we feel any search should not be localized in a specific area so the committee's offer of a reward will cover the finding of a Sasquatch anywhere in B.C. The only stipulation is that the board of directors must be satisfied as to the authenticity of the find and the discovery must be made between Jan.1 and Dec. 31 of 1958."

'CLEANER BY HIS FALL'

U.K. Papers Scorn McCarthy Memory

(See obituary, Page 3)

(From Times News Services)

LONDON — The death of Senator Joseph McCarthy has renewed in European newspapers much of the long-dormant passions that once surged around his name.

Nearly all British papers gave the story prominent frontpage play, along with bitter editorials of "McCarthyism."

Typical of British comment is an editorial in the Liberal News Chronicle: "He built a monstrous myth and made millions believe it but like a fool he overplayed it and destroyed both the myth and himself. America was the cleaner by his fall, and is cleaner by his death."

In France, all papers referred to McCarthy as "the witch hunter."

The word "inquisition" was used in the London Conservative paper, The Daily Telegraph. Austrian papers announced the death with such headlines as "Snooper Senator McCarthy Dies."

Other British comment:

Daily Herald (Labor): "He used his position to hound men whose only crime was love of freedom of thought."

The habitually restrained and impartial British Broadcasting Corporation called McCarthy's anti-red policy a facet which President Eisenhower allowed to die of its own rottenness and that in the long run Eisenhower's policy proved effective.

The BBC broadcast read, in part, "McCarthy . . . alleged that there were 205 communists in working in the state department. He was never able to substantiate, yet some of the mud stuck. After President Eisenhower's election, he intensified the witch hunt, extending it to the universities and even to the armed forces. The activities became of increasing embarrassment to the administration but in the long run President Eisenhower's policy of allowing the thing to die of its own rottenness proved effective."

PM Pooh-Poohs East's Socreds

(Special to the Times)

VANCOUVER — Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent arrived in Vancouver this morning, greeted by the skirl of bagpipes and a crowd of 500 persons at the railway station.

The prime minister told welcomers that he was feeling in "top form" and was looking forward to his meeting in Georgia Auditorium tonight and Victoria's Royal Theatre Saturday night.

Later, he said the Social Credit party is not being taken "seriously" in Eastern Canada.

That, he maintained, is why Social Credit Leader Solon Low has cut down his speaking engagements in the East to just one in Ottawa.

Liberals gave their party chieftain a rousing welcome at the CPR station, where he received gifts from both the Chinese and East Indian elements of Vancouver's population.

Defence Minister Campney and Fisheries Minister Sinclair met him at his railway car. Two pipers led the prime minister up to the station concourse.

Carolynne Chang, 6, got a kiss from the prime minister when she presented him with a doll, a present from Vancouver's Chinese community.

Dolly Gurdas, 18, gave him a garland of carnations, a gift from the Canadian East Indian Welfare Association.

As Mr. St. Laurent opened his tour of the city he visited the new $13,000,000, seven-storey post ofice.

The prime minister told newsmen that the federal government was quite willing to help the development of Columbia power resources if the provincial authorities were willing to do their own part.

UNHELPFUL TO CAUSE OF PEACE

Churchill Criticizes UN For Actions in Suez Crisis

LONDON (CP) — Sir Winston Churchill, in one of his rare public speeches, today criticized the United Nations for its stand on the Anglo - French invasion of Egypt last autumn.

The 82-year-old elder statesman told the Primrose League that "I do not think that the attitude then adopted by the United Nations has beek helpful either to the free world or to the cause of peace and prosperity in the Middle East."

The Primrose League is primarily made up of Conservative party supporters. Churchill is its grand master.

His speech today in Royal Albert Hall was his first public address in a year.

The former prime minister said Britain and the Conservative party owe gratitude to Sir Anthony Eden for a lifetime of work upon the causes they all served.

"Indeed, those who at home and abroad attacked the resolute action which, in company with our French allies, he took last autumn may now perhaps have reason to reconsider their opinions.

"I do not think that the attitude then adopted by the United Nations has been helpful either to the free world or to the cause of peace and prosperity in the Middle East.

"However, that cannot be helped. Events have moved on since those days and we must not be discouraged from continuing to take our full share of leadership in world affairs."

Churchill said the burden has fallen on the new prime minister, Harold Macmillan, who would "devote himself wholeheartedly and with imaginative vigor to the well-being of the country." He ended, his speech with these words:

"In the keen international race before us the prizes will go to the nation which has the highest skill of brain and hand. Where we are behind, we must catch up; where we lead we must stay ahead.

"But man does not live by bread alone. Our aim must be men and women not only skilled and diligent in earning a living, but having access to those deep wells in which lie the secrets of the future.

"The world around us is changing fast. For good or ill, new and disturbing powers are falling into the hands of mankind.

"We must hope that man's wisdom will match his widening knowledge."

Maritimes Swing Toward Tories PC Chief Claims

By ALAN DONNELLY, Canadian Press Staff Writer

AMHERST, N.S. (CP)—John Diefenbaker heads into New Brunswick on the last leg of his one-week Maritime tour today. He said here that the Liberals are "giving us supporting evidence" of a swing toward the Conservatives in the Maritimes.

Thursday night, in a speech to about 800 people in this town of 10,300 he said a "strictly confidential" document by the Liberals reports that: "There are significant shifts in the Atlantic provinces and the West. In the Atlantic provinces there is a clear trend favoring the Progressive Conservative party."

He said the document was issued several weeks ago by H. E. Kidd, secretary of the National Liberal Federation of Canada.

Mr. Diefenbaker toured Cumberland constituency Thursday and talked to survivors of the Springhill mine explosion. At one stop he chatted briefly with Works Minister Winters, also campaigning in the area. At night Mr. Diefenbaker climbed on the stage with Premier R. L. Stanfield, who has spoken with him on three nights.

STREWING PROMISES

Mr. Diefenbaker said Liberal cabinet ministers are "strewing promises" across the country. Last Tuesday the prime minister had "indirectly promised" a 400-mile railroad in Alberta.

A spring blizzard was swirling through Nova Scotia as Mr. Diefenbaker toured. In Springhill he heard the story of the explosion that took 39 lives last year. He said he wanted to go underground to see the workings but that it couldn't be arranged.

The three Maritime provinces, where the Opposition leader is spending this week, have 26 seats in Parliament, the Progressive Conservatives held six at dissolution; four in New Brunswick, and one each in Prince Edward Island and Nova Scotia.

Mr. Diefenbaker travels next week in Quebec and Ontario and a week later heads west.

ON THE HUSTINGS

Two-Bite Win Would Satisfy Roads Minister

Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi says Social Credit can give Canada "the dynamic leadership it lacks."

"I'm not disturbed if we don't win the election this time," Mr. Gaglardi told a North Vancouver meeting. "If we don't take Ottawa in one bite we certainly will in two."

Howard Green, veteran Conservative member of Parliament, was named without opposition Thursday night to try for his sixth consecutive election in Vancouver Quadra.

Mr. Green said the Conservative tide across Canada is proof that the Canadian people are desperate for a new government.

The Liberal government is "no longer sensitive to public opinion," he said. "Parliament is ruled by C. D. Howe, not by Mr. St. Laurent."

Former CCF leader in B.C., Harold Winch, will speak at the CCF Douglas Street Hall tonight.

A dinner at 7 will precede the speech by the MP in the last Parliament for Vancouver East.

Dr. J. M. Thomas, CCF candidate in Esquimalt-Saanich, said Thursday night Canada's great wealth is not being used constructively for the wellbeing of the people.

Taxation policies and expenditures of the Liberal government rob the people of much that should be available for social services, he said.

"The CCF is the only party that presents a real alternative economic policy to that of the other three parties."

. . . BUDGET

revenue from utility companies).

It is committed to a grant of $25,000 this year and each year until $125,000 has been paid, to Royal Jubilee Hospital's proposed new wing.

It is committed to an outlay of $37,500 this year for the underground wiring project and council must replace the lost road and poll tax revenue of $35,000.

Business Tax

When all possible tax cuts have been made consideration will be given to increasing revenues through the business tax approved Thursday. The amount to be raised will be set before council decides its final mill rate.

Comptroller Young estimated a healthy approach to the budget would be to decide to hold special undertakings this year to about $72,000.

"I have stated to previous councils; in a healthy, vigorous community such as Victoria is at the present time, the additional tax revenues from new construction and consequent increased revenues from other sources should, under normal conditions, be sufficient to meet the need for increased services, and in spite of increased costs.

Wage Boosts

"Such a situation prevails today. Without increasing the general mill rate levied in 1956, increased revenues are sufficient to meet the total of $7,174,457—normal operating requirements of the city, in spite of an approximate $100,000 wage increase, and still provide $72,827 for special undertakings, including grants, etc."

Highlights

Here are other highlights of the budget:

It includes allotments for public works which would see Dominion Road re-surfaced from Esquimalt to Wilson, Arm from Craigflower to Selkirk, Douglas from Superior to Dallas, St. Charles at the Rockland intersection, Chatham from Government to Store, and sections of Chambers, Shelbourne and Grant.

New equipment proposed includes two pick-ups, one tractor digger, two crummies, one street sweeper, one tractor loader, one hydraulic elevator, one dump truck.

Traffic signals are proposed for the Fountain Circle ($30,300), Bay Street (at Blanshard, Quadra, Cook and Fernwood), Hillside at Blanshard and Cook, Douglas at Burnside and Topaz.

Flood Measures

There is a vote of $30,000 for anti-flooding precautions and improvements to Bowker Creek and $20,000 for improved drainage in Fairfield.

Twenty-six organizations have asked city grants, one of the largest requests coming from Community Chest ($13,100 as against $2,000 given last year).

Tax revenue based on the 49-mill rate would total $4,060,131 as compared to $3,540,007 last year's tax revenue.

The budget shows an estimated revenue of $300,0000 this year from trade licences. This is expected to be dropped, to be substituted with business tax revenue.

One of the best boosts in civic revenues this year comes as a result of changes in the system of federal grants in lieu of taxes. The federal government is expected to pay the city $154,900 as compared to a grant of $73,327 in 1956.

Low's 14-Point Program Features Pension Boost, Lower Loan Rates

OTTAWA (CP)—Social Credit leader Solon Low proposed a 14-point program Thursday night which, he said, will bring prosperity, happiness and security to Canadians.

In a radio and TV broadcast, Mr. Low said his party's program is the only effective alternative to the policies of the Liberal and Progressive Conservative parties.

The Conservatives were appealing to the people to unseat the Liberal administration but had no effective alternative policies to offer.

"I see no sense in jumping out of the frying pan into the fire," he said. "And, if the only choice the Canadian people have is to be shot, or to be boiled in oil, there isn't much to look forward to, is there?"

Mr. Low, in Edmonton Thursday night, said in the broadcast that the Social Credit party, if elected June 10, proposes the immediate introduction of these measures:

1. A federal old-age pension of $60 a month with provision for splitting with the provinces the cost of a supplementary $40, making for an over-all pension of $100.

The Liberal government has announced a $6 increase in the current $40 old-age pension, effective July 1. The CCF is advocating a $75 pension. The Conservatives, while saying the $6 increase is too small, have not campaigned on a specific figure.

2. Financial policies to balance purchasing power with production.

3. A national health insurance program.

4. Reduced taxation to match revenues with carefully planned and controlled expenditures.

5. Low-interest mortgage funds to every Canadian family wanting a home.

6. A two-price system for wheat barter deals and acceptance of local currencies in export sales of farm surpluses.

7. Low-interest loans for small businesses and farms.

8. Federal assistance for construction of arterial highways.

9. A new foreign policy "based on the highest moral principles and the broadest human sympathies and understanding" including Anglo-Canadian-American solidarity.

10. Elimination of inefficiency and waste in defence policy.

11. Senate reform.

12. A co-ordinated program of selective immigration to overcome a shortage of people in the expanding economy.

13. A vigorous, well-conceived policy of northern development.

14. A national transferable pension plan for workers.

Boston Crackdown On Cabaret Vice

BOSTON (AP)—Owners of 25 Boston night spots were ordered Thursday by the Boston licensing board to clean up vice and other illegal conditions or face "punitive action." The action was taken after the armed forces disciplinary control board placed 10 more downtown entertainment places out of bounds to servicemen because of prostitution, illegal sales of liquor or poor health conditions. Ten others previously had been placed "off limits."

Grandma Jailed; Threw Paperweight

NEW YORK (AP)—A 58-year-old grandmother who threw a paperweight and other odds and ends at her grandson's public school teacher was sentenced Thursday to 10 days in jail. Justice Benjamin Gassman told Mrs. Annabell Britton that "this should teach you and others to have respect for the teachers and the schools." The disturbance developed from an argument over the grandson's conduct.

Honor Rings Awarded at Spring Festival

During the spring festival of Girls' Auxiliary of the Anglican Church in Canada, held in Memorial Hall recently, six girls were invested with the ring of honor. They were Sheila Todd, St. Andrew's and Holy Trinity, Sidney, B.C.; Mary Joyce Jenkins, Darlene Nute, Cynthia Thompson, St. Saviour's, Victoria; Vivian Chan and Wendy Love, Christ Church Cathedral.

Prizes were presented as follows: Quilt top, St. Mark's Branch, Victoria; layette, St. Mark's, Qualicum; Bible story telling, Bonnie Duncanson, St. John's, Courtenay; Bible reading, St. Aidan's, Cowichan Lake.

Winner of the girls' auxiliary banner was the Cathedral Branch; winner of the special award, St. Aidan's, Cowichan Lake.

Mrs. A. E. Raymond, Victoria, diocesan girls' secretary, was in charge of the festival program which included addresses, a panel and buzz session, talent numbers, swimming at the Crystal Garden, a visit to the museum, a tour of the cathedral, films, a demonstration of flower making, exhibits of church furnishings and Dorcas work and a banquet.

Immigrants Need Friendly Welcome in Big, New Land

To extend the warm hand of friendship to newly-arrived immigrants in Canada and make them feel welcome in their land of adoption is one of the best ways to make our country spiritually and politically sound, said Dr. W. G. Black at a recent meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club here.

Customs and beliefs of the old lands have much to offer and assimilation of these cultures with the Canadian way of life can instill into all citizens broader ideals. New Canadians, the majority of whom come from Great Britain, West Germany, Italy and Holland are quick to learn our language and readily accept new ideas in law, police and elections. "They become appreciative Canadian citizens," Dr. Black said.

A panel of four newly arrived new Canadians, Mrs. Aksel Petersen, Denmark; Mrs. Nicky Lall, India; B. H. Roberts, South Africa, and R. Ciccimara, Austria, dicussed questions on why they came to Canada, comparison of Canada to homeland and the adjustments made to new way of living. All spoke glowingly of the friendliness of Canadian people. Panel chairman was Miss Ella Brett.

Mrs. H. L. Smith, president, Victoria branch, Citizenship Council, spoke briefly on the work of the organization.

Miss Verna Beek expressed thanks of meeting to speakers.

A dinner was held in the clubroom prior to the meeting at which the speakers were honored guests. Club president, Mrs. Ruby Masters presided.

A Silver Tea

Mrs. James Ryan has opened her home at 2660 Lansdowne Road, to members of St. Joseph's Hospital Auxiliary, for a silver tea to be held next Wednesday afternoon.

INVITATIONS GO OUT FOR JUNE BALL

With assembly-line precision a group of volunteers under direction of Mrs. C. E. King, have this week addressed and mailed invitations for the third annual June Ball to be held in the gymnasium in HMCS Naden on Friday, June 7. Pictured busily "stuffing" envelopes are, from the left, Mrs. A. H. Bamford, Mrs. Gar Dixon, Mrs. King, Mrs. Bruce Humber, Mrs. R. D. Travis and Miss Elisa Stenner. Ball proceeds are used for work of the Armed Services Centre.

In Honor of The Bride

Miss Joyce Allison was honored Wednesday at a miscellaneous shower by co-hostesses, Mrs. P. G. Mackereth and Mrs. G. A. Spring at the home of the latter. She was presented with a white carnation and stephanotis corsage and her mother, Mrs. Carl Allison, and the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. P. W. Mackereth received carnations. Guests were: Mrs. E. Seedhouse, Mrs. Ed Seedhouse, Mrs. A. Vaughan, Mrs. R. Hatton, Mrs. J. Newton, Mrs. C. Allison, Mrs. P. Mackereth, Mrs. G. Mackereth, Mrs. G. Spring, Mrs. D. Harrington, Mrs. W. Tyson, Mrs. D. Tyson, Mrs. G. Stevens, Mrs. H. Tyson, Mrs. Bill Tyson, Mrs. S. Ralph, Mrs. W. Ralph, Mrs. D. Ralph, Mrs. T. Copley, Mrs. J. Ballantyne, Misses M. Ralph, M. Ballantyne, B. Vaughan, E. Spring, M. Spring J. Tyson, R. Tyson, Master A. Spring and Master J. Spring.

Mrs. White New Junior CWL Head

Mrs. Joan White was elected president of the Junior Catholic Women's League of St. Andrew's Cathedral parish at a recent meeting. Other officers are Mrs. Ann Rendle, first vice-president; Mrs. I. Cavin, second; Miss E. Kobelsky, third; Miss M. Ayling, treasurer; Miss J. Knapik, corresponding secretary; Mrs. M. Griffin, Mrs. M. Longpre and Mrs. A. Chapman, councillors.

In her annual report, retiring president, Mrs. Griffin, said money making events were a summer fete, turkey dinner, turkey draw, white elephant sale, credit union tea and catering for communion breakfasts.

Two hundred and seventy pounds of clothing and some food hampers were sent to Father Bradley's Indian Mission; food and clothing provided to Hungarian refugees and a confessionaire presented in the cathedral.

JUNE WEDDING BELLS

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ross, 1021 Cook Street, announce the engagement of their only daughter, Cynthia Diane, to Mr. Charles Peter Mooney, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Mooney of Glasgow, Scotland. The marriage will take place on June 7 at 8.30 p.m. in St. Andrew's Cathedral. Miss Marlene Vance will be bridal attendant; Mr. Jack Shepherd, Vancouver, the best man, and Mr. James Kerr and Mr. Kenneth Bostock, the ushers. (Photo by Paul Joncas.)

McMath-Cole Vows Heard

Rev. Douglas B. Carr officiated at a ceremony in Centennial United Church recently when Miss Audrey L. Cole, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Cole, 844 Goldstream Avenue, Langford, exchanged wedding vows with James A. McMath, son of Mrs. E. McMath, 2870 Foul Bay Road.

The bride, given in marriage by the groom's father, chose for the ceremony a gown of white brocade in waltz-length. Her chapel veil was held to a dainty headdress, and completing her ensemble, she carried a bridal bouquet of pink roses and white feathered carnations.

The bride's only attendant was Mrs. Norma Cole who chose a green brocade waltz-length gown and carried a bouquet of yellow carnations.

The groom had Robert McMath as best man.

The bride's travelling outfit was a turquoise three-piece suit.

Following a honeymoon in Parksville, the newlyweds have made their home at 1066 Finlayson Street in Victoria.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prize? Then Ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Sue Ellen Rose Metro, aged 15, of Buck Creek, Ind., for her question:

Are There Really Ant Cows?

Ant cows are aphid insects or plant lice. The countless little aphids are humble relatives of the lordly cicada which Andy wrote about a few weeks ago. All these insects are plant eaters and most of them are pests who dine on our crops, gardens and favorite trees. Colonies of small green aphids team over buds and twigs, sipping the juices. Each type of aphid selects the kind of plant it prefers.

As it sips, the aphid gives off a sweet syrup through a pair of tubes at the tail end of its body. This is honeydew, the favorite cake, ice cream and candy of the ant world. Any ant will take the honeydew from an aphid. This pleases the ant and also the aphid who tends to clog up in his own sweetness.

The cornfield ant goes even further. This busy black insect carries out a plan to keep a plentiful supply of honeydew right in her pantry. Come fall she scurries around gathering up the new laid eggs of the corn-root aphid. She totes them to a safe place in her nest. Through the winter, she moves them from one warm chamber to another.

Come spring, the ant is on hand when the aphid eggs hatch. She carries the new babies to a tunnel by a knotweed root. Here they feed, though this is not their favorite food. This is ready when the young spring corn sets its roots down into the ground. Then along comes the busybody cornfield ant and carries her tame aphids to a chamber by a corn root.

Now the aphids thrive and give off their honeydew. Cornfield ants arrive to take the sweet sprup. These ants tend their aphids as a dairyman tends his stock. They protect these domesticated aphids from their enemies. Sometimes they even stroke the aphids to milk out the honeydew. No wonder we call these tame aphids ant cows! And the milkmaid cornfield ant is an expert, though miniature, dairy farmer.

This is one of the fascinating stories of the ant world. However, those little ant cows steal the sap from our corn crops. To the farmer, this ant dairy farming is a pest.

The pesky aphids have an interesting life cycle. What's more, if it were not for their enemies, they could produce enough descendents to destroy all the plants in the world. If all her children lived, one aphid could have several million descendents during a single summer.

The mother lays a few eggs in the spring. They are all females and ready to lay eggs of their own in a few days. The broods appear every few days through the summer, all of them wingless females. Come fall, the broods are winged and mixed male and female. The eggs laid by this group usually sleep through the winter. Let's welcome the graceful lacewing insect, the aphid lion. Her grubs feed on aphids and help keep down the plant lice population.

Andy sends a Hammond's International World Globe to Craig Giddens, age nine, of Shreveport, La., for his question:

Who built the Suez Canal?

The Suez Canal was planned by a French engineer named Ferdinand de Lesseps. He designed the canal and he started the company which raised the money to build it. He also arranged a proper give-and-take with Said Pasha, the viceroy of Egypt.

The Suez Company was started in 1858. It was an Egyptian company with offices in Paris. Business men bought stock, the money was raised and the work began. It was agreed that after 99 years of operation, the canal and its revenue should belong entirely to Egypt.

The canal was finished and opened on Nov. 17, 1869. In 1875, Ishmail Pasha, the Khedive of Egypt, needed money badly. He sold his share in the Suez Company to the British government. They paid about $20,000,000 for almost half the company. Another 52 per cent of the company was held by French stockholders.

Many people of many nations gave a helping hand. But Ferdinand de Lesseps was the man who made the dream of the Suez Canal come true. It joins the Mediterranean with the Red Sea and is a short cut waterway between Europe and Asia.

Sunset Ritual On Tuesday By Army Unit

First of three sunset flag-lowering ceremonies scheduled for May will be performed next Tuesday at the Legislature flagstaff by 5 Independent Medium Battery.

Next Thursday, members of 40 Technical Squadron RCEME will conduct the ceremony, and on May 30, 4 Light Anti-Aircraft Battery will stage the traditional retreat.

Units expected to participate during the summer season—up to Aug. 31—include 2455 Aircraft Control and Warning Squadron RCAF (Aux.), Sea Cadets, University School, Royal Canadian Navy, Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's) Army Cadets and others.

If possible, units will use a public address system and commentator to explain significance of the various forms of ceremony.

The city of Victoria presents a swagger stick to the best turned-out man on parade, and at the end of the season provides a trophy for the unit capturing the most points in parades through the summer.

Units will parade through the business section to and from the Legislature flagstaff, and an effort will be made to synchronize ceremonies with other events for attendance purposes.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

By FREEMAN KING

Victoria District Notes: The second work party for Camp Barnard, Sooke, will leave scout headquarters on Saturday morning at 8.30. Those taking their own cars should be at camp by 9.30 a.m. There will be no transportation provided on Sunday.

The dining shelter will be painted, and a putty coat applied to the floor.

A start will be made on digging a well. The old water tank has been shot full of holes by vandals.

Especially wanted this week are carpenters and painters and anybody who can use a shovel.

Outdoor Market To Double Space By September

The Outdoor Market at Cook and Quadra will double its selling space by September.

A house adjoining the property was moved Wednesday to a new location on Glasgow Street. It was the second house to yield to the market's expansion over the past three years.

The first, moved around the corner to Cook Street, is the home of Saanich-born owner Henry Eng, 31, a former truck driver who has guided the market's growth from a shack to a supermarket valued at $200,000.

The present parking lot will give way to a 6,500-square-foot addition to the market this year.

Parking space will be provided on the newly-vacated lot "by the end of this week," Mr. Eng said.

HIGH TIME PNTIL EARLY MORN

Winnie 'Comes Out' With Granddaughter

By STERLING SLAPPEY

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill had a high old time until at least 1.20 this morning at his granddaughter's coming-out dinner dance.

The 82-year-old soldier-politician - orator - author - historian-war strategist-race horse owner-novelist - artist - farmer - newspaper man-elder statesman went to Claridge's to see Edwina Sandys, 17-year-old eldest daughter of Defence Minister Duncan Sandys and the former Diana Churchill, launched into society.

"This is most enjoyable — I haven't been to a dance for such a long time," said Sir Winston. Edwina is Churchill's first grandchild to bow to society.

Several near-rock 'n' roll numbers were played, but the general beat was of the waltz and fox trot.

Sir Winston, meanwhile, is making no secret of what he thinks of his latest portrait, hanging in the Royal Academy's summer exhibition. He is much annoyed.

The painting, by Ruskin Spear, shows his bald head bent toward a microphone, glasses sliding down his nose and his mouth open and twisted to one side.

Churchill let it be known at the academy banquet the other night that he didn't like what he saw.

Spear said: "What I did was paint a sound. You might say, I imagined Churchill saying 'N-a-r-z-i'.."

Bennett Unruffled By Alaska's Claim

(See Page 29)

An Alaska government report which says new mining legislation is detrimental to the industry in B.C. was branded as "propaganda" today by Premier Bennett.

The premier used the phrase after reporters told him about the report, which states that Alaska is benefitting from the legislation by companies leaving B.C.

Mr. Bennett said he had not read the newspaper account of the report put out by the territorial department of mines. He went into a cabinet meeting without commenting farther.

It was learned, meanwhile, that B.C. mining activity has slumped since the new legislation was unveiled earlier this year.

CLAIMS DOWN

The slump is also reflected in the number of mining claims staked by prospectors and mining companies.

In the first three months of this year there were 3,008, compared with 7,836 in the same period of 1956.

The drop was most noticeable in the month of March when only 950 claims were staked, compared with 3,387 in March last year.

A record number of 26,252 claims were staked in the province during 1956 and it doesn't appear that figure will be approached this year.

He held high hope that the great powers of the world would not use their "terrible weapons" because of "mutual fear or respect" for destruction capabilities.

U.S. General Supplied File In Norman Case

TORONTO (CP) — A Baltimore dispatch to a newspaper here says Maj.-Gen. Charles A. Willoughby of the United States Army has acknowledged that he supplied security reports on the late E. H. Norman, Canadian ambassador to Egypt, to congressional committees investigating communism.

The story says Gen. Willoughby, chief of intelligence to Gen. MacArthur during the Allied occupation of Japan, said in an interview Thursday night that the reports were among two lockers of papers he made available to the committee upon his return from Japan.

It adds that the papers were also available to congressional investigation prior to that time through executive agencies of the government.

Norman committed suicide in Cairo April 4, following testimony before a United States Senate subcommittee linking him with communism. He was chief of the Canadian liaison mission to Gen. MacArthur from 1946 to 1950.

Soviet Memorials

BUDAPEST (Reuters)—A Hungarian Communist newspaper has proposed erecting memorials for Soviet soldiers killed in the Hungarian uprising last October and November. The newspaper Eszakmagyarorszakg, published in Miskols, northeast Hungary, says "We must erect memorial statues for those Soviet soldiers who sacrificed their lives in November, 1956, so that we should live."

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP)—One quarter of Nepal's 10,000,000 people are suffering "near famine conditions" because of crop failures, an official spokesman said Wednesday. Asking people to "face the situation gravely," the government-controlled Nepal radio said the food scarcity is being felt in this capital city.
